Twitter Thread by shruti@array.vc

shruti@array.vc
@atShruti

If you have always dreamt of getting into venture capital then read on because we at Array Ventures are hiring.

VC is the new consulting / banking. It gives you ton of exposure to startups, new tech, amazing venture community, and ton more.

Here is what we are looking for: ■

Tech Skills:
- Background in data, AI/ML
- Worked at an enterprise company (not a hard requirement)
- Excited about boring enterprise - Data, Infrastructure, Security, APIs, all the boring non-sexy stuff
- Can hack small projects
- Curious about why some companies succeed

Soft Skills:
- Can do many things at once
- Curious to learn something new everyday
- Hungry to share their learning and have a POV
- Can write well
- Hustler
- Organized
- Self Starter
- Good communication skills
- Someone who is nice & founders like working with

This requires its own post:

- Wants to help and grow with early stage founders

This (and a whole lot more along with tons of patience!) is what it takes to be successful in VC long term. At a smaller firm you get to wear many hats and can get on a partner track faster.

Our investments: https://t.co/F3iKFaP5lx

Message me if you are a fit or please share!