[VIDEO] How To Scale Your Digital Agency With >90% Profit Margins & <2.4% Churn Rate

// 15 Takeaways from my interview with Shaun Clark, CEO of @gohhighlevel //

[THREAD]

1

#1 - Why HighLevel's flat monthly fee for 'unlimited clients' business model has totally disrupted traditional SaaS CRMs

#2 - Why 8 and 9 figure companies like Thryv and Podium are all in on SaaS - and why agencies are actually in a BETTER POSITION to join them

2

#3 - Why Thryv has just a 2.4% churn rate with a Revenue Per Customer (RPU) of $304 and going up

#4 - How Thryv is a billion-dollar company who's main product is basically a white-label of Vcita, the online calendar tool

3

#5 - How Podium's Customer Acquisition Cost (CAC) is $1,200 but Lifetime customer value (LCV) is $12,000 and going up

#6 - How agencies can charge for SaaS alongside their current services and 4x their client retention (I've experienced this personally)

4

#7 - How to get results with HighLevel alone (no ads needed) in week 1 purely with 'Database Reactivations' - including my own story

#8 - Why its a dangerous myth that white-labelling is a poor man's SaaS with no real valuation or ability to exit with a significant multiple

5

#9 - The #1 thing Google is betting the farm on this year that you haven't heard about YET...

#10 - Why Google My Business messaging is Google's answer to Facebook Messenger and will take over the world for local business marketing

6

#11 - How one single location HVAC company in Oregon went from 15 to 350 reviews in 3 years - and 2 trucks to 13 - paying $300 per month ■just■ for HighLevel's automated review generation tool

7

#12 - How the Pay Per appointment booked or showed models are transforming agency revenues and increasing client results, while also helping to sell more retainers on long-term contracts.

8

#13 - How you can get your own fully-branded mobile apps so your clients don't ever need to know that your SaaS is a white-label.

9

#14 - Why offering SaaS PLUS an agency service is an ideal combination of high-ticket revenue plus long-term, low-churn client retention.

10

#15 - Why the SaaS '2.0' model allows you to simply sell SaaS and forget ever having to offer unsustainable performance-related or highly customized, non-scalable services ever again.
