The title of this thread is a tribute to one of the greatest documentaries ever put together.

Watching this was one of the major keys to my awakening to the true nature of the global power structure and its operations.

I can not endorse it enough:

So what does this phrase mean exactly?

"Everything Is A Rich Man's Trick"

Which rich men?

Monopoly holders of our economy, not evil masterminds hiding in the shadows

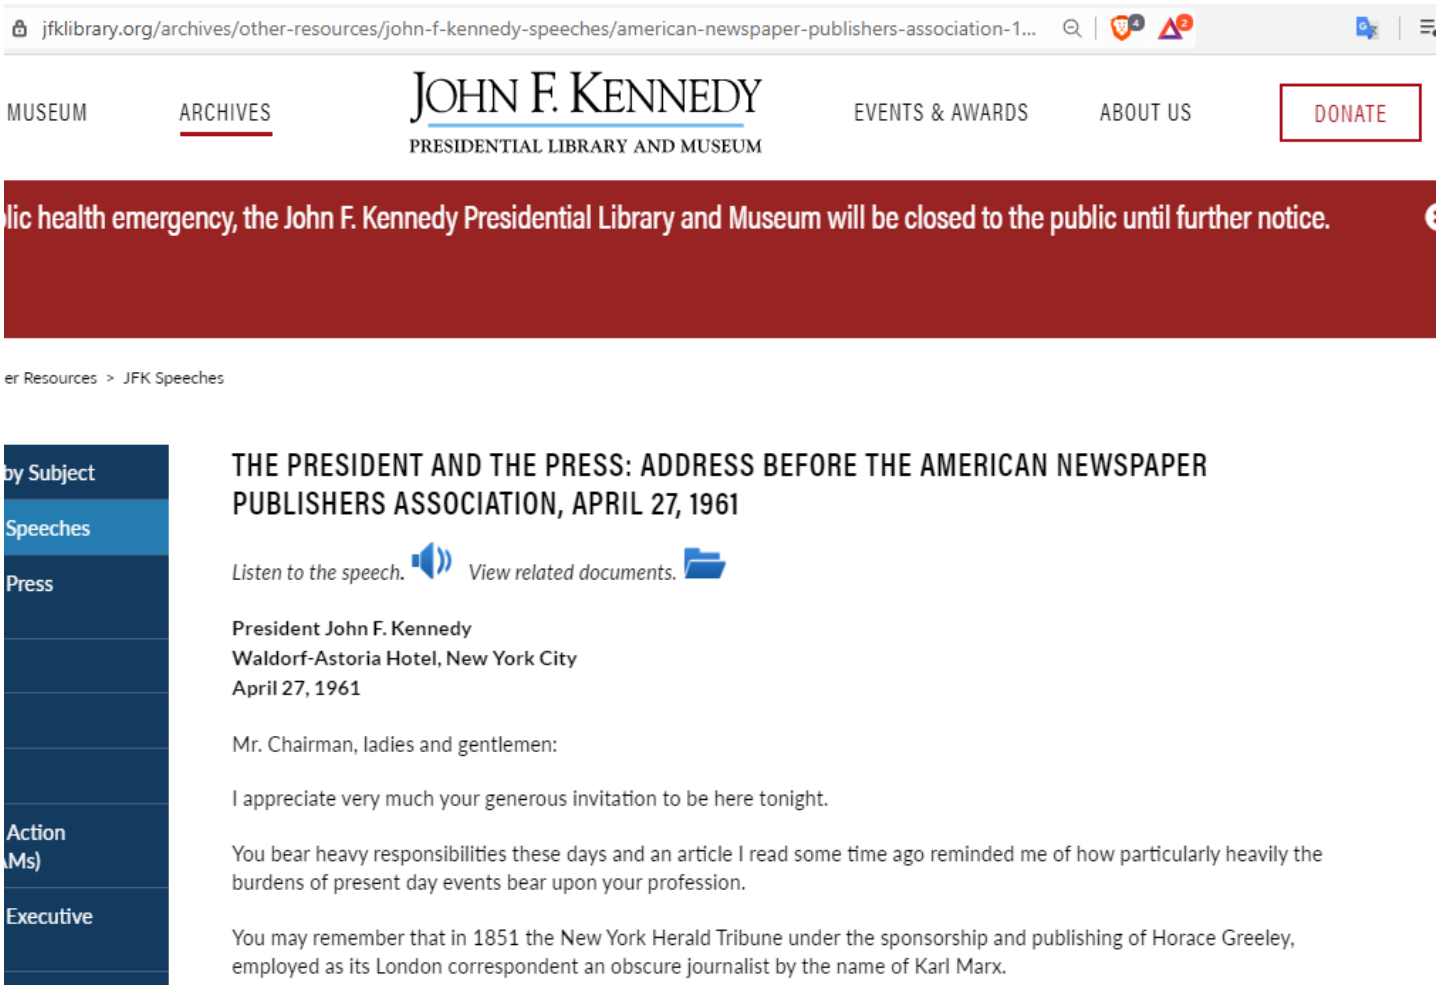

But GREAT men, who are publicly awarded, showered with praise by the media, & "give away" billions of dollars

Yes, these are our most powerful bankers, industrialists, and tech geniuses

Throughout the ages these families have accumulated power and, in JFKs words have:

"Conscripted vast human and material resources into the building of a tightly knit, highly efficient machine"

We've covered how these robber barons have used

Leading Philanthropists Get Carnegie Medals

By TAMAR LEWIN

No question about it, the seven philanthropists who received the inaugural Andrew Carnegie Medals of Philanthropy yesterday were an august bunch: Leonore Annenberg, Brooke Astor, Irene Diamond, William H. Gates Sr., David Rockefeller, George Soros and Ted Turner.

Mr. Turner, the youngest of the lot at 63, seemed slightly stunned at the longevity of those gathered around him "It's a good thing they did this when they did," he said. "Some of us won't be here that much longer."

The titans of the new philanthropy came to the New York Public Library to celebrate the centennial of a signal moment in the history of American giving. Andrew Carnegie's $480 million sale of United States Steel to J. P. Morgan, the transaction that freed Carnegie to devote the rest of his life to philanthropy on a level never before seen.

Each of yesterday's honorees has taken that tradition in a new direction. The award-winners represent different approaches to philanthropy, having in common only that each has given away hundreds of millions of dollars, more than $10 billion among them.

Among them, more than $10 billion is donated.

Ms Astor, who will soon reach her own centennial, has long been ing cultural institutions than as problem-solvers tackling profound social ills. Most seem to feel a great sense of urgency about putting their money to work, fast And where the great philanthropists of the last century tended to use their money to create foundations that would last in perpetuity, — the 21 Carnegie institutions, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Ford Foundation — many of the new philanthropists are spending the bulk of their money while they are alive, to have a greater impact and control how their fortunes are used

"I wanted to do what would make the biggest difference in the shortest term," said Mr. Turner, discussing his decision in 1997 to give $100 million a year to the United Nations in the course of 10 years.

Mr. Soros, too, has said he will use his money now, rather than leave it to others to direct.

As president of the Aaron Diamond Foundation, Ms. Diamond gave away more than $220 million and closed out the foundation five years ago, after a decade as the largest private supporter of AIDS research, playing an important role in discovering protease inhibitors.

Ms. Astor closed the Vincent Astor Foundation in 1997 after giving away some $200 million. "You have to try to help everybody, but if they're nuts and stupid, stay away from them," she said, advice that won a standing ovation.

Ms. Annenberg said that she and her husband, Walter, do not plan to give out all their money in their lifetimes, but they, too, have made large grants to address specific problems, including the $500 million Annenberg Challenge, to reform public education in the United tering affair, with Tom Brokaw, Barbara Walters and Bill Moyers serving as presenters before an audience of leaders from the city's nonprofit institutions. There were touching moments, as the honorees discussed their passions, with several saying that their philanthropy had been the most satisfying part of their lives. The senior Mr. Gates,

This leads us to the next question:

What is "Everything" that is their "Tricks"

Well, they are some of the biggest events and social issues of our day.

They are Problems, presented to the public to create a certain Reaction so that a pre-made Solution can be offered

Take for instance, the Rockefellers, who funded both the US & Nazi

This group seems to have 2 goals:

1. Centralize global power COMPLETELY

2. Keep the population a manageable size, most importantly AFRAID (of impending doom, nuclear war, climate apocalypse) & DIVIDED (political parties, racial tension)

Founder of CNN Ted Turner is very clear:

Bill Gates of course (a bonified Technocratic christ in today's mainstream culture) is concerned about the population as well

Despite a $5Billion budget, his foundation only spends 650k on things like clean water, hygiene, nutrition, & economic development

The last man in that picture

George Soros

Who has the 2nd largest foundation after Gates, funds many of our controversial social movements & democratic campaigns

THIS WAS PULLED TOGETHER BY NED BENNETT OF CA STAFF IN CLOSE CONJUNCTION WITH CIA/HQ. WE [redacted] MOST OF THE SOURCE MATERIAL, PROVIDED MANY OF THE THEMES, AND PROVIDED GENERAL "GUIDANCE" ON THE CASE. THE SPECIFIC ARTICLE WAS WRITTEN BY BENNETT. G.E. Doyle 29 JAN 1967

1. Our Concern. From the day of President Kennedy's assassination on, there has been speculation about the responsibility for his murder. Although this was stemmed for a time by the Warren Commission report (which appeared at the end of September 1964), various writers have now had time to scan the Commission's published report and documents for new pretexts for questioning, and there has been a new wave of books and articles criticizing the Commission's findings. In most cases the critics have speculated as to the existence of some kind of conspiracy, and often they have implied that the Commission itself was involved. Presumably as a result of the increasing challenge to the Warren Commission's Report, a public opinion poll recently indicated that 46% of the American public did not think that Oswald acted alone, while more than half of those polled thought that the Commission had left some questions unresolved. Doubtless polls abroad would show similar, or possibly more adverse, results.

2. This trend of opinion is a matter of concern to the U.S. government, including our organization. The members of the Warren Commission were naturally chosen for their integrity, experience, and prominence. They represented both major parties, and they and their staff were deliberately drawn from all sections of the country. Just because of the standing of the Commissioners, efforts to impugn their rectitude and wisdom tend to cast doubt on the whole leadership of American society. Moreover, there seems to be an increasing tendency to hint that President Johnson himself, as the one person who might be said to have benefited, was in some way responsible for the assassination. Innuendo of such seriousness affects not only the individual concerned, but also the whole reputation of the American government. Our organization itself is directly involved: among other facts, we contributed information to the investigation. Conspiracy theories have frequently thrown suspicion on our organization, for example by falsely alleging that Lee Harvey Oswald worked for us. The aim of this dispatch is to provide material for countering and discrediting the claims of the conspiracy theorists, so as to inhibit the circulation of such claims in other countries. Background information is supplied in a classified section and in a number of unclassified attachments.

3. Action. We do not recommend that discussion of the assassination question be initiated where it is not already taking place. Where discussion is active, however, addressees are requested:

Besides this, has the CIA been known to run any more of these operations?

Yes, another program was discovered by the Church Committee in 1975 in addition to Operation Mockingbird:

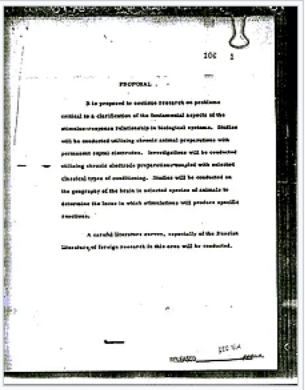

Project MKUltra

Project MKUltra

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

"MKULTRA" redirects here. For other uses, see MKULTRA (disambiguation).
Not to be confused with Edgewood Arsenal human experiments.

Project MKUltra (or MK-Ultra), also called the CIA mind control program, is the code name given to a program of experiments on human subjects that were designed and undertaken by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, some of which were illegal.[1][2][3] Experiments on humans were intended to identify and develop drugs and procedures to be used in interrogations in order to weaken the individual and force confessions through mind control. The project was organized through the Office of Scientific Intelligence of the CIA and coordinated with the United States Army Biological Warfare Laboratories.[4] Code names for drug-related experiments were Project Bluebird and Project Artichoke.[5][6]

Declassified MKUltra documents

The operation was officially sanctioned in 1953, reduced in scope in 1964 and further curtailed in 1967. It was officially halted in 1973. The program engaged in many illegal activities,[7][8][9] including the use of U.S. and Canadian citizens as its unwitting test subjects, which led to controversy regarding its legitimacy.7[10][11][12] MKUltra used numerous methods to manipulate its subjects' mental states and brain functions. Techniques included the covert administration of high doses of psychoactive drugs (especially LSD) and other chemicals, electroshocks,[13] hypnosis,[14][15] sensory deprivation, isolation, verbal and sexual abuse, as well as other forms of torture.[16][17]

The scope of Project MKUltra was broad, with research undertaken at more than 80 institutions, including colleges and universities, hospitals, prisons, and pharmaceutical companies.[18] The CIA operated using front organizations, although sometimes top officials at these institutions were aware of the CIA's involvement.[19]

Project MKUltra was first brought to public attention in 1975 by the Church Committee of the United States Congress and Gerald Ford's United States President's Commission on CIA activities within the United States (also known as the Rockefeller Commission).

Investigative efforts were hampered by CIA Director Richard Helms' order that all MKUltra files be destroyed in 1973; the Church Committee and Rockefeller Commission investigations relied on the sworn testimony of direct participants and on the relatively small number of documents that survived Helms's destruction order.[20] In 1977, a Freedom of Information Act request uncovered a cache of 20,000 documents relating to project MKUltra which led to Senate hearings later that year.[7][21] Some surviving information regarding MKUltra was declassified in July 2001. In December 2018, declassified documents included a letter to an unidentified doctor discussing work on six dogs made to run, turn and stop via remote control and brain implants.[22][23]

Origin of cryptonym [edit]

The project's intentionally obscure CIA cryptonym is made up of the digraph MK, meaning that the project was sponsored by the agency's Technical Services Staff, followed by the word Ultra which had previously been used to designate the most secret classification of World War II intelligence. Other related cryptonyms include Project MKNAOMI and Project MKDELTA.

Origin of project [edit]

According to author Stephen Kinzer, the CIA project "was a continuation of the work begun in WWII-era Japanese facilities and Nazi concentration camps on subduing and controlling human minds". Kinzer wrote that MKUltra's use of mescaline on unwitting subjects was a practice that Nazi doctors had begun in the Dachau concentration camp. Kinzer proposes evidence of the continuation of a Nazi agenda, citing the CIA's secret recruitment of Nazi torturers and vivisectionists to continue the experimentation on thousands of subjects, and Nazis brought to Fort Detrick, Maryland, to instruct CIA officers on the lethal uses of sarin gas.[13]

Sidney Gottlieb approved of an MKUltra sub-project on LSD in this June 9, 1953, letter.

Aims and leadership [edit]

The project was headed by Sidney Gottlieb but began on the order of CIA director Allen Welsh Dulles on April 13, 1953.[24] Its aim was to develop mind-controlling drugs for use against the Soviet bloc in response to alleged Soviet, Chinese, and North Korean use of mind control techniques on U.S. prisoners of war during the Korean War.[25] The CIA wanted to use similar methods on their own captives, and was interested in manipulating foreign leaders with such techniques,[26] devising several schemes to drug Fidel Castro. It often conducted experiments without the subjects' knowledge or consent.[27] In some cases, academic researchers were funded through grants from CIA front organizations but were unaware that the CIA was using their work for these purposes.[28]

The project attempted to produce a perfect truth drug for interrogating suspected Soviet spies during the Cold War, and to explore other possibilities of mind control. Subproject 54 was the Navy's top-secret "Perfect Concussion" program, which was supposed to use sub-aural frequency blasts to erase memory; the program was never carried out.[29]

Operation Mockingbird

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

This article is about a specific CIA program. For an overview of CIA influence on media, see CIA influence on public opinion.

Operation Mockingbird[a] is an alleged large-scale program of the United States Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) that began in the early 1950s and attempted to manipulate news media for propaganda purposes. It funded student and cultural organizations and magazines as front organizations.[1]

According to writer Deborah Davis, Operation Mockingbird recruited leading American journalists into a propaganda network and oversaw the operations of front groups. CIA support of front groups was exposed after a 1967 Ramparts magazine article reported that the National Student Association received funding from the CIA. In the 1970s, Congressional investigations and reports also revealed Agency connections with journalists and civic groups. None of these reports, however, mentions by name an Operation Mockingbird coordinating or supporting these activities.

A Project Mockingbird is mentioned in the CIA Family Jewels report, compiled in the mid-1970s. According to the declassified version of the report released in 2007, Project Mockingbird involved the wiretapping of two American journalists for several months in the early 1960s.

So how did they get away with such programs?

Well, just like with the Nazis, in general, we have one family to thank:

Rockefeller Commission

United States President's Commission on CIA Activities within the United States

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia
(Redirected from United States President's Commission on CIA activities within the United States)

The United States President's Commission on CIA Activities within the United States was set up under President Gerald Ford in 1975 to investigate the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency and other intelligence agencies within the United States. The commission was led by the Vice President, Nelson Rockefeller, and is sometimes referred to as the Rockefeller Commission.

The commission was created in response to a December 1974 report in The New York Times that the CIA had conducted illegal domestic activities, including experiments on U.S. citizens, during the 1960s. The commission issued a single report in 1975, touching upon certain CIA abuses including mail opening and surveillance of domestic dissident groups. It publicized Project MKUltra, a CIA mind control study.

It also studied issues relating to the John F. Kennedy assassination, specifically the head snap as seen in the Zapruder film (first shown on television in 1975), and the possible presence of E. Howard Hunt and Frank Sturgis in Dallas, Texas.[1]

A larger investigation, the Church Committee, was set up on 27 January 1975 by the U.S. Senate. The Nedzi Committee was created in the U.S. Congress on 19 February 1975. It was replaced by the Pike Committee five months later.

In July 1975, The New York Times reported that unnamed staff sources within the Rockefeller Commission said that Sidney Gottlieb commanded the CIA's LSD experimentation program, was personally involved in the experiment that killed researcher Frank Olson, then destroyed the program's records in 1973.[2]

the man who discovered the first human virus and identified the "Spanish Flu" that caused the pandemic of 1918

Spanish flu

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia
(Redirected from 1918 pandemic)

The Spanish flu, also known as the 1918 flu pandemic, was an unusually deadly influenza pandemic. Lasting from spring 1918 through spring or early summer 1919, it infected 500 million people – about a third of the world's population at the time.[2] The death toll is estimated to have been anywhere from 17 million to 50 million, and possibly as high as 100 million, making it one of the deadliest pandemics in human history.[3]

To maintain morale, World War I censors minimized early reports of illness and mortality in Germany, the United Kingdom, France, and the United States. Newspapers were free to report the epidemic's effects in neutral Spain, such as the grave illness of King Alfonso XIII, and these stories created a false impression of Spain as especially hard hit. This gave rise to the name Spanish flu. Historical and epidemiological data are inadequate to identify with certainty the pandemic's geographic origin, with varying views as to its location.

Most influenza outbreaks disproportionately kill the very young and the very old, with a higher survival rate for those in between, but the Spanish flu pandemic resulted in a higher than expected mortality rate for young adults.[4] Scientists offer several possible explanations for the high mortality rate of the 1918 influenza pandemic. Some analyses have shown the virus to be particularly deadly because it triggers a cytokine storm, which ravages the stronger immune system of young adults.[5] In contrast, a 2007 analysis of medical journals from the period of the pandemic found that the viral infection was no more aggressive than previous influenza strains.[6][7] Instead, malnourishment, overcrowded medical camps and hospitals, and poor hygiene, all exacerbated by the recent war, promoted bacterial superinfection. This superinfection killed most of the victims, typically after a somewhat prolonged death bed.[8][9]

The Spanish flu was the first of two pandemics caused by the H1N1 influenza virus; the second was the 2009 swine flu pandemic.[10]

So once again, we must ask ourselves:

What type of people can bring themselves to carry out such evil?

For that, we can look at who Eric Traub reported to in the Nazi SS

Known occultist and owner of Wewelsburg Castle (which features multiple ritual chambers):

Heinrich Himmler

Heinrich Himmler

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

"Himmler" redirects here. For other persons with the same surname, see Himmler (surname).

Heinrich Luitpold Himmler (German: [ˈhaɪnʁɪç ˈluːɪtˌpɔlt ˈhɪmlɐ] (listen); 7 October 1900 – 23 May 1945) was Reichsführer of the Schutzstaffel (Protection Squadron; SS), and a leading member of the Nazi Party (NSDAP) of Germany. Himmler was one of the most powerful men in Nazi Germany and a main architect of the Holocaust.

As a member of a reserve battalion during World War I, Himmler did not see active service. He studied agronomy in university, and joined the Nazi Party in 1923 and the SS in 1925. In 1929, he was appointed Reichsführer-SS by Adolf Hitler. Over the next 16 years, he developed the SS from a mere 290-man battalion into a million-strong paramilitary group, and, following Hitler's orders, set up and controlled the Nazi concentration camps. He was known for good organisational skills and for selecting highly competent subordinates, such as Reinhard Heydrich in 1931. From 1943 onwards, he was both Chief of German Police and Minister of the Interior, overseeing all internal and external police and security forces, including the Gestapo (Secret State Police). Himmler had a lifelong interest in occultism, interpreting Germanic neopagan and Völkisch beliefs to promote the racial policy of Nazi Germany, and incorporating esoteric symbolism and rituals into the SS.

On Hitler's behalf, Himmler formed the Einsatzgruppen and built extermination camps. As facilitator and overseer of the concentration camps, Himmler directed the killing of some six million Jews, between 200,000 and 500,000 Romani people, and other victims; the total number of civilians killed by the regime is estimated at eleven to fourteen million people. Most of them were Polish and Soviet citizens.

Late in World War II, Hitler briefly appointed him a military commander and later Commander of the Replacement (Home) Army and General Plenipotentiary for the administration of the entire Third Reich (Generalbevollmächtigter für die Verwaltung). Specifically, he was given command of the Army Group Upper Rhine and the Army Group Vistula; he failed to achieve his assigned objectives and Hitler

Col. Aquino's satanic church is advertised in the yellow pages in San Francisco, where he was stationed from 1981 to 1986. He says most members are in the U.S. and Canada, although "we have a sprinkling of members in places like Western Europe and the Pacific."

The Constitution's guarantee of freedom of religion protects Col. Aquino from action by the Army, said Lieut. Col. Greg Rixon, an Army public affairs officer in Washington, D.C.

"As long as an individual's religious practice remains within the limit of the law, there is no problem," Col. Rixon said.

Homosexual prostitution inquiry ensnares VIPs with Reagan, Bush

'Call boys' took midnight tour of White House

These kids were taken from Nebraska's "Boystown" foster home to elite sex parties, even to the White House

Not only did the head of the investigation committee drop dead so did a dozen more people involved in the case, including

Rusty Nelson, who pinned Aquino as a participant

The Franklin Cover-up

The shut-down of Omaha, Nebraska's Franklin Community Federal Credit Union, raided by federal agencies in November 1988, sent shock waves all the way to Washington, D.C. $40 million was missing. The credit union's manager: Republican Party activist Lawrence E. "Larry" King, Jr., behind whose rise to fame and riches stood powerful figures in Nebraska politics and business, and in the nation's capital.

In the face of opposition from local and state law enforcement, from the FBI, and from the powerful Omaha World-Herald newspaper, a special Franklin committee of the Nebraska Legislature launched its own probe. What looked like a financial swindle, soon exploded into a hideous tale of drugs, Iran-Contra money-laundering, a nationwide child abuse ring, and ritual murder.

Nineteen months later, the legislative committee's chief investigator died—suddenly, and violently, like more than a dozen other people linked to the Franklin case.

Author John DeCamp knows the Franklin scandal from the inside. In 1990, his "DeCamp memo" first publicly named the alleged high-ranking abusers. Today, he is attorney for two of the abuse victims.

Using documentation never before made public, DeCamp lays bare not only the crimes, but the cover-up—a textbook case of how dangerous the corruption of institutions of government, and the press, can be. In its sweep and in what it portends for the nation, the Franklin cover-up followed the ugly precedent of the Warren Commission.

You might have heard of this case if not for the Discovery channel pulling it's documentary

"Conspiracy of Silence"

From it's schedule after it was already included in the TV guide.

Luckily a member of the production team managed to leak a copy online:
https://t.co/8SpqVX9Xj6

I would highly recommend you take the time to watch that documentary.

And if you still can't comprehend the legitimacy of elite satanic ritual abuse then you should watch the recently released viral sensation

"Out of Shadows"

Which covers all of this:

After the Epstein case, elite child sex trafficking is not seen as as much of a joke as it used to.

Where else do we find evidence of occultic rituals and sexual abuse?

Dear Tony,

I am so looking forward to the Spirit Cooking dinner at my place. Do you think you will be able to let me know if your brother is joining?

These are the same emails that

"Pizzagate"

emerged from (Covered at 55min mark in doc above)

While claiming to not be a satanist, Marina could've sure fooled me.

What is a "spirit cooking" performance you ask? Well it involves a mixture of bodily fluids, see for yourself

What other types of activities does Marina enjoy?

Well for one thing she's a big fan of throwing mock cannibalistic dinners for her elite friends like Jay Z, Lady Gaga and Jacob Rothschild

Most recently she starred in a commercial for MICROSOFT, that was quickly taken down lmao

While these occult groups are sometimes referred to as

"Secret" Societies

In all reality, as we have covered in this thread, they ALWAYS hide in plain sight, communicating to those "in the know" with dog-whistle gestures

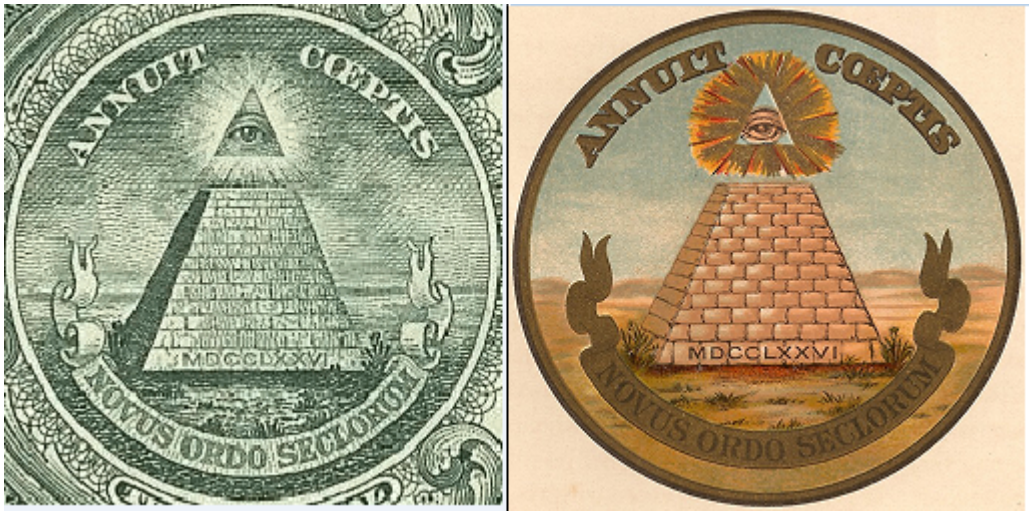

Makes them and their agenda easy to identify lol

The combination of esoteric ritual, the psychology teachings of Bernay's "Propaganda", & subconscious programming of MKUltra are all utilized by our

"Rich Men" in order to get away with their "Tricks"

By laying out their symbols in plain sight, we become comfortable with them

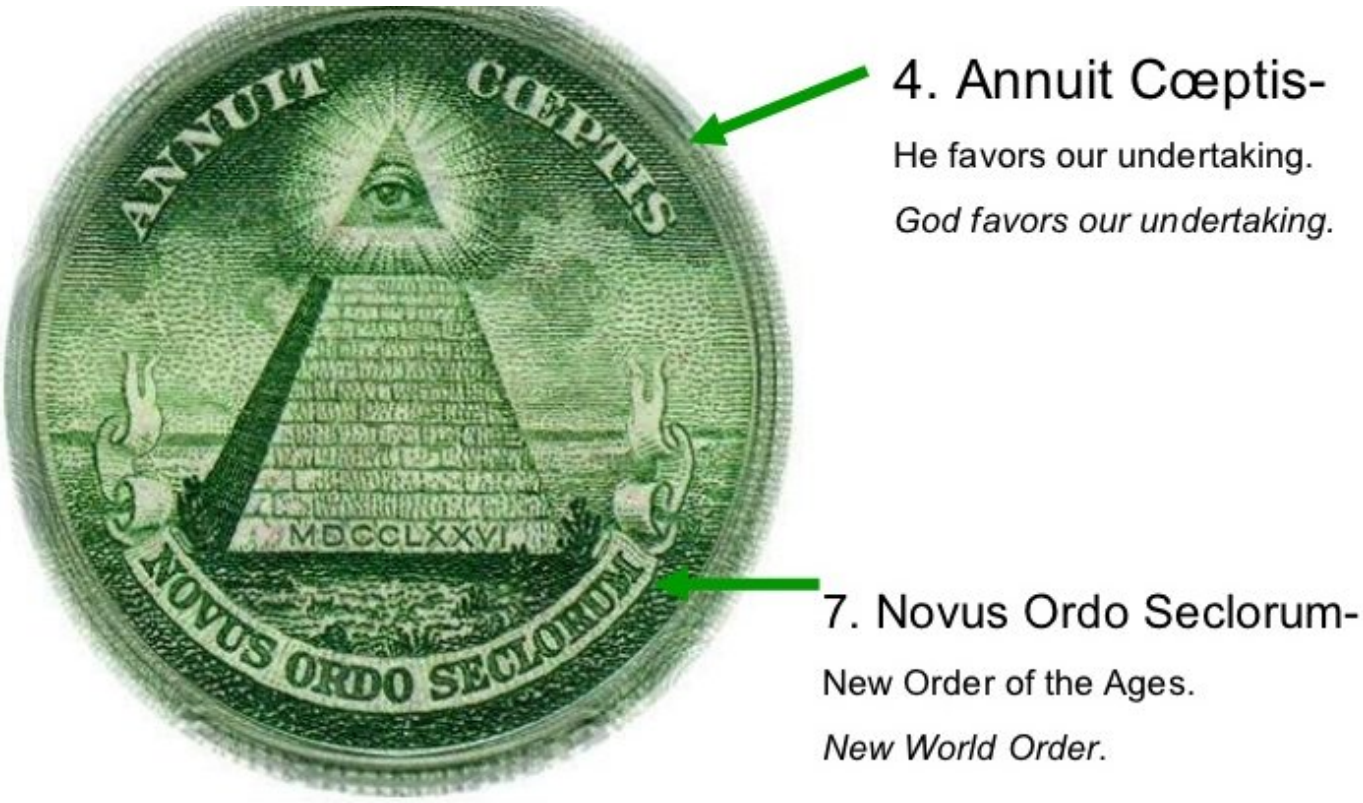

Above is a symbol of the Freemasons, who believe their ideology to have originated with the pyramid builders themselves.

The "Eye of Providence" represents their concept of God, who they call the

"Great Architect"

Who watches over and guides humanity.

They are his servants.

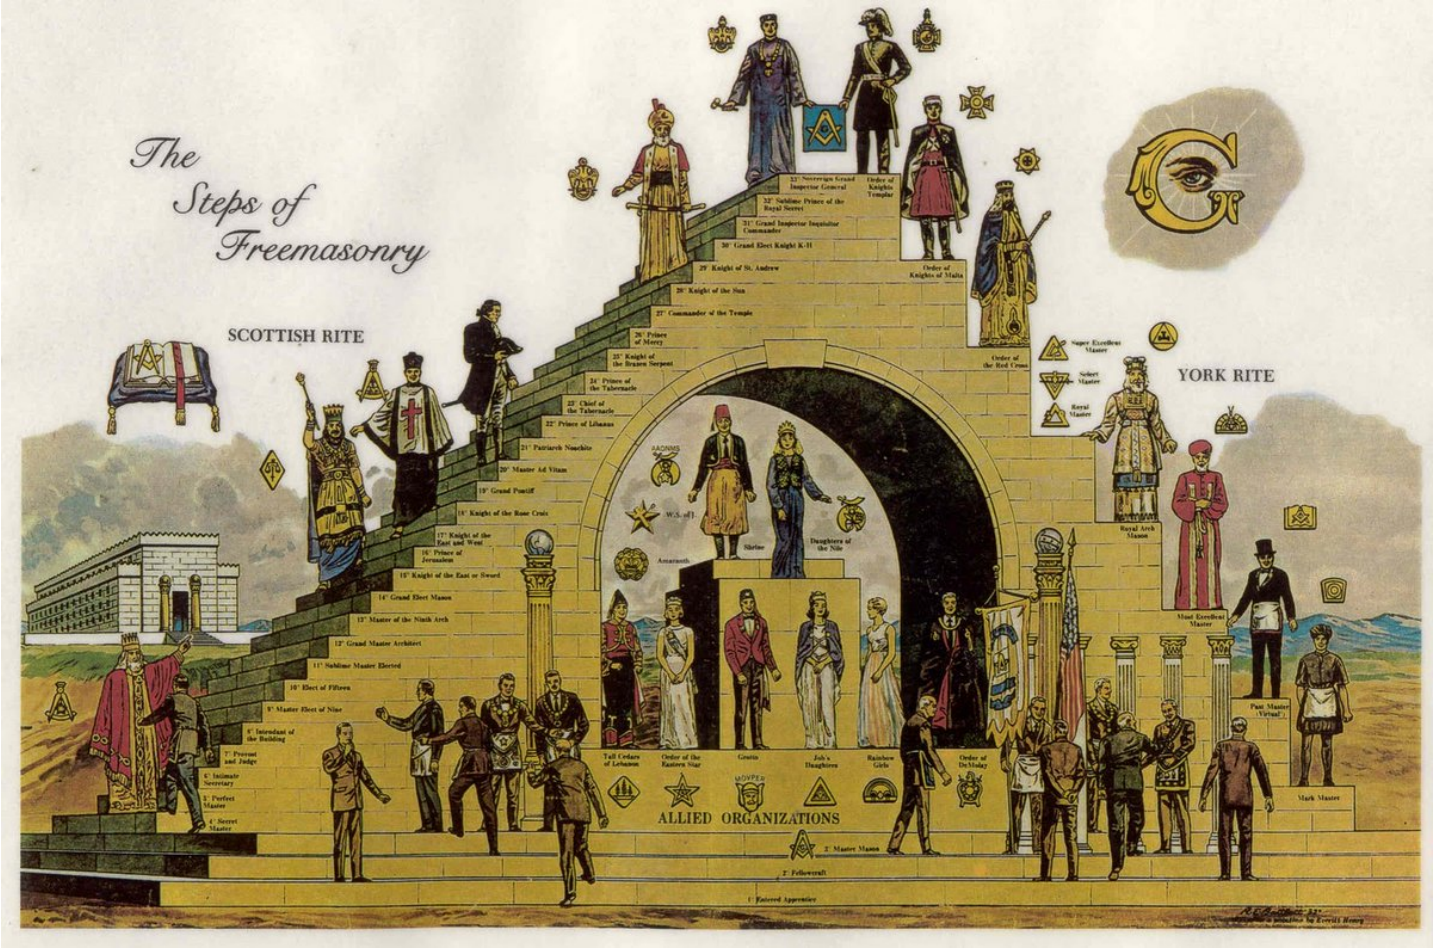

This brings us home to their ultimate modern example of hiding in plain sight:

The Georgia Guidestones

Crafted by the Freemasons of Elberton, Georgia.

Masonry was founded in 1717 as a guild of stonemasons & has included founding fathers and members of royalty among their ranks

You can see on level 18 the

"Knights of the Rose Croix"

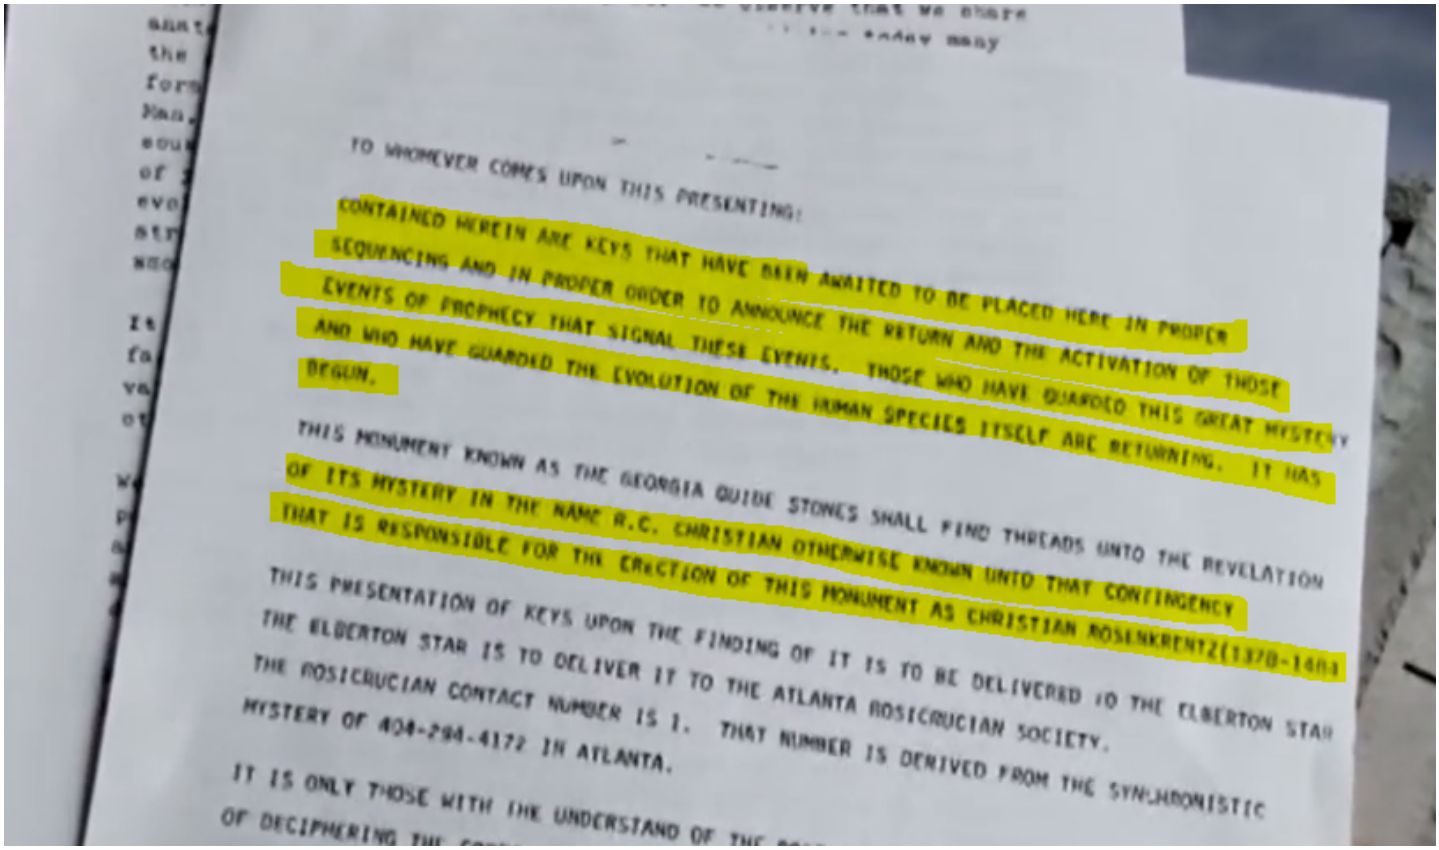

This group is also known as

"Rosicrucians"

You may have heard of them earlier in this thread as

"R.C. Christian"

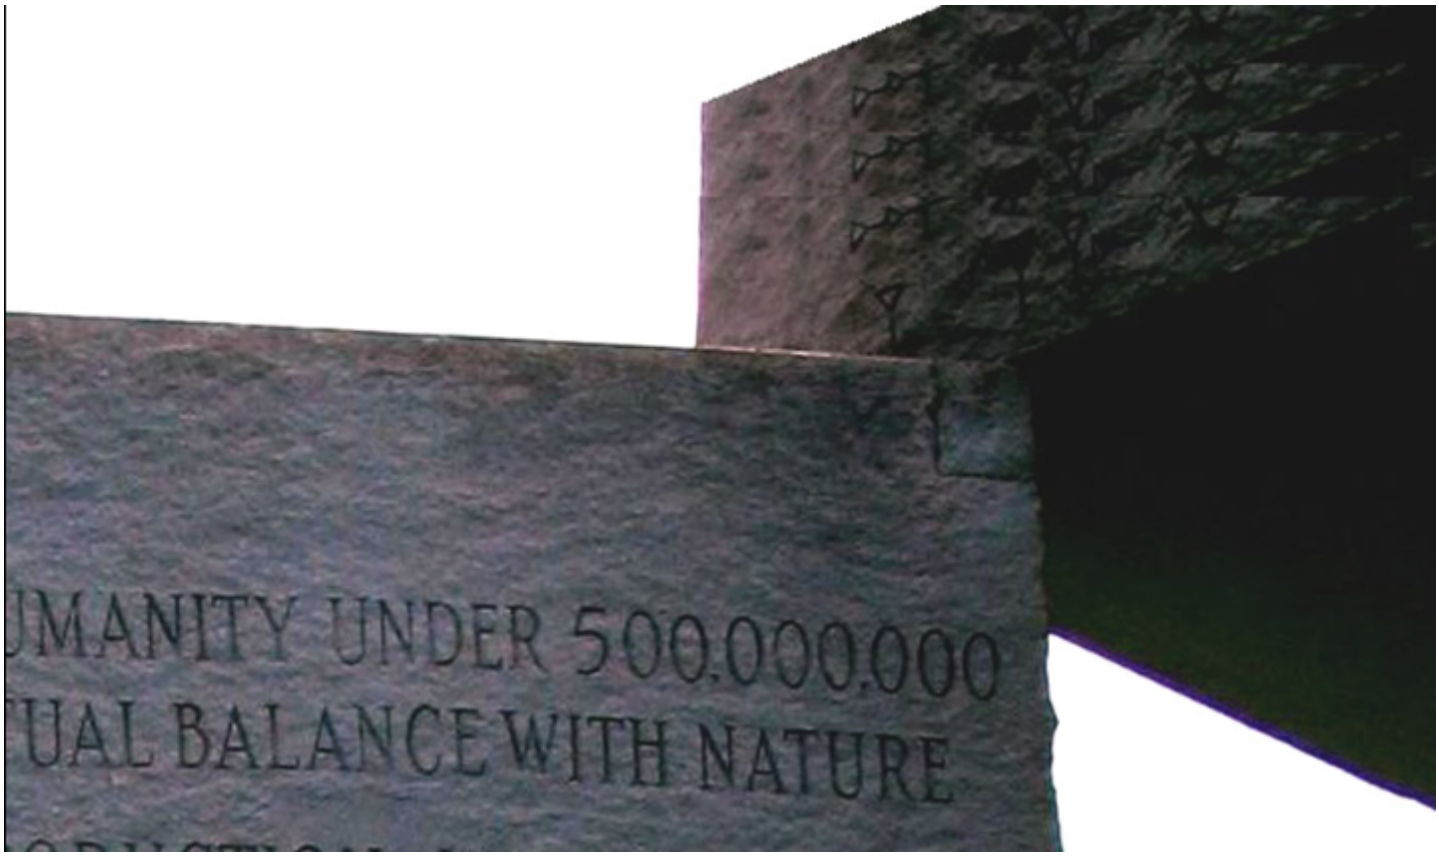

A document was discovered in 2015 at Coggins Industries in Elberton that links RC directly to this group

The Rosicrucians goal is to prepare humanity for the coming new age

In that document above, it mentions keys that will be placed in proper sequencing to signal events of prophecy

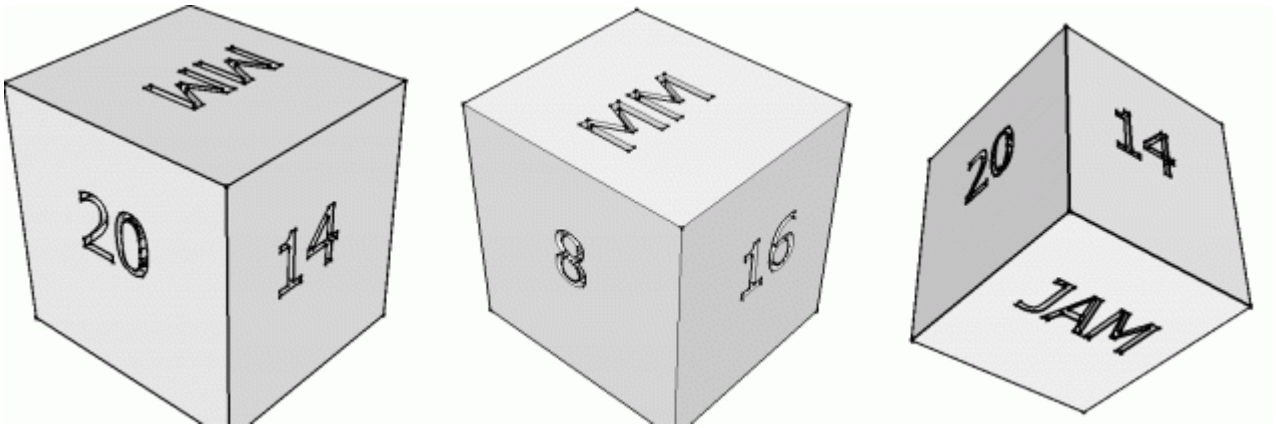

On Sept 11th 2009 a cube was removed from the stones, and was replaced with another in 2014

Here we find several important fingerprints:

1. The cube reads 8/14/2016, but only if read counterclockwise

2. That is the date that the"Tisha B'av" or "9th of Av" fell on that year, which is a Jewish day of fasting when they solemnly commemorate the falling of the 2 temples

Here we find the concept of

"Inversion"

The practice of taking all that is holy and desecrating it, feasting on days of fasting, flipping the cross upside down, making all that is evil sacred.

That is why the 9th of Av is the biggest holiday of the Sabbatean Frankist cult

Sabbatai Zevi

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Sabbatai Zevi (Hebrew: שַׁבְּתַי צְבִי, other spellings include Shabbetai Ẓevi, Shabbeṯāy Ṣeḇī, Shabsai Tzvi, and Sabetay Sevi in Turkish) (August 1, 1626 – c. September 17, 1676[1]) was a Sephardic ordained rabbi from Smyrna (modern day Izmir, Turkey).[2][3] A kabbalist of Romaniote origin,[4] Zevi, who was active throughout the Ottoman Empire, claimed to be the long-awaited Jewish Messiah. He was the founder of the Sabbatean movement, whose followers subsequently were to be known as Dönmeh or crypto-Jews.[5]

In February 1666, upon arriving in Constantinople, Sabbatai was imprisoned on the order of the grand vizier Ahmed Köprülü; in September of that same year, after being moved from different prisons around the capital to Adrianople (the imperial court's seat) for judgement on accusations of fomenting sedition, Sabbatai was given by Köprülü, in the name of the Sultan Mehmed IV, the choice of either facing death by some type of ordeal, or of converting to Islam. Sabbatai seems to have chosen the latter by donning from then on a Turkish turban. He was then also rewarded by the heads of the Ottoman state with a generous pension for his compliance with their political and religious plans.[6] Some of his followers also converted to Islam—about 300 families who were known as the Dönmeh (converts).[7] As the Ottomans tired of his schemes, he was banished twice, first to Constantinople and, when he was discovered singing psalms with the Jews, to a small town known today as Ulcinj in present-day Montenegro. He later died in isolation.[8][9]

The leader of this cult, Sabbatai Zevi, was BORN on the 9th of Av, and in 1666 was arrested in Turkey for his satanic teachings.

His name literally means "Saturn", which itself is where the word "Satan" is derived from.

Sabbatai believed by doing evil he would force the end the of the world, & in 1666 he escaped death by "converting" to Islam

Just like he pretended to be a Jew while being the opposite

This is the true nature of our rulers

Not Christians, Jews or Muslims

They are the opposite

The Big 3 Monotheistic Religions Lead to Saturn

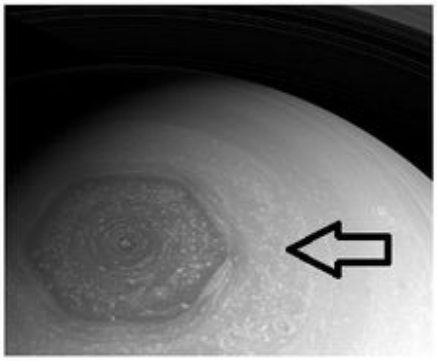

Crescent Moon = Saturn

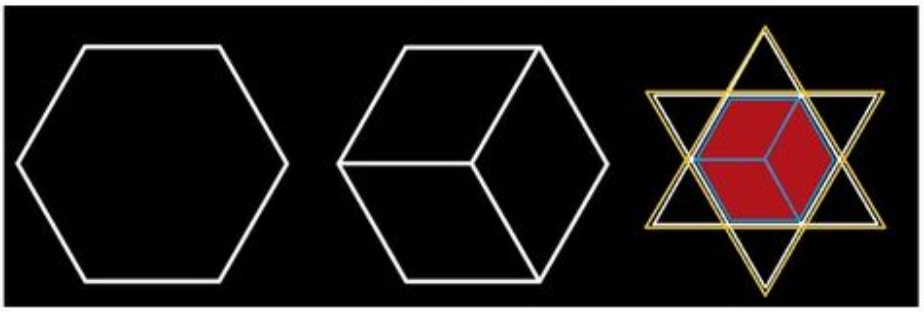

Black Cube: the Kaabah in Mecca

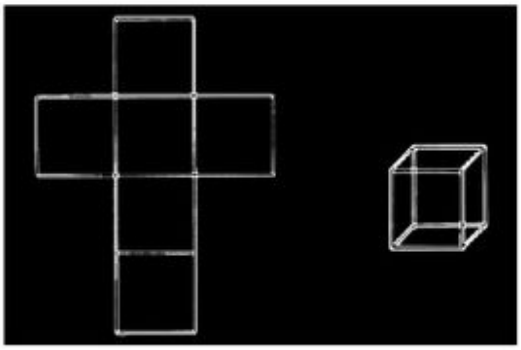

North Pole of Saturn: Hexagon

2D Cube = Hexagon in Star of David

The Cross Unfolds into a Cube

Greek Symbol for Saturn: Cross w/ a Sickle

Teffilin: Black Cube for Jewish Prayers

This is why Himmler started his

"Final Solution" AKA the Holocaust

on the 9th of Av

Av is the 11th month is the Jewish calendar

This is why the 11th of our 9th month was chosen for the falling of OUR two temples (towers) and the removal of the first cube of the Guidestones

Other calamities [edit]

Over time, Tisha B'Av has come to be a Jewish day of mourning, not only for these events, but also for later tragedies which occurred on or near the 9th of Av. References to some of these events appear in liturgy composed for Tisha B'Av (see below).

- The First Crusade officially commenced on August 15, 1096 (Av 24, AM 4856), killing 10,000 Jews in its first month and destroying Jewish communities in France and the Rhineland.[9][11]
- The Jews were expelled from England on July 18, 1290 (Av 9, AM 5050).[9]
- The Jews were expelled from France on July 22, 1306 (Av 10, AM 5066).[12]
- The Jews were expelled from Spain on July 31, 1492 (Av 7, AM 5252).[10]
- Germany entered World War I on August 1–2, 1914 (Av 9–10, AM 5674), which caused massive upheaval in European Jewry and whose aftermath led to the Holocaust.[9]
- On August 2, 1941 (Av 9, AM 5701), SS commander Heinrich Himmler formally received approval from the Nazi Party for "The Final Solution." As a result, the Holocaust began during which almost one third of the world's Jewish population perished.[13]
- On July 23, 1942 (Av 9, AM 5702), began the mass deportation of Jews from the Warsaw Ghetto, en route to Treblinka.[13]
- The AMIA bombing, of the Jewish community center in Buenos Aires, killed 85 and injured 300 on July 18, 1994 (10 Av, AM 5754).[14]
- The Israeli disengagement from Gaza began in the Gaza Strip, expelling 8000 Jews who lived in Gush Katif; August 15, 2005; 10 Av, 5765.[15]

While the Holocaust spanned a number of years, most religious communities use Tisha B'Av to mourn its 6,000,000 Jewish victims, in addition to or instead of the secular Holocaust Memorial Days. On Tisha B'Av, communities which otherwise do not modify the traditional prayer liturgy have added the recitation of special kinnot related to the Holocaust.

Here we find ourselves at possibly their largest trick of the 21st century

Orchestrated by this same cabal, headed by the same Nazi supporting, CIA directing, Skull and Bone member filed family, the Bushes.

Who built the Twin Towers?

None other than the Rockefellers:

This of course is the reason that the 9/11 memorial is a cut out of two black cubes

There's even a new World Trade Center Performing Arts center in construction that is a cube.

The main feature of the memorial area is the "Occulus"

Which means "an eye", and it's shaped like 1

We'll be going into more detail on 9/11 in the next part of this thread, for now you can read about it in one of my previous threads

Alright, so before we wrap up pt 3, we'll cover their most recent 9th of Av celebration:

Less than 2 weeks before Epstein's death, Hollywood released

"Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"

The climax occurs on the eve of Aug 8th, going into the morning of Aug 9th, where Satanists go on a murder spree

August 10th was the 9th of Av 2019, & the day Epstein was found dead.

Once Upon a Time in Hollywood

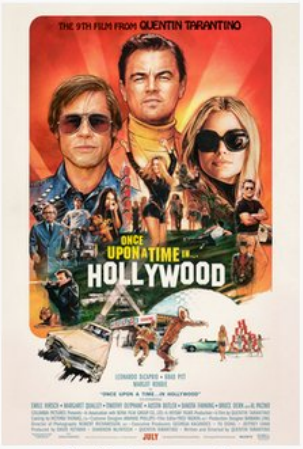

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Once Upon a Time in Hollywood[a] is a 2019 comedy-drama film written and directed by Quentin Tarantino. Produced by Columbia Pictures, Bona Film Group, Heyday Films, and Visiona Romantica and distributed by Sony Pictures Releasing, it is a co-production between the United States, United Kingdom, and China. It features a large ensemble cast led by Leonardo DiCaprio, Brad Pitt, and Margot Robbie. Set in 1969 Los Angeles, the film follows an actor and his stunt double, as they navigate the changing film industry, and features "multiple storylines in a modern fairy tale tribute to the final moments of Hollywood's golden age."[5][6][7]

Announced in July 2017, it is the first Tarantino film not to involve Bob and Harvey Weinstein, as Tarantino ended his partnership with the brothers following the sexual abuse allegations against the latter. After a bidding war, the film was distributed by Sony Pictures, which met Tarantino's demands including final cut privilege. Pitt, DiCaprio, Robbie, Zoë Bell, Kurt Russell, and others joined the cast between January and June 2018. Principal photography lasted from June through November around Los Angeles. This was the final film to feature Luke Perry, who died on March 4, 2019.

Once Upon a Time in Hollywood premiered at the Cannes Film Festival on May 21, 2019, and was theatrically released in the United States on July 26, 2019 and in the United Kingdom on August 14. The film has grossed $374 million worldwide and received praise from critics for Tarantino's screenplay and direction, acting, cinematography, costume design, production values, and soundtrack, though it received criticism for its pacing and running time. Among its various accolades, the film was chosen by the American Film Institute and the National Board of Review as one of the top ten films of the year. It received 10 nominations at the 92nd Academy Awards, including Best Picture, and won Best Supporting Actor (Pitt) and Best Production Design. It also won Best Motion Picture – Musical or Comedy at the 77th Golden Globe Awards.

Well, that about wraps up part 3.

Part 4:

"Plandemic"

Will begin shortly and will cover the hours of predictive programming media inserted into our mainstream culture to prepare the public subconscious to accept our current situation without question.
