Twitter Thread by Am a mumukshu

Am a mumukshu
@NarayanAnand3

Rec'd on WA. Posting "as is"

GURUVAYOORAPPAN GRACE

My wife was shouting at me Why don't you go out in the evening after office hours to do some part time work and some extra money.We have a daughter to marry off and she is already 23. 1/n

I told her dear I have to chant Vishnu ■■■■■■■■■■ in the evenings and teach a number of younsters who come to learn the chanting of sahasranaamam.She was saying at least charge them ■500/-per student like all others are doing. 2/n

I shut my ears and said " Krishna Krishna" that would be sacrilege.Bhagawan Naamas have no price and My GURUVAYOORAPPAN will take care of the marriage at the appropriate time. I was taught free when I was a youngster, I am not going to charge frm anyone 3/n

Her parting shot was How your mother has brought you up like a nincompoop without being worldly wise.
I was praying to the Lord,for a split second I thought was my wife right. then coming back to my original self,Krishna the marriage of my daughter is your

Responsibility and I went to teach the chanting of Vishnu ■■■■■■■■■■ to youngsters. On the day of Vishu,14 th April I also stood in the queue to receive kaineettam.On this day Lord GURUVAYOORAPPAN, it is believed his His bhaktas, gives a coin 5/n

To all his devotees with his own hands, Vishu marking the beginning of New Year.The temple authorities would place 10008 coins at the feet of the Lord early in the morning and after 8 am will distribute one coin to each one of the devotee. 6/n

My turn came and the Melshanthi dropped a coin in my outstretched hands. I closed my eyes with my forehead touching the coin in acceptance of the kaineettam from the Lord Himself. I came out of the main temple to have a look at the coin and suddenly saw 7/n

It was shining like gold with the image of Lord Krishna on one side and GURUVAYURAPPA written on the other side. I was wondering if it was a mistake for normally everyone got only a■ coin.I went inside the Temple and told the Melshanti I have 8/n been given a gold coin by mistake. He said this is no mistake,The Lord Himself has ordained it to be given to you.I had goosebumps as I walked out of the Temple. As I was sitting on the bench outside the Temple one man approached me & said Sir 9/n my son likes your daughter very much. He has seen her walking around the https://t.co/tVXBoijJhm being rich and you being a ordinary clerk had put a cloth around my eyes. But today I saw with my own eyes Who is Rich before Lord Guruvayoorappa.10/n

Touching my feet he said if you agree We will have the marriage in the temple premises itself and and I will take care of all the expenses. I went home on the double to tell my wife and daughter and then what Seetha Kalyana Vaibhoghame.11/n

At the marriage all my students young and were chanting Vishnu ■■■■■■■■■■ as the groom tied the Mangal Sutra around my daughter's neck who was sitting on my lap.
12/n

This time even my wife was chanting ■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■ with tears running down her face as I watched the happy smiling face of Lord GURUVAYOORAPPAN and the smiling face of my daughter.

HE TAKES CARE OF HIS DEVOTEES.

End