

Twitter Thread by ■■■■■■■■

■■■■■■■■

@Hindu Eternity

Do you know the relationship between "Haygreev and Music Day"?

In the beginning of creation "Shri Hari" asked "Brahma jj" to create a small creature, and they named it warmi (■■■■■■), worm is derived from warmi only.

One day Warmi reached Ksheersagar cut the Strings of "Sarang"

-the mighty Bow of Shri Hari Vishnu.

This Breakage caused division of Hari's head and body into two parts and later with help of yogmaya and Brahma ji he got a new body of Haygreev.

Mahakavi Bhritrimenth's epic Saga "Haygreev Vadh" writes great details about the connection with music.

He says cutting the strings of bow is as same as cutting the strings of a Veena or Sitar.

It doesn't kill the body but kills the dreams of the Sadhak, that's why all Sadhak practicing Music are always worried about about "Breakage of the Strings".

Mahakavi Kalhan mentions Same in his creation "Rajtarangini".

But unfortunately all these epic Sagas got replaced with cheap music and books these days.

May your strings never break, wish you all "Happy Music day".

Due credit: Rohit