Mr. X Children in India would be on fire as a result of the sudden surge of nationalism in India and most other countries around the world as a result of the Olympic Games 2020.

Expect a slew of articles and tweets about how spending money on sports is a waste of money when the main issues are Covid, floods, hunger, and poverty.

Sending girls and boys from poor families to the Olympics for the rich's entertainment is an example of capitalism and oppression of the oppressed.

An examination of how much money the government spent per medal and how many vaccine doses could have been distributed with that money.

How Modi Sarkar has failed to provide us with even a single gold medal despite boasting about having done the best preparation for the big event ever.

If you happen to come across anything negative like this.... Celebrate even more fervently, loudly, and extravagantly. ... Someone was burned... ■
