Twitter Thread by Ram Bhupatiraju

Ram Bhupatiraju
@RamBhupatiraju

Some pretty good Book summaries in here. h/t @mtmdev_ ■

My fav ones from the list
✔■Poor Charlie's Almanack
✔■Zero to One
✔■The Millionaire Next Door
✔■Surely You're Joking, Mr.

1■ Poor Charlie's Almanack (on Charlie Munger).

Having the actual book and referencing it often is the best option, but checking out these tidbits doesn't hurt.

https://t.co/eG6CswDGWo

2■ Zero to One by Peter Thiel.

Great review of an excellent book that's very useful for anyone interested in Tech/Innovation.

https://t.co/jZ51eiqXCx

3■ The Millionaire Next Door by Thomas J. Stanley and William D. Danko.

This is one of the best personal finance books for a good reason.

https://t.co/szUiwlzack

4■ Surely You're Joking, Mr. Feynman! by Richard Feynman.

https://t.co/YoiFXOsxrz

5■Meditations by Marcus Aurelius.

I have seen this book recommended by tons of people over the years. Looking at the quick summary, I can see why. Have to check it out sometime soon.

https://t.co/GrHllyOnAB