Twitter Thread by Rachel Louise Ensign

Rachel Louise Ensign
@RachelEnsignWSJ

NEW: I followed three regular guys on their journey getting deep into trading on Robinhood. They started dreaming about stocks at night and waking at 5:30am to trade. At first, they made more money than they thought possible.

While they joked about "lambos" what they really hoped to get out of investing was financial security. The ability to save for retirement and pay down debt. So far, it hasn't worked out that way.