called Sushant's calm and zen-like nature fake and called him insecure. Tell your source or issue a public apology statement. If you forgot check the attached image.

A young male actor, recently reunited with his mentor, is reportedly giving the unit of his new film a hard time during an outdoor shoot. The actor, who is coming off a big dud, likes to give the impression that he's all calm and Zen-like, but the crew on the new project says he's consumed by insecurity.

Word from the set is that he is getting on the nerves of his director, who is trying his best not to pop a blood vessel. The actor is also apparently not thrilled that the crew pampers his female co-star more than him. Some have even said the actress' mother is keeping a close eye on him, mindful of his skirt-chaser reputation.

2. @RajeevMasand posts another nasty blind item about a fake metoo story & DilBechara.This metoo story never caught on but someone wanted to imply that this won't be released cz of that See what the fans have observed in comments.

Rajeev Say Sorry.

When a leading studio recently delayed the release of one of their big-ticket titles by a few months, it became clear to industry insiders that there was a problem. This is a film that the studio has produced in-house and one that has cost them a neat little packet, so it's very unlikely that they'd postponed the release for no good reason.

The reason, as it turns out, has been staring everyone in the face. The studio has realised that the audience appears to have lost interest in their talented and promising leading man since his name became linked to a scandal. Despite efforts on the part of the studio to deny the rumours, the actor has not been able to revive interest in himself. So much so that he barely benefitted from a big fat hit that he starred in recently. It also doesn't help that the film's director was tainted by a similar scandal, whose veracity was also questioned.

Sources say the studio has decided to move the film to next summer in the hope that public memory is short. They're counting on the possibility that the audience will look at the film—and their leading man—with fresh eyes closer to the release and might be willing to show more enthusiasm for their film, which, by the way, the studio has faith in.

Here just after one flop, Rajeev Masand chose to fall Sushant an "overpaid outsider". The ripple of writing him off just like that. Why? On who behest?
Ans my Question You #NepoBootlickerMasand ,Mr @RajeevMasand . I want your Public Apology Mr @RajeevMasand #NepoBootlickerMasand

A certain young actoruntil recently regarded as the most promising outsider' in Bollywoodmanaged to land a whopping acting fee for a new film he signed with a former studio head who was setting up his own production shingle. It's a modest budget' project helmed by a highly regarded indie director, but the actor nevertheless managed to squeeze out a Rs 7 crore cheque from the producer, who, in his hurry to set up a slate of films, may have grossly overpaid. The problem is that the actor has one mega-sized dud behind him, and despite a few potentially profitable projects on the anvil, some of his sheen appears to have worn off. An action flick he's made with a top banner is getting mediocre reports, while another project ran into financial trouble and needed to be rescued' by the same producer. Insiders are saying the actor needs a hit to bounce back into the reckoning. The ones in his corner are his directors, particularly the one who gave him his debut film and is working with him on his most ambitious project right now. This bullish filmmaker is convinced that his star is only facing a rough patch and has been swearing to anyone willing to listen that his performance in the movie he's making will bring both revenues and accolades.

Guess Sushant Singh Rajpu Last dud - Rabaata

Action movie with mediocre reports - Drive
Filmmakers ambitious project - Kedarnaath with Abhishek Kapoor

Filmy blogs,fans,Bollywood lovers like me always wondered hw is it that Sushant is only finding himself in the worse of the worst blinds.Why did someone hate him as much?He was never a threat, never publically spoke ill about someone then why?

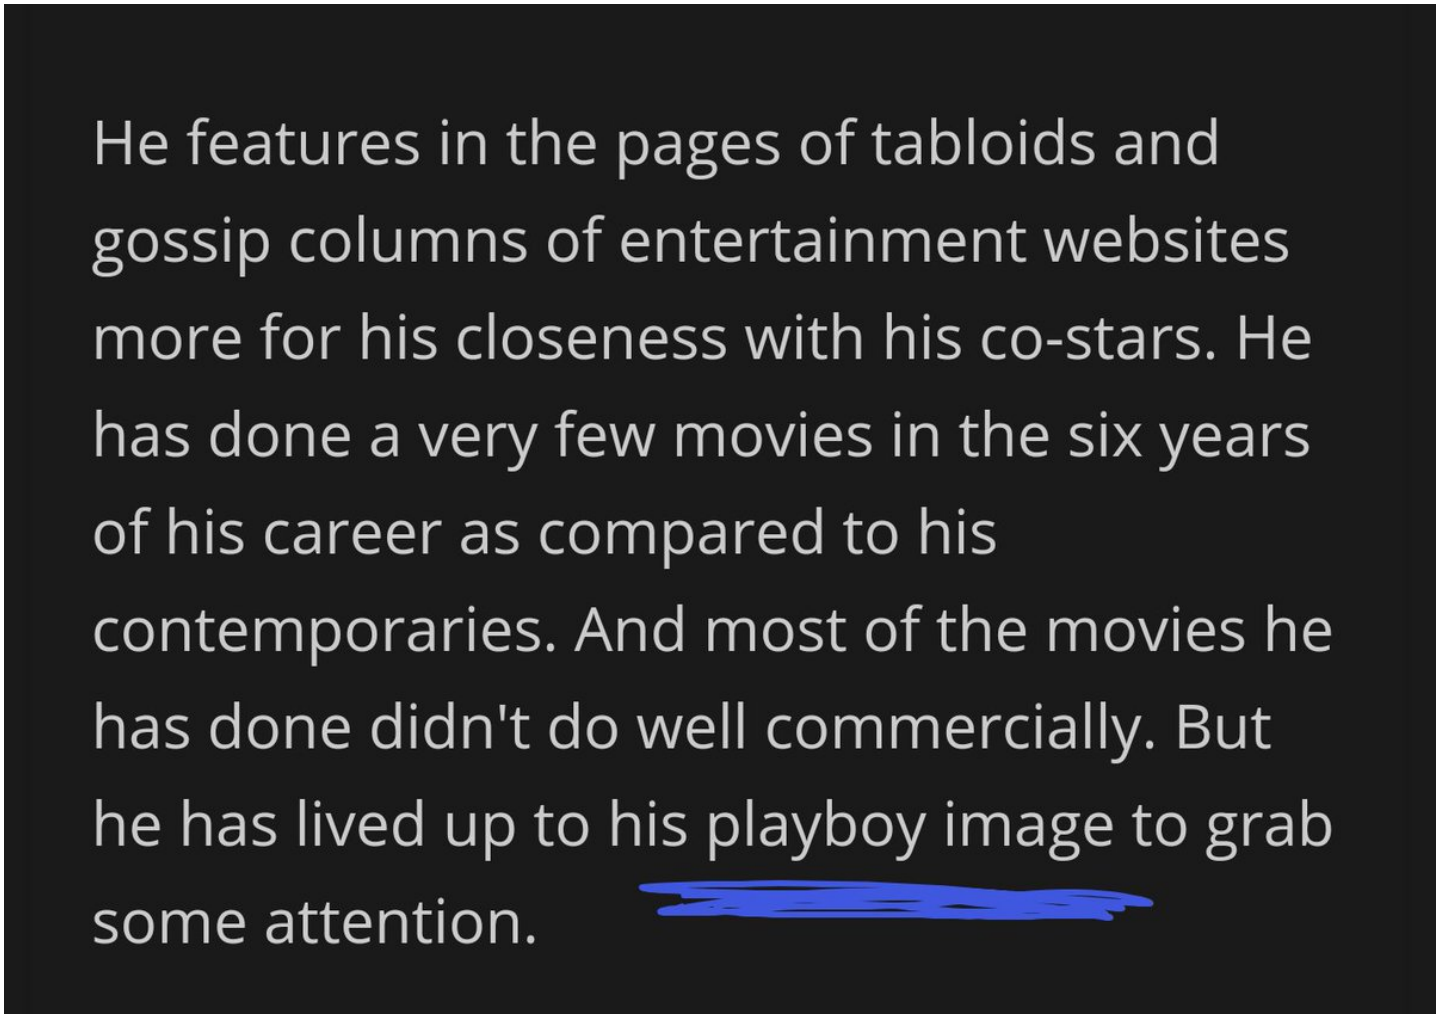
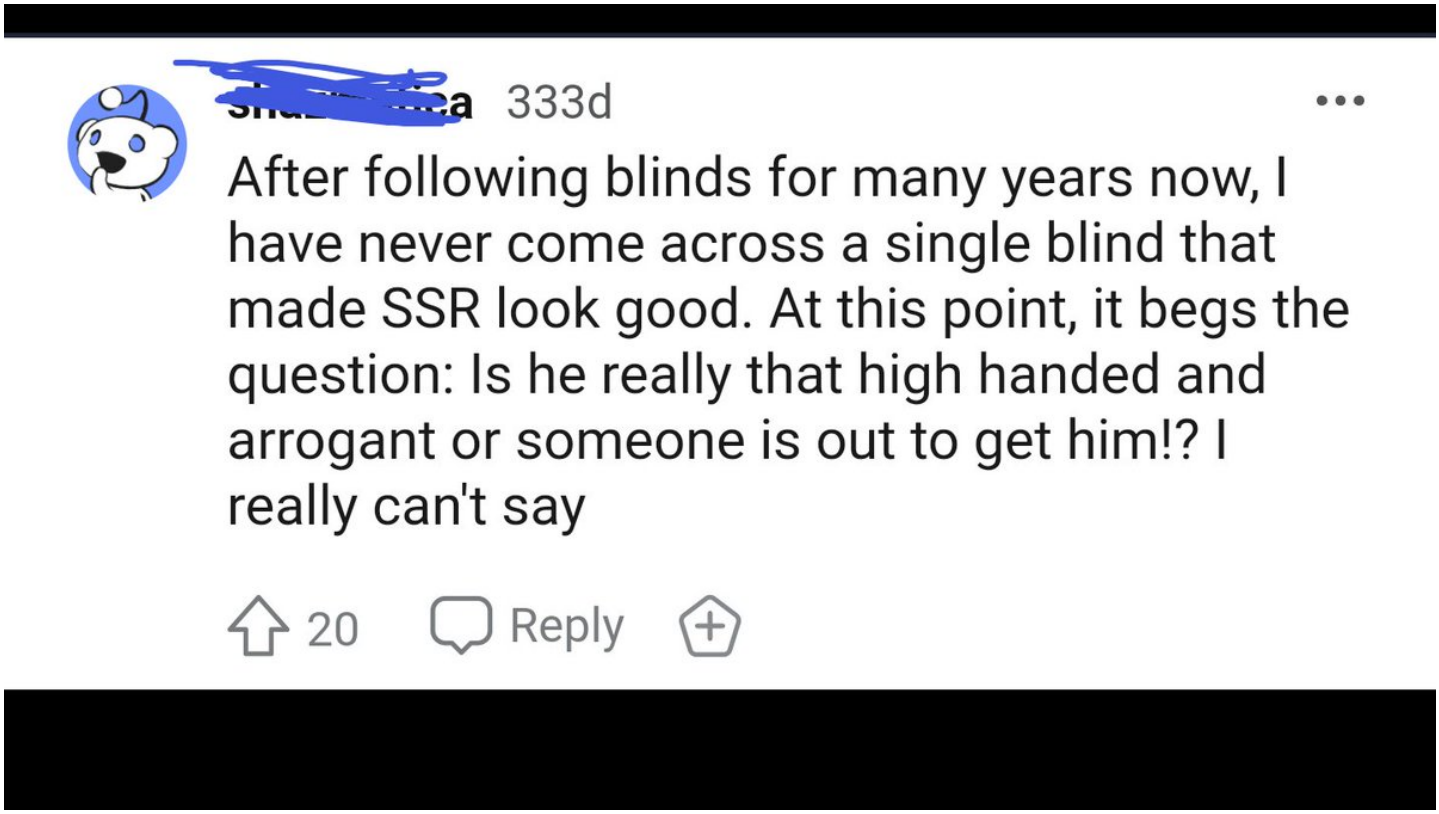
#NepoBootlickerMasand



His playboy image was being carefully propagated. Every other blind spoke of "alcoholism" or a disrespectful womanizer. His fans wondered a year ago. Why, was someone enjoying this sadism?. Even today we wonder,why?

Tell @RajeevMasand Why?

#NepoBootlickerMasand



Rajeev Masand has not said a word on Sushant on SM . Can you imagine a film journo not speaking about the death of an A list actor.Probably wld hve if it was a blind? Wonder if he will ever answer why he did what he did!?

This actor seems to be controversy's favorite child. He signed this movie which was to be directed by his mentor. There have been rumors of the actor hooking up with his mentor to get a break into Bollywood. Their hookups continued even after the actor making it big in Bollywood & even having GF's. There are other established actors too who are rumored to have been keeping this casting agent turned filmmaker happy. The casting agent turned filmmaker was named in the MeToo scandal. The actor in question too was accused of getting too touchy by the heroine. The heroine wanted to go public with her accusations. But the producers warned her that any such step would lead to her debut film

The no. of blinds against SSR in just a year 2019-20 crossed 10+,mind you each one is negative. In addition to this, there are articles of him being banned too happened. So much so that a reddit handle thought to make sense of it all just about 2 months ago

All Blinds about Sushant in past one year - Can we try to understand what's happening with him and his Career?

Member Speculation

He broke up with Kriti Sanon

A film that did not do well at the box office last year brought this actor and actress closer. They soon started dating, but we now hear that the actress, who will be seen in a period drama, has ended the relationship. She has been seen spending some time with a producer. The actor, meanwhile, is gearing up for the release of his new film with a debutante, after no major hits recently. Source

Guess Film: Raabta, Actor: Sushant Singh Rajput, Actress: Kriti Sannon

One of the first Blinds about his Metoo allegations

This actor has the habit of befriending the women on sets. The actresses he has worked in the past played along - some didn't mind it and some ignored him. There were reports about the acts of him getting over-friendly with a debutante but that girl didnt mind it. This resulted in the actor's girlfriend getting upset with him. But, then once the film shoot got over the actor forgot about the debutante and went back to his girl.

Now, again there have been reports about the actor get over-friendly with this new girl who is an outsider and didn't quite appreciate him trying to get too close for comfort and shirked him away. She even threatened to walk out of the project but the actor was warned and work began now we hear there is a security stationed on the sets. One mistake and the actor may land in jail... there is one big schedule to held overseas one has to wait and watch how does that go.. considering the director and the actor are friends wonder what the actress is going to do to be safe-- on set! He didn't know how to answer that question and when the filmmaker and the star wife intervened to make sure the situation doesn't get more embarrassing for our boy-next-door, the older hero also rebuked him for flirting with his wife every time they met. "I don't think I have as many pictures with my wife as you must have clicked with her," he burst out laughing and stumped the actor one more time. It's a no-brainer that nobody in that family was okay with the actor's daughter getting close to her co-actor but they believed in live and let live, till our pretty heroine realized that the boy was far away from the man of her dreams.

Currently, in the entire khandaan, nobody really holds this successful star in high regard. In fact, the filmmaker also told his best friend how he's tolerating the actor's tacky behavior just because he's signed up for his next production. Ouch!

This guy Somen (NotSoSnob) who made his career out of hating mainstream b'wood in his blog(moifightclub),blind (aao guess karein) ,tweets is ironically now the creative developmemt head at Dharma. 1/2
