

Twitter Thread by sriram

sriram
@SriramKannan77

Why?

Pharma Lobby at its best can be seen here. Few months before we were just clean and were heading towards normalcy & suddenly, we had the so-called farmer protest taking a toll which we eventually know was part of the #toolkit planned by the leftist. 1

As part of vaccine preparation & the norms prevailing – we had calculated the number of dosages available for usage & had given our produced vaccines to the rest of the world. Down the line, we never expected this strain again unless it was planted for having sold their products.

Although we are busy preparing the vaccines in India, we were forced to buy vaccines from our friendly nation – but this didn't stop there as there has always been a myth or belief to be precise that anything that the Americans develop it's good and we tend to talk so proudly but the same thing when we do, we are questioned and lobbying starts.

Fine, keeping that aspect aside – with the 2nd wave is yet to subside there is a prolonged talk going on & we are going to see the 3rd wave by the last quarter of the year. The best part is that it's been targeted at the kids. Wh@t the heck is this? Yes, this is the plan.

Pfizer had received its approval from the American govt weeks back under CDC.

The funniest part is that Pfizer had not undergone any proper test and is facing charges from the Europeans & eventually got banned. Now – the only area to get its product sold in India as our nation has approx. 40cr children under 18years.

Not just that, the price value of Pfizer is 3 times the price & if this vaccine has been approved, they can see huge profit based on the sales.

Currently seeing the plight – we have the Bharath biotech applying phase 2 and 3 trials of kids, but that too has hit a roadblock by having filed a PIL in court to stop the trials. Tremendous efforts are being put to pressure the GOI to allow without any trials

& with some legal immunity. Even if there comes a problem, they have a family to protect them at any cost.

Right coming to the best part – in general, those who are young would have a better immune system & if given a basic Ayurveda treatment or home remedy they would be fine. If that happens it would be a direct loss to the entire pharma lobby including hospitals who are seeing a large amount of money at present.

Now just connect the dots – it's very much evident only one family is behind this nexus. That's it from my end. Let's sink in.