Twitter Thread by It's real, Gareth ■ ■ ■

It's real, Gareth ■ ■ ■
@StefGotBooted

Welcome to the end of year Brendan thread. I am going to post every Brendan I have in my phone (253). They're literally just going to appear in the order I saved them. Unfortunately I've no idea who the vast majority of them were made by so I can't attribute credit. Let's begin.

The one and only original. I do know who made this because I asked her (@katastrophising) to do it for an article. Lol.

Another classic.

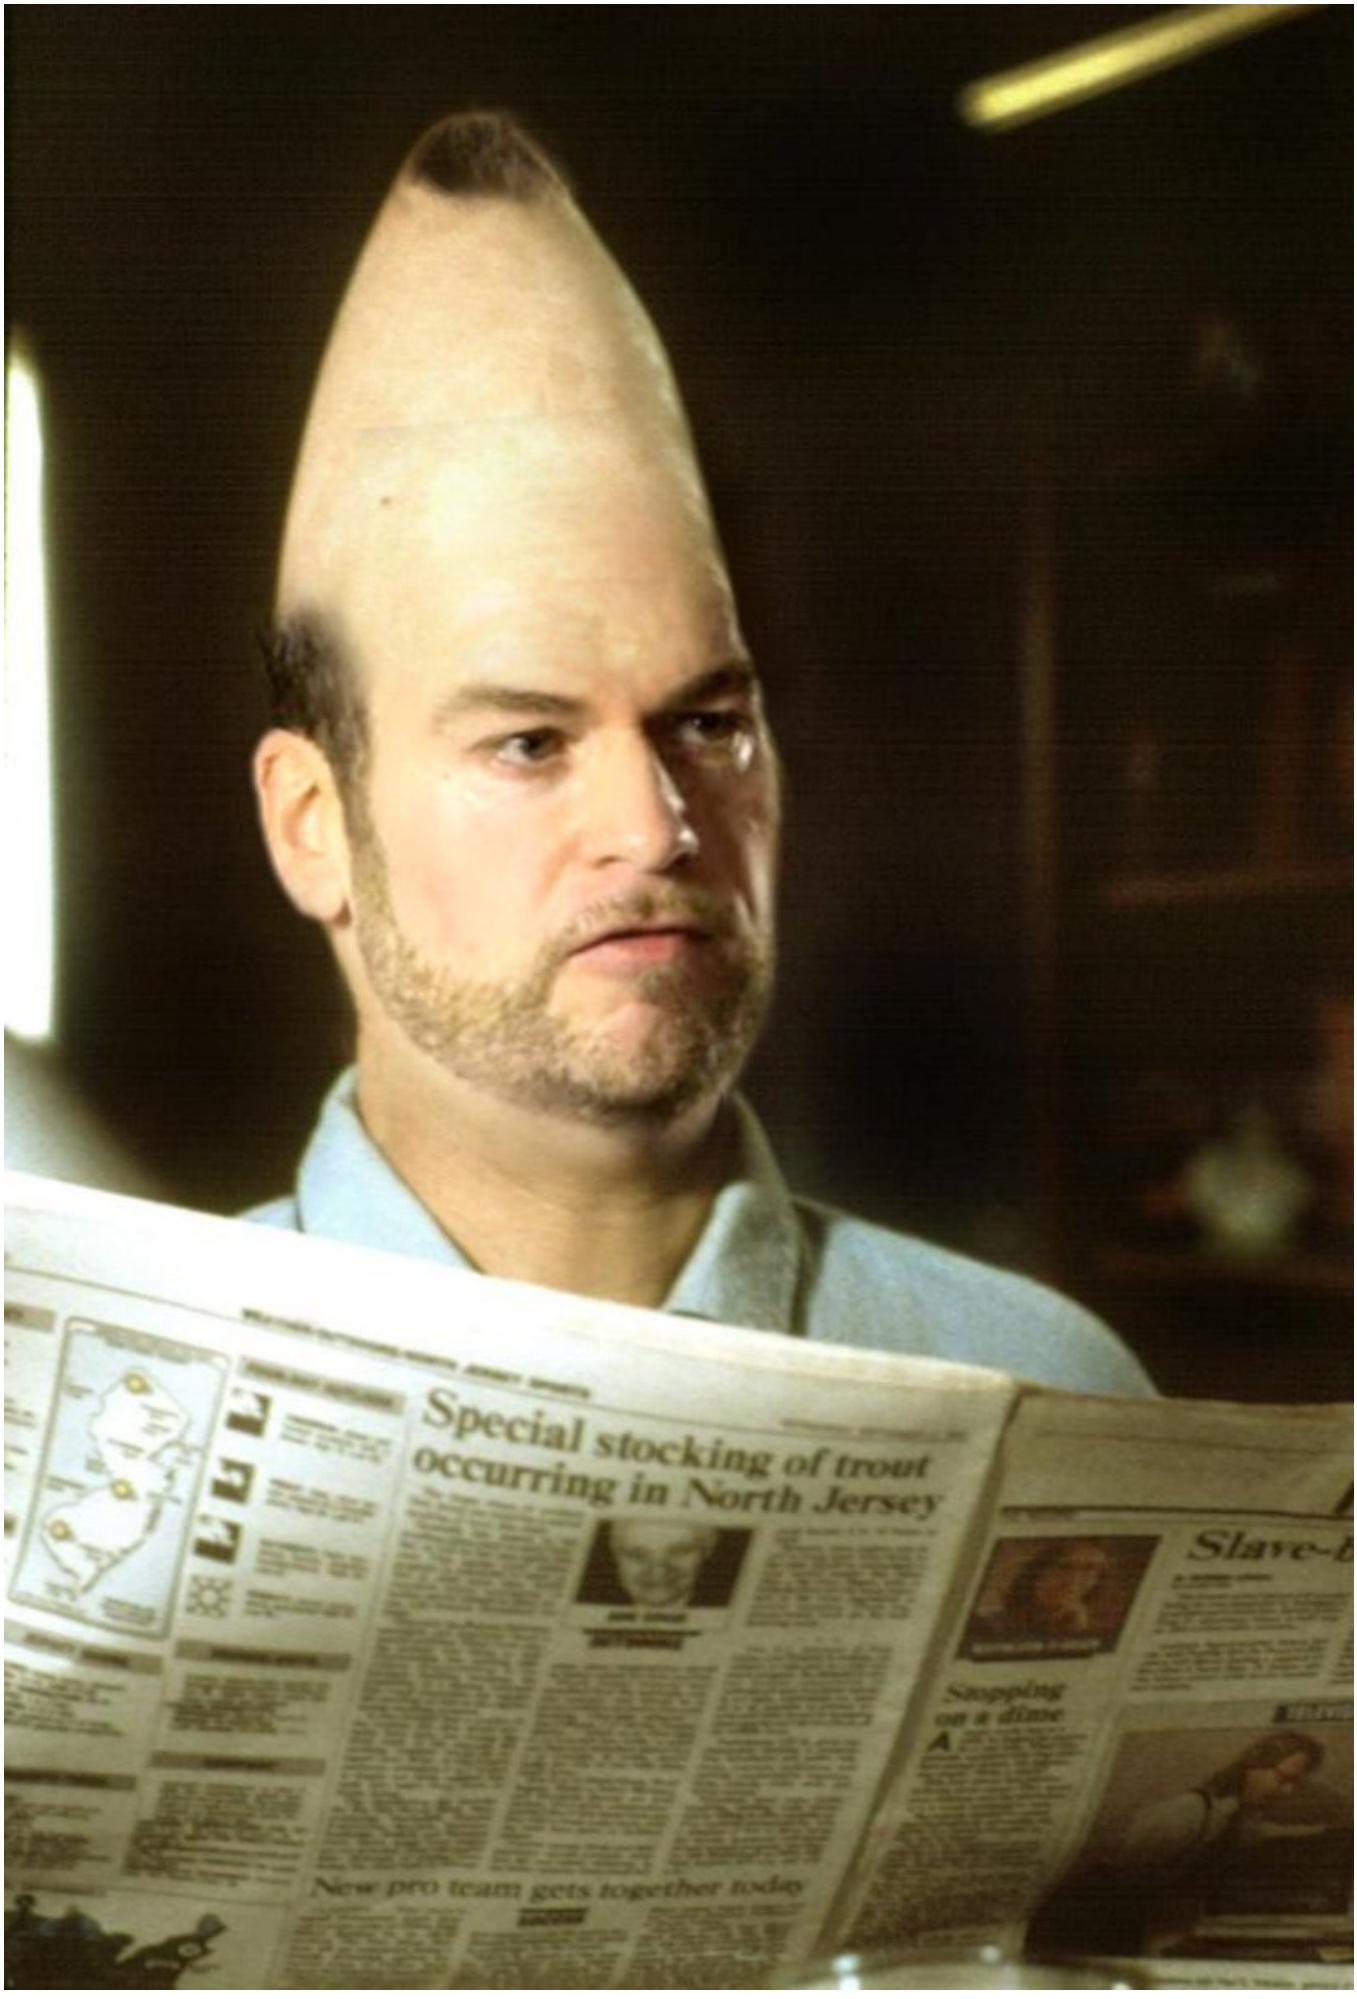
Brainworms, this was for another article.

Moody shot.

This was before he started wearing hats when he was on camera.

You may recognise those pyramids from my header picture. Lol. I guessing this was you @TonePolicing?

Conehead!



Special stocking of trout occurring in North Jersey
New pro team gets together today
Slave-t
Stopping on a dime
A

This was an early favourite of mine, Brendan at some fucking interminable debate.

Love those small face memes.

This actually an unedited picture of him.

This started life as just a plain picture of a potato I thought looked like Brendan and then someone made it into a proper Brendan.

Brendan's cameo is Frasier.

This is actually just his real avatar at the Spectator.

Brendan O'Neill

This is a spicy one!

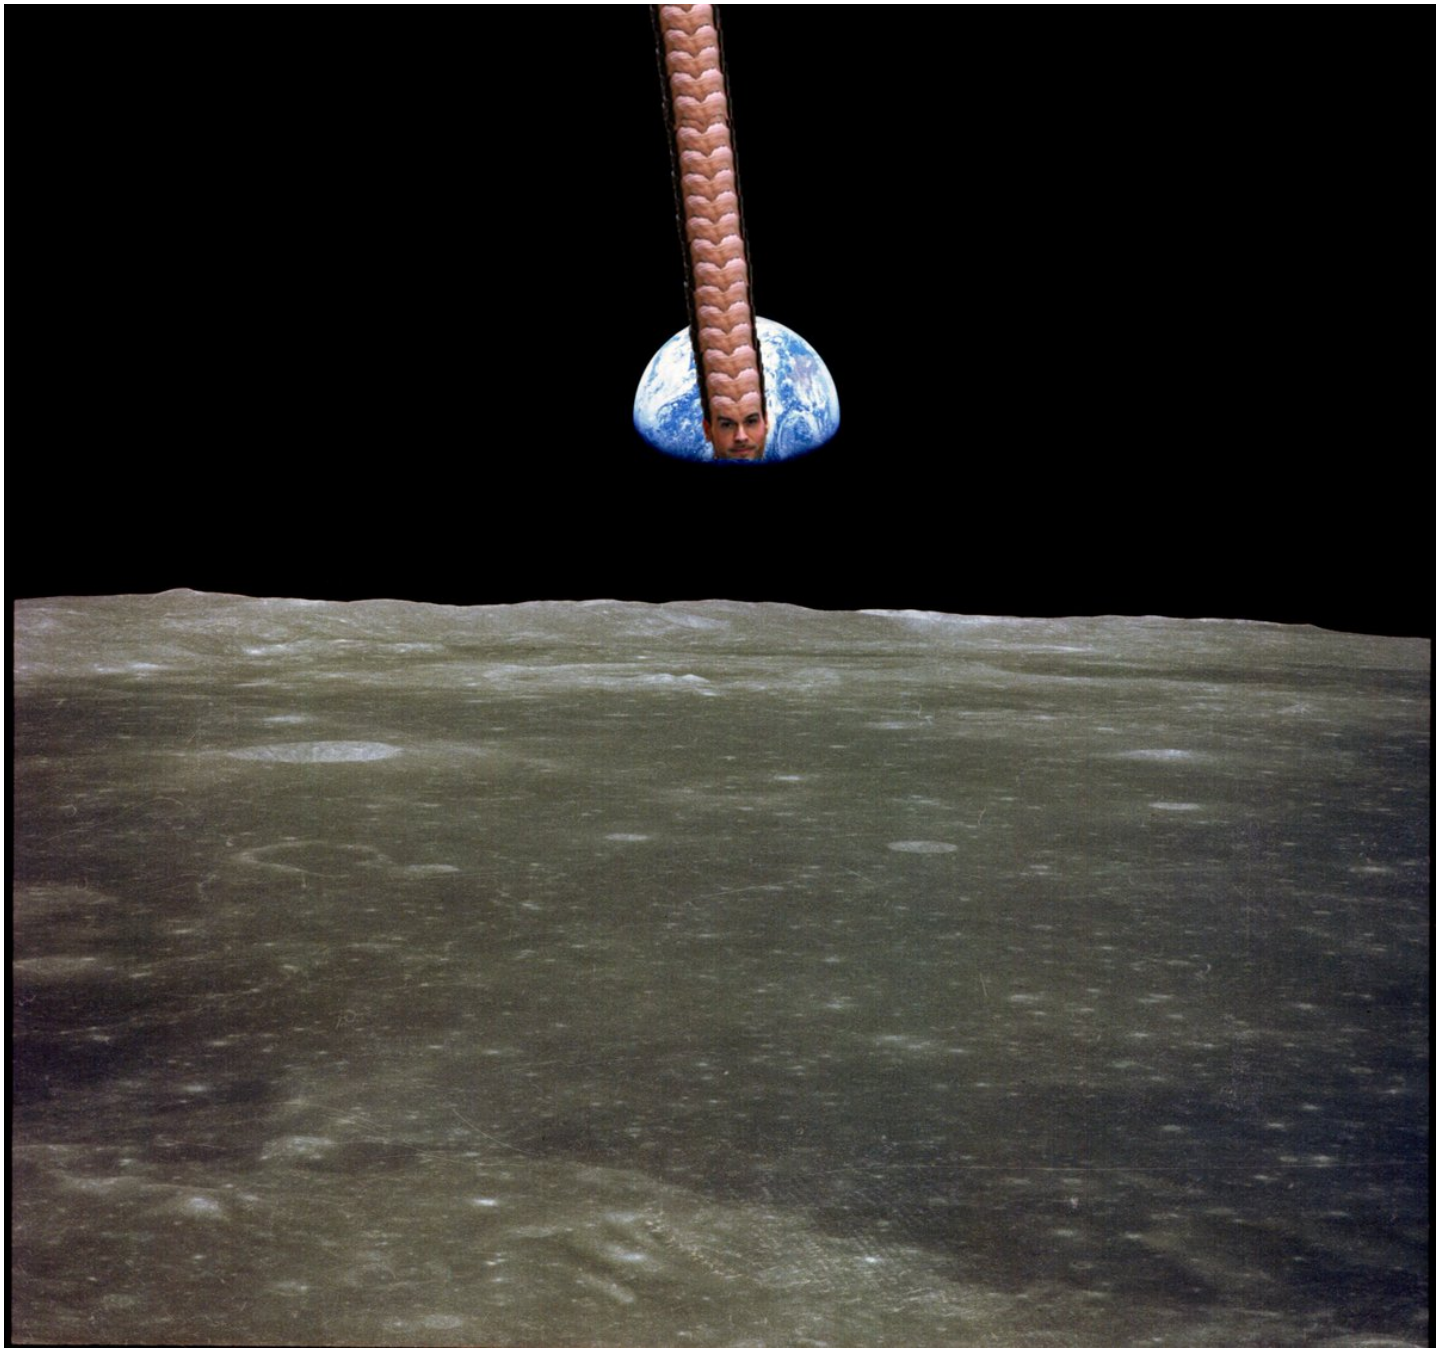
Another early classic.

Almost sure this was @Meat Hook, who also did an absolutely cursed animated version.

Teletubby!

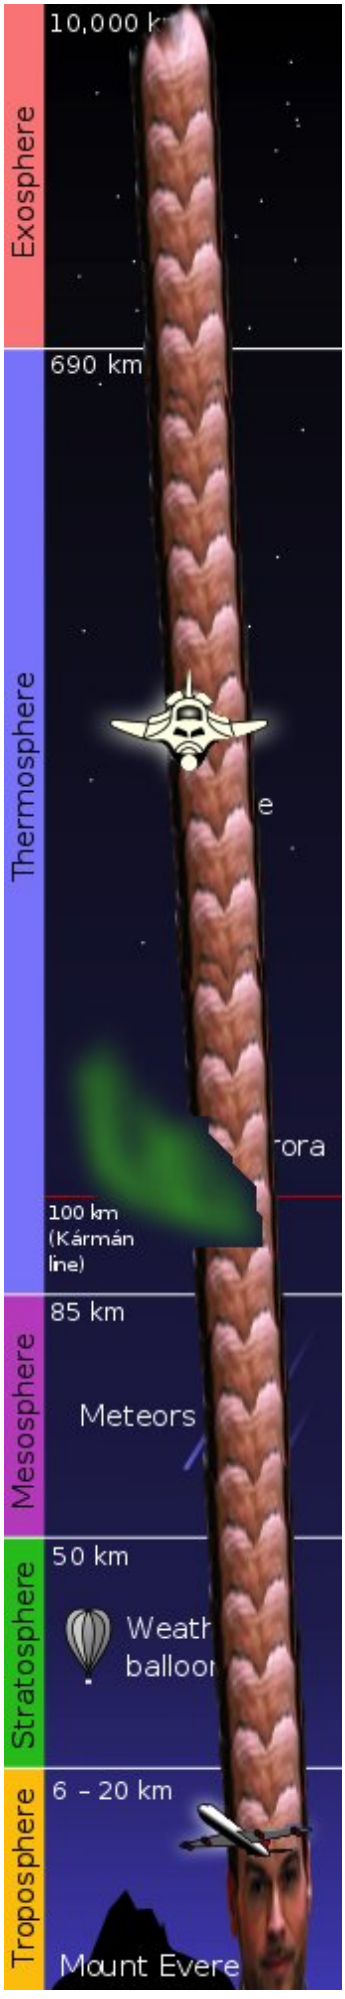
An all time fave, the Brendanberg.

Imagine landing on the moon and seeing this.



This one is amazing, the original made with hundreds of copies of itself.

One the early really long images with a handy scale too!



Exosphere
10,000 k
690 km
Thermosphere
e
ora
100 km
(Kármán line)
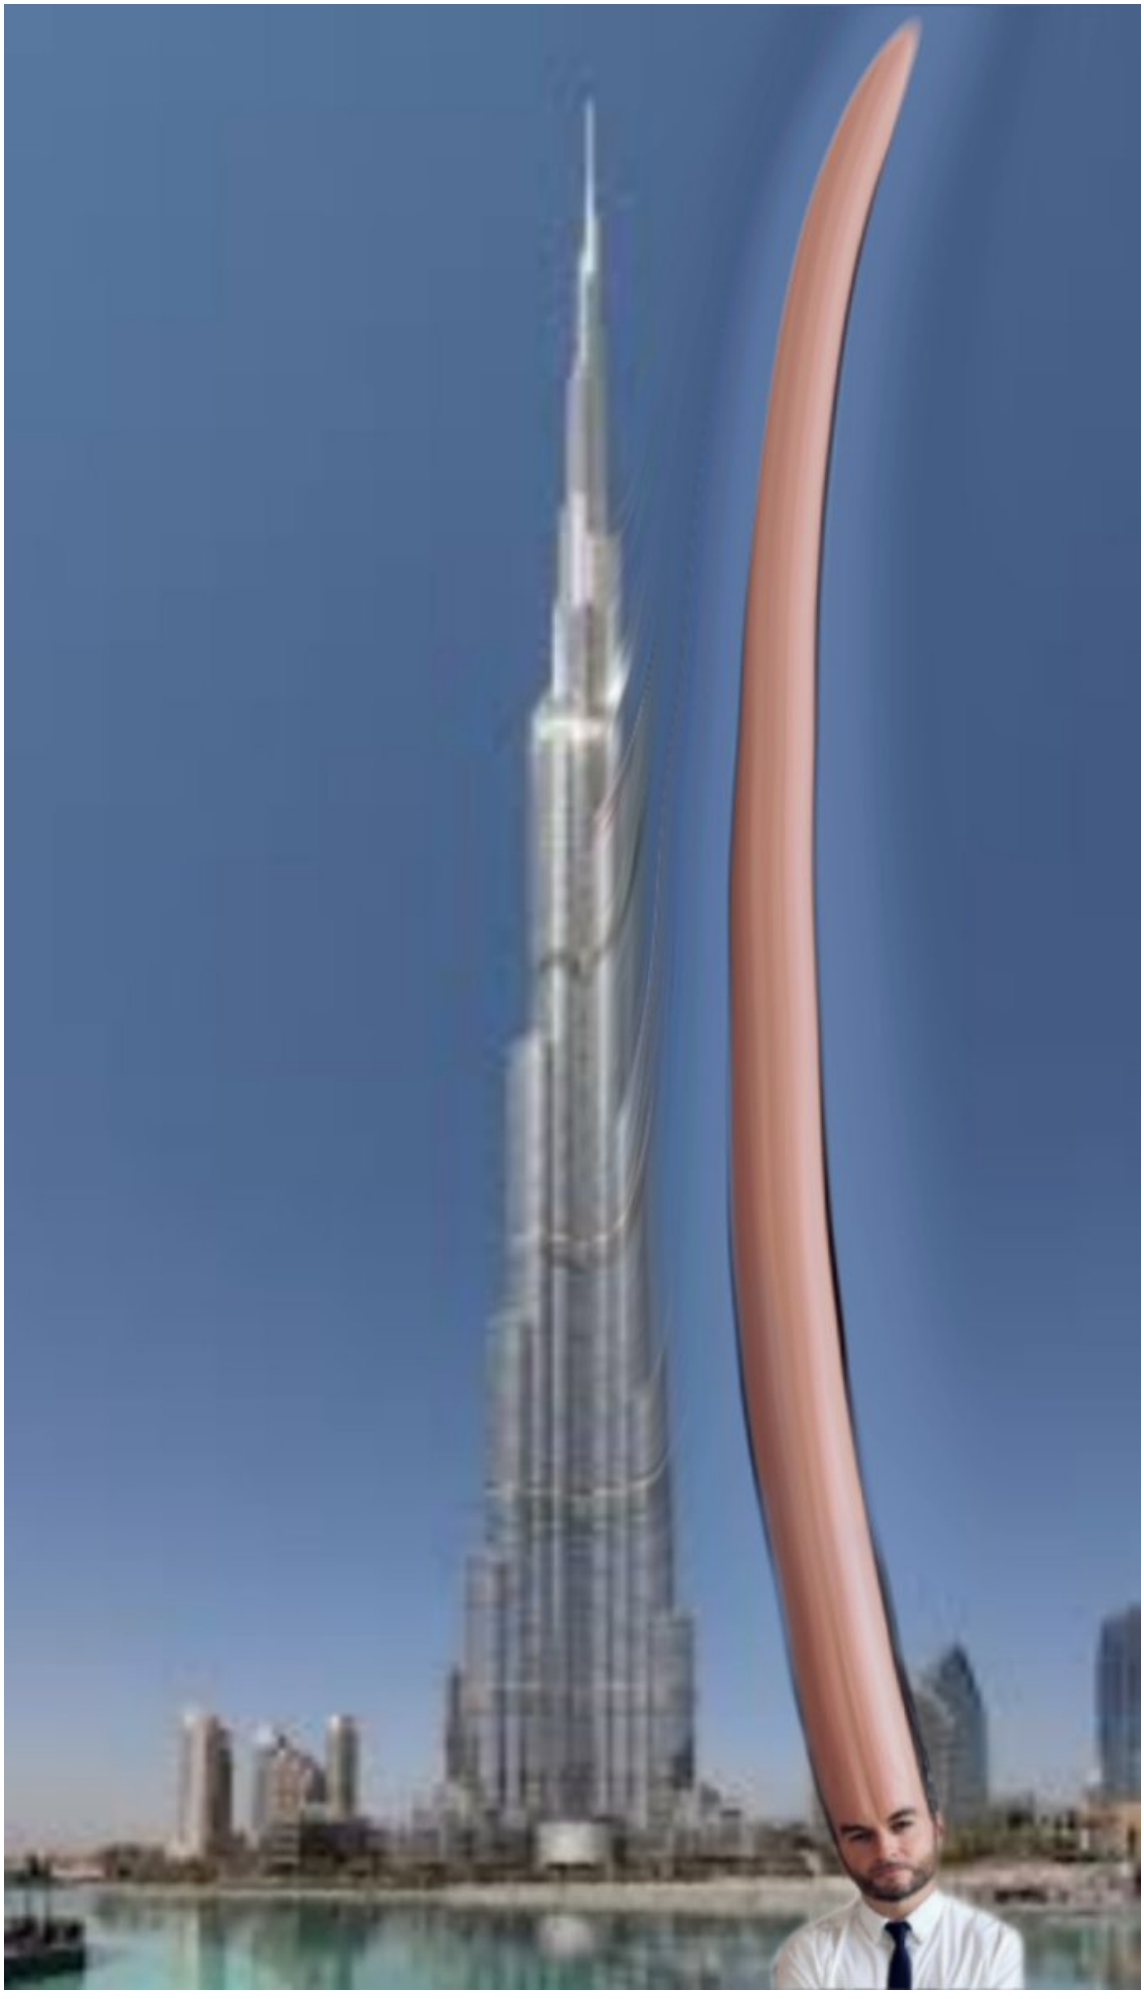
85 km
Mesosphere
Meteors
50 km
Stratosphere
Weath
balloo
6 – 20 km
Troposphere
Mount Evere

I never noticed the comparison was Betelgeuse lmao

One way to end the Discourse I guess.

Bigger than the Burj Khalifa.



Cursed.

This you again @TonePolicing isn't it? The hat. Lol.

Again this is just his avatar from Spiked with no alterations.

Menacing

The truth about the Titanic revealed at last!

Another personal favorite, Jezza's Bren-marrow.

The Brendan Dome.

Another spicy one!

Brencar.

Intergalactic Brendan!

This one always cracks me up.

I think this might be more disturbing than the original, there's also a horrendous video of the original being enveloped by this including a sound effect.

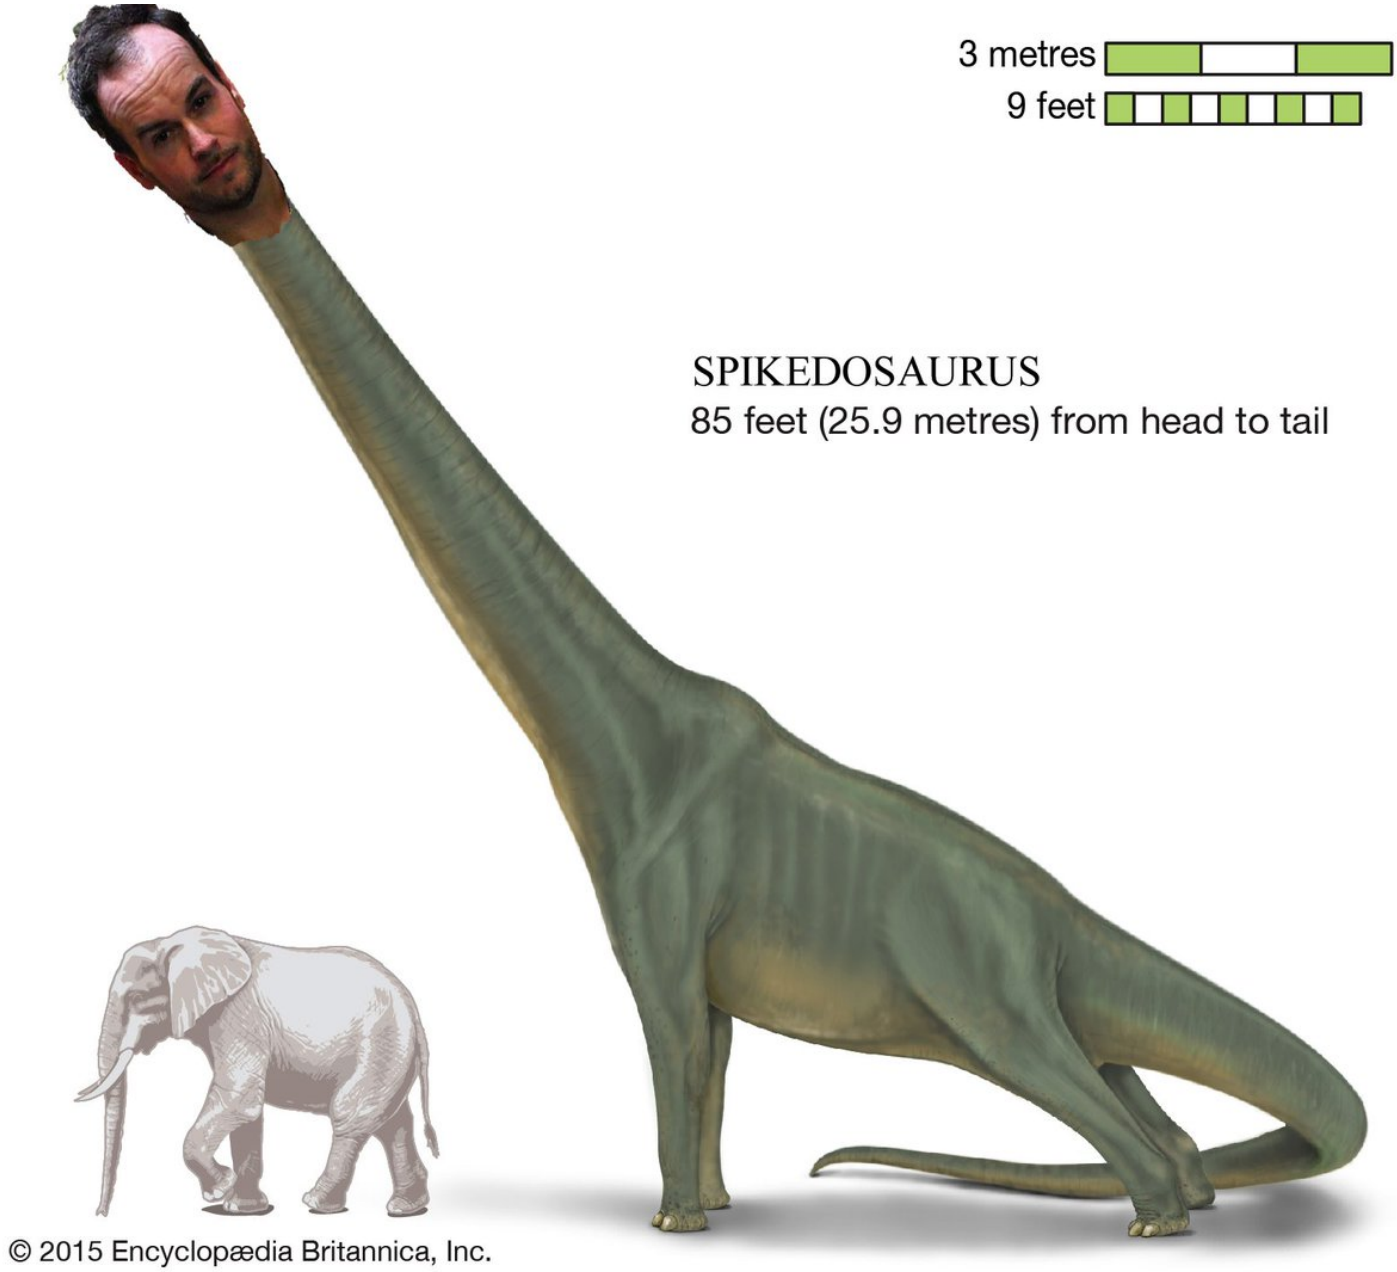
Brenomorph!

Love the little touch of the Twitter logo.

The Brendong, another personal favourite. Particularly useful on the rare occasion you meet someone defending him.

Dick forehead lmao

Spikedosaurus



Brendan increasing his powers with Brainforce.

Tefal head! I'm surprised this wasn't one of the first Brendans.

TEFAL

Who wouldn't want to take a comedy hammer to that bonce.

Brendan the record breaker.

4.5 billion years ago: most astronomers now believe that at around this time in the past, a planet the size of Mars collided with our own world, resulting in the largest-ever impact on Earth.

Unbroken for 82 years

Largest production car When it comes to size, one car leaves its rivals in the dust. First built in 1927, the Bugatti "Royale" type 41 is more than 6.7 m (22 ft) in length. Its bonnet is over 2.13 m (7 ft) long.

Unbroken for 70 years

Highest box office Taking inflation into account, epic weepie Gone With The Wind (USA, 1939) is the top-grossing movie ever, having taken $5,362,000,000 (£2,916,000,000) at the box office.

Unbroken for 62 years

Largest plane by wing-span The H4 Hercules flying boat, a.k.a. the Spruce Goose, has a wing-span of 97.51 m (319 ft 11 in) and a length of 66.65 m (218 ft 8 in). It flew just once, on 2 November 1947.

Unbroken for 55 years

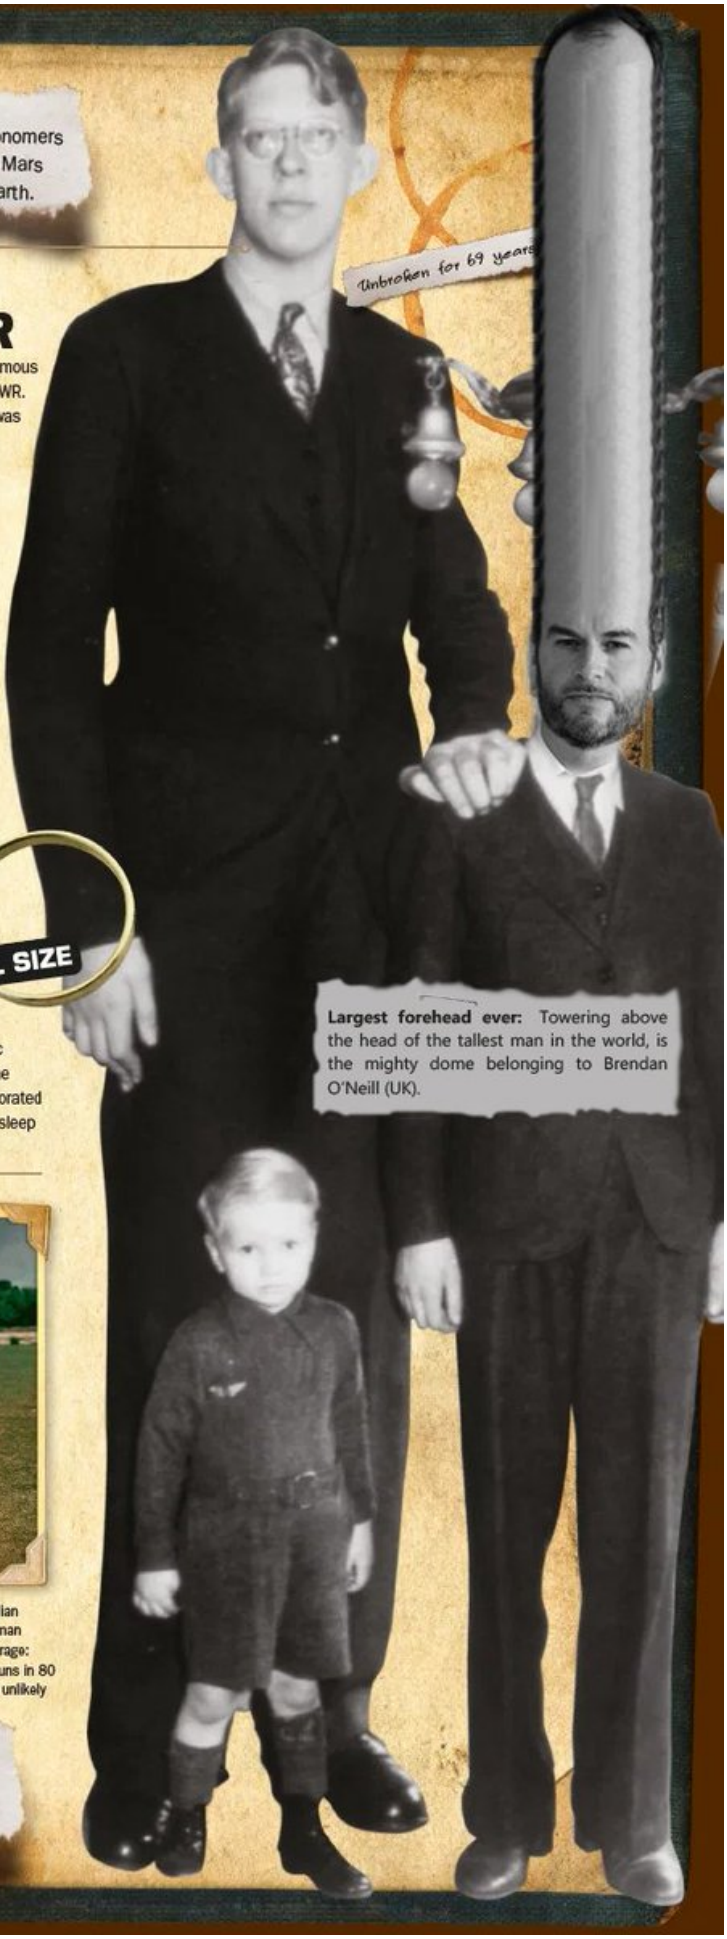
Best-selling single by a group Recorded on 12 April 1954, "Rock Around the Clock" by Bill Haley and his Comets (USA) has sold an unaudited 25 million copies. That's what we call a record!

TALLEST MAN EVER

He's perhaps the single most famous record holder in the history of GWR. Robert Pershing Wadlow (USA) was the tallest man ever recorded, standing 272 cm (8 ft 11.1 in) tall, with a weight of 199 kg (439 lb) at his peak. Wadlow's hands (unsurprisingly, the largest hands ever measured) were 32.3 cm (12.75 in) from the wrist to the tip of his middle finger and he wore a size-25 ring (pictured). This remarkable man was also the owner of the world's largest feet: he wore US size-37AA shoes (UK size 36, or approximately a European size 75), the equivalent to 47 cm (18.5 in) in length. Indirectly, it was his outsize feet that brought about Wadlow's untimely demise. He died after he developed a blister on his left foot while he was making a round of public appearances. The blister became infected, Wadlow's health deteriorated dramatically, and he died in his sleep on 15 July 1940, aged just 22.

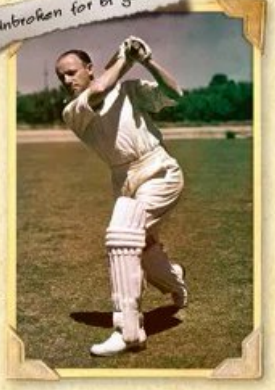
ACTUAL SIZE

Unbroken for 69 years



Largest forehead ever: Towering above the head of the tallest man in the world, is the mighty dome belonging to Brendan O'Neill (UK).

Unbroken for 61 years



Highest batting average Australian cricketing legend Sir Donald Bradman holds the highest Test batting average: 99.94 from 52 Tests – or 6,996 runs in 80 innings – from 1928 to 1948. It's unlikely that anyone will catch him...

Jan 9: The most valuable mug ever made was fashioned from 23-carat gold and bought for 1,000,023 Thai Baht (£17,293; $33,842) by Nestlé Thai Ltd on this day in 2008.

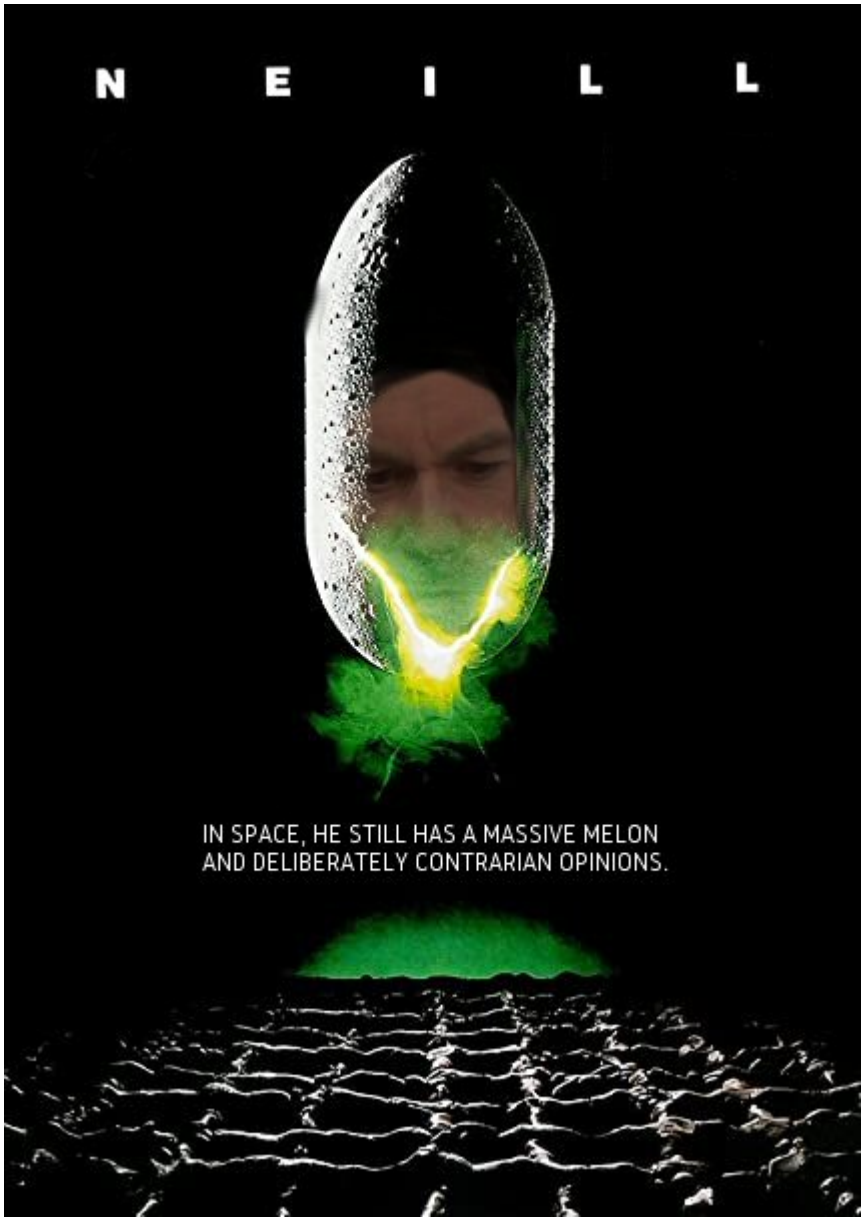
Brendoshima.

Hot air Brendan. His natural state tbh.

Planetary Brendan.

Brendan starts to wear hats.

This is great.



N E I L L
IN SPACE, HE STILL HAS A MASSIVE MELON
AND DELIBERATELY CONTRARIAN OPINIONS.

Brendopher

Love this version of the monkey columnist.

Any know who the hair belongs to here?

The one time Brendan endorses green energy.

