I can’t believe “twitter automation” isn’t a thing yet

Everyone ik that literally got rich fast did it thru automation services

I feel like this would be very easy to execute

I’ll explain

\\mini thread//

First off- you’d have to be a big acc to make you credible obviously

I’m gonna use @lawrencekingyo as an example he has a large following, and has proven thru his students he can replicate rapid twitter growth

He starts a twitter automation business let’s just say it’s a $20,000 set up fee and then he takes anywhere from 15-30% of profits generated from account

He makes the account, hires a team of ghost writers he’s trained comes up with an offer (whether it’s high ticket or low ticket) could honestly do this in the niche of someone that already has a proven offer

Lawrence uses his following to promote the account

If able to craft a high ticket offer I’d imagine the client would make that $20k back rather quickly

Lawrence just making more $$ using his current leverages of his following & knowledge seems like it could be automated fairly easily as well

Again- surprised no one has done this as I see YouTube automation, Amazon, Walmart, etc

Thoughts on this??? @lawrencekingyo
