Twitter Thread by domm

domm @domm

if you are a software engineer, this is your call to arms ■ when we put our Fast Checkout button on websites LOTS of people start using it to buy things our goal is to put out Fast button on EVERY website in the world the speed of our growth is primarily limited by our engineering resources we already have some of the best in the world, our VP of engineering built much of Apples identity infrastructure before building Uber's new commerce stack we engineers who have spent decades among the earliest engineers at LinkedIn, Nest, Google, Cisco, Lyft, Uber & more our team have built identity, commerce and payment systems that support BILLIONS of people, and they are now building the next platform to do that: @fast we have a chance to fix commerce, to fix the way the internet works, for BILLIONS of people we need more help, we need your help there is not often an opportunity as big as this, make the best career decision of your life and get ready for huge professional growth reach out to us:

@domm @PeterGrassi1

domm@fast.co

peter@fast.co

let me pitch why you need to join ■