Benefits of Hackathon

Thread ■

What is Hackathon?
Hackathon is an event in which student developers or working professionals or anyone technical/non-technical people come together and form a team and work on an issue/topic of that hackathon collaboratively in bounded time.

1. Innovation
In a hackathon many innovations take place, hackathon gives you a playground to play with technology with your team, imagine without a hackathon you can build a project or something but it would not be diversified

2. Networking
In hackathons, you can network a lot, you can increase your friend circle, you meet new people, In hackathons, there is a coffee break with your team so you can network there, and there is also a meet for the different teams so they come and network.

3. Peer learning
In hackathons, Everyone is in the mood of learning and teaching, eg. in your team 1 guy knows the frontend 1 knows the backend and you know the cloud so you all can teach and learn from each other. and you can learn from anyone, no barrier at all.

4. Recruitment
Judge of Hackathons are mostly recruiters, so If you win or if you don’t but your idea is good enough and aligns with the recruiter’s company, you will be in the eye of the recruiter, then if any opening happens in his company, they will directly reach out to you.

These all are my Personal Experience, Please feel free to add more points. ■
