THE ARYAN INVASION THEORY:A BIG FAT LIE.

The supposed Aryan Invasion of the Indian subcontinent was an unsolved puzzle of archaeology which looks like has come to a conclusive solution with the recent archaeological evidence. But let's first recall, What this theory actually is?

Aryan invasion theory is REJECTED by new scientific studies in human migration patterns

1. The main premise of the Aryan invasion theory is that Caucasian Aryans invaded from Central Asia and drove the Dravidian inhabitants to the South between 2000 – 1500 BC
2. Modern research shows that the human path led first from Africa to Asia and then from Asia to various parts of the world around 50,000 BC. No large scale migrations from Central Asia in 2000 BC

The theory states,"The Aryans were one of the tribes of Indo-European speaking,horse riding nomads living in Europe or Central Asia.They invaded the ancient urban civilisation of Indus valley &destroyed their culture around 1700BCE, pushed inhabitants southward &settled there..

Discovery of South Indian settlements pokes lot of holes in Aryan Invasion theory

Aryan invasion theory implies that current day Dravidians were pushed around 2000 BC to the South of India from Harappa

Recent excavations conclusively prove that South India has been continuously populated and had advanced civilizations for much longer than that

5000 year old settlement in Mudumal village in Telangana

1500 year old settlement in Bhitargarh -Bangladesh

Truth

3000 year old settlement in Pallisanthai Thidal in Sivaganga district of Tamil Nadu

The excavations breathe life into the ancient Indian story who wanted to have a glimpse of the ancient civilization (A.B. - Bhabha Mitra)

..and 1200 yrs after the invasion, descendants of Aryans wrote the classic Indian scriptures called Vedas, in the language 'Sanskrit'".

This baseless theory challenges the very foundation of Indian statehood & it's Vedic culture. Why baseless? Bcoz Aryans as a cultural group..

..Nordic looking, Indus civilisation being destroyed & most certainly not, Germans being descended from them, is all fiction. None of our ancient Vedic scriptures, epics or Purans mention about any Aryan race, invasion or migration. Word 'Arya' does not denote a particular race in Sanskrit.

RAKHIGARHI FIND

▶ Seven mounds discovered between 1997 and 2000

▶ Six of them date back to 7500 BC

▶ Corpus of Indus seals, inscribed lead of ignot found

▶ Drainage system found

▶ Signature Indus script on seals made of silver, marble, terracotta

▶ Houses with fired bricks belonging to rich people

▶ Soakage jars, toy models of wheel carts

No Aryan Invasion in India....

Indus-Saraswati civilisation developed by indigenous people of South Asia.

Rather the real meaning of Arya is noble or righteous one. That's why we find the terms Aryaputra, Aryakanya etc in our scriptures. The thing is that when these barbaric Europeans invaded India, they were so much amazed by the richness of Indian culture & knowledge that they took..

..our knowledge and language (Sanskrit) back to their homeland and labelled it as theirs. And then started the long process of writing and propagating fake history and anti-Indian propaganda, it might be surprising but yes, this anti-Indian propaganda is that old.

Aryan Myth: Key Takeaways

- The Aryan myth says that India's Vedic Manuscripts, and the Hindu civilization that wrote them, were constructed by Indo-European-speaking, horse-riding nomads who invaded and conquered the Indus Valley civilizations.
  - Although some nomads may have made it onto the Indian subcontinent, there is no evidence of a "conquering," and plenty of evidence that the Vedic manuscripts were home-grown developments in India.

German Indologist Max Muller was one amongst many who was supposedly paid by the westerners to propagate this fake narrative about the Indian History. Adolf Hitler twisted the theories of archaeologist Gustaff Kossina to propagate the Aryans as a master race of Indo-Europeans.

'History of India' by MS Elphinstone, first governor of Bombay Presidency, 1819-27 states:

*"...To say that it (Hinduism) spread from a central point is an unwarranted assumption, and even to analogy; for, emigration and civilization have not spread in a circle, but from east to west. Where, also, could the central point be, from which a language could spread over India,
Greece, and Italy and yet leave
Chaldea, Syria and Arabia untouched?
There is no reason whatever for thinking that the Hindus ever inhabited any country but their present one, and as little for denying that they may have done so before the earliest trace of their records or tradition."*

A Race that was Nordic and ancestral to the Germans and superior of all.

If the Aryans were outsiders, why their holy places are not outside India as is the case with Muslims(Mecca), Christians(Rome) etc. Why they considered India as the Holy Land → the land of their origin.

'Archaeology and Language: The Puzzle of Indo-European Origins' by Colin Renfrew, Prof. of Archaeology at Cambridge and also 'The Mythical Massacre at Mohenjo-daro', Expedition Vol VI by Prof. GF Dales (former head of department of South Asian Archaeology and Anthropology, Berkeley University, USA) state:

"Nine years of extensive excavations at Mohenjo-daro (1922-31) – a city of three miles in circuit – yielded the total of some 37 skeletons, or parts thereof, that can be attributed with some certainty to the period of the Indus civilizations. Some of these were found in contorted positions and groupings written by them.

Archaeological excavations have found tools crafted by proto-humans dated back 2 million yrs, discovered in Northwestern India. Remains of Homo-erectus found in Narmada Valley of Central India show that India might be inhabited since 200,000-500,000 yrs ago.

Human Skeletons excavated at Harappa & Mohenjodaro in 1922CE prove that no massacre ever took place in these ancient towns, thus debunking the Aryan Invasion. It was argued that Aryans were the horse riding people but no signs of horses were found at the excavating sites.

The massive blow to the Evangelical historians who supported the myth of Aryan Invasion came very recently from the archaeological findings at Rakhigarhi. These excavations were conjointly conducted by Deccan college & The department of Archaeology, Haryana Govt.

Dr. Vasant Shinde, who led the team of excavators and Dr. Niraj Rai, formerly with CCMB, Hyderabad, addressing the press conference on the findings of the Rakhigarhi research project.

Rakhigarhi in Hisar distt of Haryana is the largest city of Harappan civilisation located at the middle of Saraswati basin. A cemetery of the Harappans was excavated alongwith the settlement. Rigorous scientific research & DNA studies were carried out.

A. Rakhigarhi archaeological site and other significant Harappan sites B. Skeletal remains at Rakhigarhi used for DNA analysis which formed the basis of the findings (source: Cell Magazine)

This cemetery belonged to the 2500-1900BCE phase of Harappan culture. Archaeological evidence & DNA results of the skeletons corroborate that the ancient Harappan genome lacks ancestry from Eurasian Nordic horse riding tribe. The DNA links Harappan people to the Modern South Asians.

Significance of Rakhigarhi Project

Graphical Abstract

In Brief

A genome from the Indus Valley Civilization is from a population that is the largest source for South Asians. The population has no detectable ancestry from Steppe pastoralists or from Anatolian and Iranian farmers, suggesting farming in South Asia arose from local foragers rather than from large-scale migration from the West.

Highlights

- The individual was from a population that is the largest source of ancestry for South Asians
- Iranian-related ancestry in South Asia split from Iranian plateau lineages >12,000 years ago
- First farmers of the Fertile Crescent contributed little to no ancestry to later South Asians

Rakhigarhi research project findings in brief (source: Cell Magazine)

This important research is of international significance as it changes the Indian & World History perspective altogether. It discredits completely the Aryan supremacist myth created by some German historians & used by Evangelical Church & Leftist lobbies to discredit ancient Bharat.

The skeletal remains found in Mohenjo Daro belonged to those who died due to floods → massacred by Aryans. Research also establishes that Harappan people were the original indigeneous people and the genome from the hunting/gathering tribes matches with that of Harappan people.

Harappans were thus the original Vedic people and our Vedic culture was developed by the indigeneous people of South Asia. This research also proves that Harappan people are the ancestors of the most of the population of South Asia.

Therefore, it won't be an exaggeration now to say that Aryan Invasion Theory was a big fat lie that was being fed us for centuries. Our ancestors were the proud original indigeneous inhabitants of this incredible land called 'Aryavart'.
