Human rights abuses have been a part of the campaign of the Indian army against Muslim Kashmiris, particularly after 1990. The oppression has been manifested in the following types of human rights abuses: “ disappearances ”

torture, rape and molestation of Muslim women.

On 14 June 2018 for the first time ever UN human rights council released a report of 49 pages on human rights violations in Kashmir and accused both India and Pakistan on the issue.

Pakistan welcomed the step while India rejected, saying the report violates India's sovereignty.

Indian authorities continue to impose harsh and discriminatory restrictions on Muslim-majority areas in Jammu and Kashmir, one year after the revocation of the state’s constitutional status on August 5, 2019, Human Rights Watch said today. The government’s unwarranted restraints on the rights to free speech, access to information, health care, and education have been intensified by the Covid-19 pandemic. On August 3, 2020, the authorities issued an order restricting movement for 2 days to prevent “violent protests” against last year’s decision to revoke constitutional autonomy.

[3]

[4]

[5]

According to a report by Save the Children “ Stop the war on Children ” , approximately 420 million children making one in five children of the world live in areas affected by armed conflict. Now more than ever, children are silently suffering from impacts of war and conflict. The six grave violations against children in armed conflict, identified by UN Security Council include

[6]

[7]

1. Killing and maiming of children
2. Sexual Violence
3. Abduction
4. Attacks on schools and hospitals
5. Denial of humanitarian access.

[8]

It is important to understand that these violations are also happening in Indian occupied Kashmir and are increasing day by day.

In the report “ Terrorised: Impact of Violence on the Children of Indian Occupied Jammu & Kashmir ” it was reported that children are vulnerable and so as a way of terrorizing and gaining control, they may be deliberately targeted. To induce fear and compliance, they are raped, kidnapped, and tortured.

[9]

[10]

In IOK deaths, disability, and disfigurement due to injuries caused by pellet guns, use of tear gas, bullets, and shells as well as drowning, inhaling shell fumes are common and have been reported in international and national media.

[11]

2019 has been the hardest year of suffering, trauma, fear, uncertainty, and wrath of occupation forces for the Kashmiri people in general and the women in particular since they laid siege to IOK.

[12]

Usually the Kashmiri men are targeted, but the women are also suffering from the Indian military siege in their own less visible yet painful way.

[13]

According to the latest statistics by Kashmir Media Services, the Indian troops molested and gang-raped 32 Kashmiri women during the period from January to June 2020 alone.

[14]

Today is #HumanRightsDay Whole world is silent on Kashmir issue, as if they are not human. Kashmir is one of the most militarized states in the world. 5 Hindu radicalized Indian soldiers are deployed for every 10 Kashmiris.

[15]

India has crossed all the lines of human rights violation in Kashmir. Open your eyes, don't get blinded by false journalism and false propaganda of the Indian govt.

[16]

India has been captured, as Germany had been captured by Nazis, by a fascist, racist Hindu Supremacist ideology & leadership.
World has seen the Nazi Ideology with new face of Modi. Those who are silent on the Muslims massacre need to wake up.

[17]

The flowing blood and tears of " Kashmiris " are saying to you in the time of crisis:

" I was not hurt by the weapons of my enemies, but by the silence of my friends ".
