Kodandapani Rama Kovil is located in the town of Ayodhyapattinam of Salem District. Musical pillars and marvelous sculptors make this kovil beautiful.

Sthala Puranam says that, Sri Rama with Mata Seetha, Lakshmana and vanara senas were passing through this way while returning to Ayodhya from Lanka. They had to cross a hill and since it was night, they could not proceed further. They took rest here. Auspicious time for ■ Pattabhishekam was nearing and they were doubtful to reach Ayodhya on time. Thus it is believed that Shri Rama had Pattabhishekam here in this temple. Shri Ramar Paadam is still here in the temple. Sun rays were falling on Anjaneyar sannidhi, which cannot be visible now.

Those who couldn't have the darshan of Ayodhya, worship Shri Rama here which is said to be equivalent to Ayodhya Ramar Kshetram

Shri Ramanavami is very famous here. Those who face obstacles in marriages worship here.

Jai Sri Ram ■■
