Twitter Thread by Ford Fischer

Ford Fischer
@FordFischer

The biggest healthcare insurance provider, UnitedHealthcare, is planning to roll out a new policy that would evaluate emergency room visits and provide partial or no coverage retroactively if they feel the visit wasn't needed for an "actual"