Twitter Thread by Sonia.Gurnani

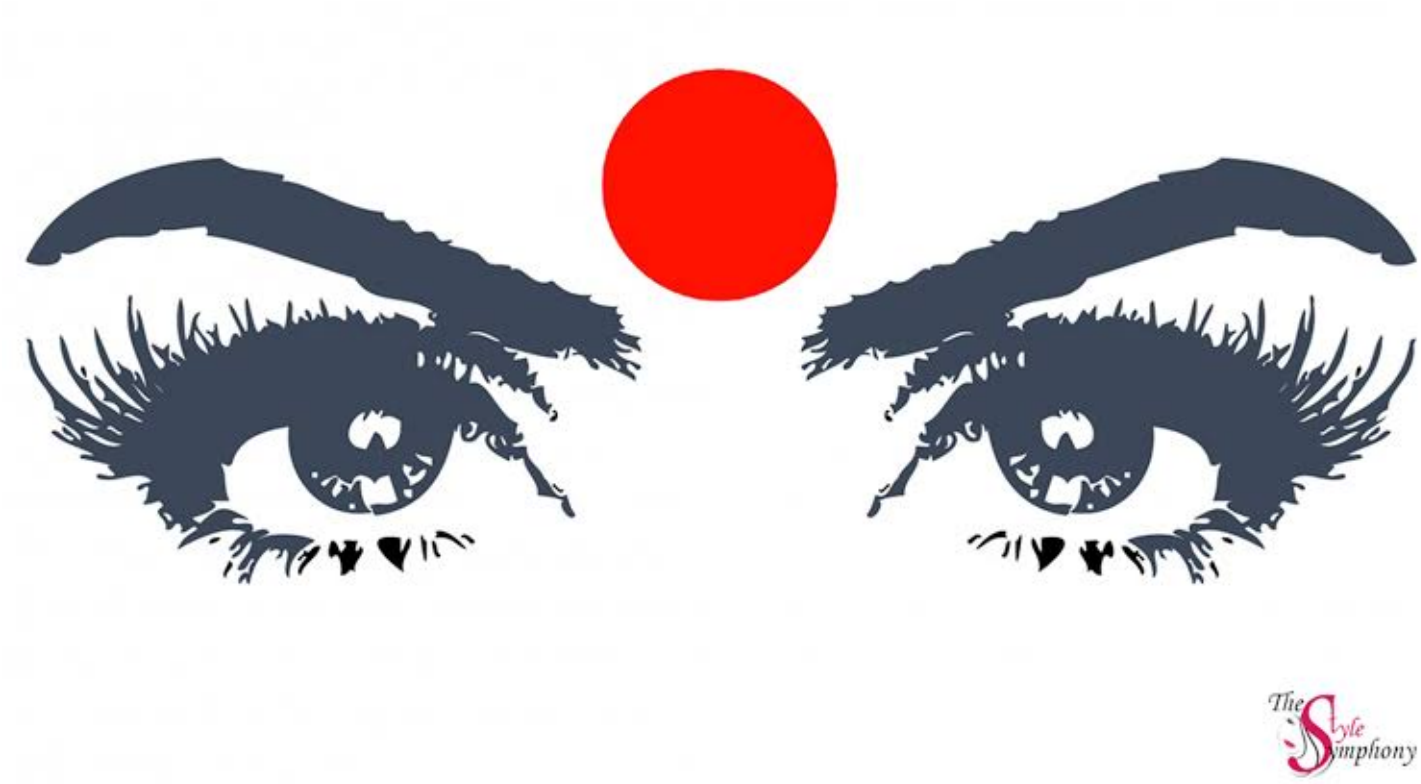

Sonia.Gurnani
@SoniaGurnani19

#binditwitter
#blackandwhite
■■■■■,bindú coloured■worn on the center of the forehead originally by Hindus frm the Indian subcontinent.Rigveda says it is considered the point at which creation begins& may become unity -"the sacred symbol of the cosmos in its unmanifested state"

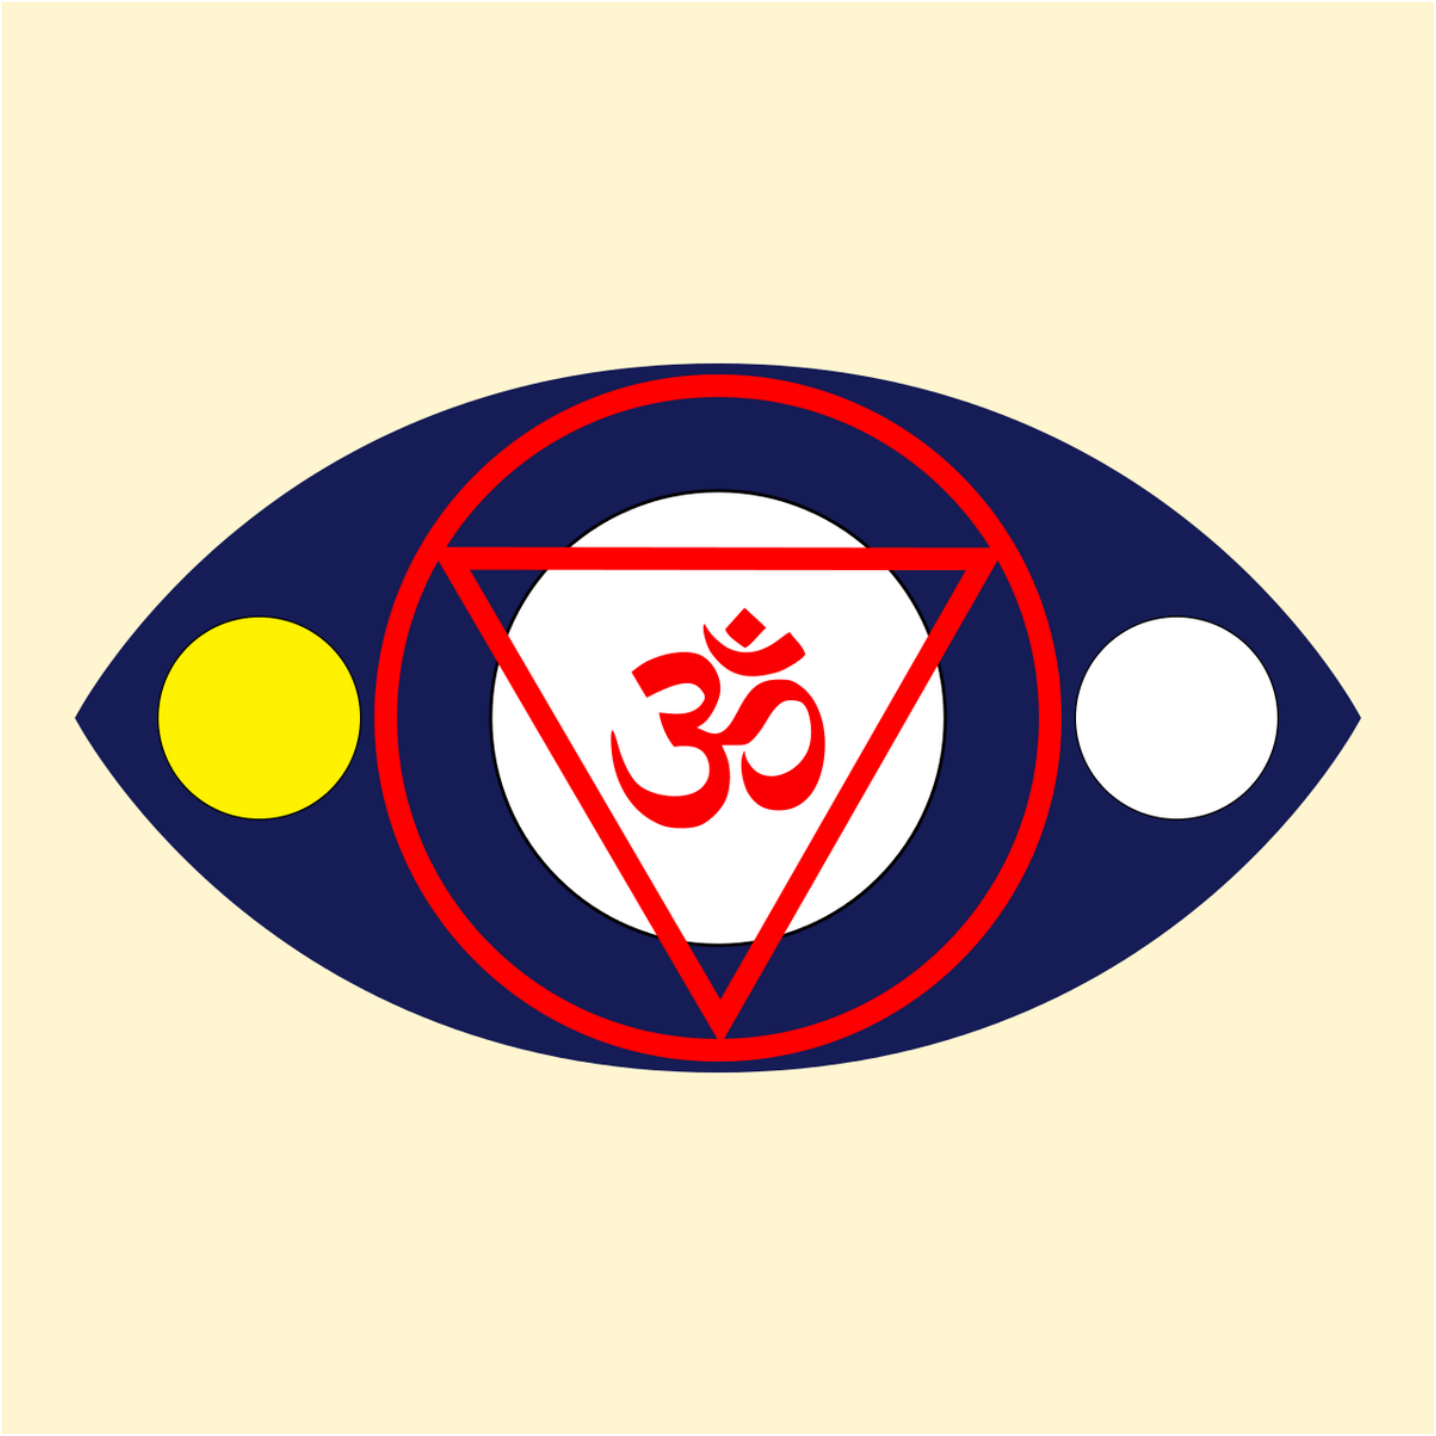

Traditionally the area between the eyebrows (where■ is placed) is said to be the sixth chakra,ajna,the seat of "concealed wisdom".The bindi is said to retain energy and strengthen concentration.The bindi also represents the third eye & can be used to ward off bad luck.#Hinduism

One interpretation is a cosmetic mark used to enhance beauty.
In Hinduism the color red represents honor,love &prosperity, hence it was worn to symbolise these aspects. In meditation the point between the eyebrows(Bhrumadhya)where one focuses his/her sight, to help concentration.

Bindi Art & Business is empowering many artisans thru making,packing& in parlours frm smaller towns to International walks. Bindi is now well recognized globally in form ofJewel Art too. It has become a recent Western World fad.Globalization is too fast #atmanirbhar
#empowerment

