Twitter Thread by SamSays

SamSays
@samjawed65

Merry Christmas! How’s your Christmas going? Here is a collection of random tweets from Indian Twitter that will do India proud. Thread ■1/n

The run up to Christmas started with Chavhanke running his Christmas special series on conversions. 2/n

Suresh Chavhanke “Sudarsh...
@SureshChavhanke

जैसे नाम बदल कर जेहादी काम कर रहे हैं, ऐसे ही भगवा पहन कर कुछ कपटी ईसाई हिन्दू भाईयों का धर्म परिवर्तन कर रहे हैं. #ConversionMafiaExposed #chrismas Spl Series in #BindasBol Daily 8pm.

Translate Tweet

A few days before Christmas, a ‘dharmic’ influencer started a campaign about whether Hindus should celebrate Christmas. 3/n

Akanksha
@youngndharmic

Should Hindus celebrate Chr!
stmas?

Watch 👇🏽 and decide!

#MerryChristmas ✨

Right-wing blog OpIndia meanwhile thought it was an opportune time to dig out a 10+ year old video of Zakir Naik on Christmas greetings. 4/n

OpIndia.com
@OpIndia_com

Zakir Naik admonished a Muslim boy named Adel Ahmed for committing 'sin'. Ahmed's mistake was that he wished his Christian friends a 'Merry Christmas'

Video: Zakir Naik tells Muslims that wishing 'Merry Christmas' will send them to hell
opindia.com

12:30 AM · 22/12/2020 · TweetDeck

No Christmas is complete without Indology enlightening his followers. In fact he does it every year on Christmas. 5/n

Bharadwaj
@BharadwajSpeaks

"Where is even the word 'Christmas' mentioned in the entire Bible? Where does Bible say Jesus was born on December 25? Show me"

Asked no officer ever

7:20 AM · 25/12/2020 · Twitter Web App

Come Christmas Day, right-wingers start calls for Eco friendly Christmas. 6/n

OpIndia.com
@OpIndia_com

Netizens call for #EcoFriendlyChristmas ahead of the festival, urge PETA and other environmentalists to join the cause

Netizens call for #EcoFriendlyChristmas, urge PETA to start campaign
opindia.com

5:10 AM · 25/12/2020 · TweetDeck

PM Modi sends out his Christmas greeting, much to the angst of some of his followers. Why should we celebrate Christmas, they ask. 7/n

Narendra Modi @naren... · 40m

Merry Christmas!

The life and principles of Lord Christ gives strength to millions across the world.

May his path keep showing the way in building a just and inclusive society.

May everybody be happy and healthy.

745 1,288 9,631

Krishna Bihari
@Krishna_Bihari

Replying to @narendramodi

भारत मे मात्र 4% ईसाई है
फिर भी रामनवमी नही मनाते तो फिर हम 80% हिन्दू क्रिसमस क्यों मनाए ।।

#तुलसी_पूजन_दिवस_की_शुभकामनाएं

🌷🌷

Others wishing Merry Christmas meet the same fate. The hate is now boiling over. 8/n

Paresh Rawal @SirParesh... · 8h

Merry Xmas to all my fellow Indians .

174 79 2,592

Virendra singh ☀️

@Hind98277

Replying to @SirPareshRawal

अपने बच्चों को क्या बनना चाहते हो राम या जोकर ? ...

Translate Tweet

10:46 PM · 24/12/2020 · Twitter for Android

The ones with red flags in their tweets and DPs are most upset for some reason. 9/n

Hashtags on ‘Tulsi Pujan Diwas’ are trending. The idea of Tulsi Pujan diwas on Christmas was the brainchild of Asaram and his followers are busy tweeting stuff like, say no to Christmas, revive Vedic festivals, etc. 10/n

Ashram Bengaluru
@AshramBlr

With the divine inspiration of Pujya Sant Shri Asharam Bapu Ji

To retain our Culture; Inspite of #MerryChrismas , #Bengaluru #Ashram trust is organising a Mega #तुलसी_पूजन_दिवस #TulsiPujanDiwas and #GitaJayanti Program at~ Gangamma Gudi, Jalahalli.

#CelebrateVedicFestivals 🙏😊

The initiative to celebrate 25th December as ‘Good Governance Day’ that was started in 2014 has lost steam but some BJP handles still remember it and extend their greeting. In fact they extend greetings for everything other than Christmas on Dec 25th. 11/n

Only thing missing this year is Postcard News article on Christianity = KrishnaNeeti. So here is an old screenshot to entertain you. 12/n

POSTCARD.NEWS

• • • NAVIGATE

By Postcard Team 2 months ago

Christianity is Krishna Neeti and Vatican City was called as Vatika!!! Subhash Chandra Bose's assistant

Christians form <2.5% of India's population. Yet their festival rattles a certain section of people so much every year. Feel sorry for the haters and enjoy the day. Merry Christmas!■■ 13/13