Thread : The idea of sainthood and saints changes in practice as we move from east to the west, the occident often perceive them in lines of their own monks: rabid, rigid, cult-like with blurred understanding on celibacy, and most importantly 'sense-control'.

2. A Flawed interpretation helps imposters fill the gaps and fit the role with persuasion, NLP and strong understanding of people psychology.

3. The Occident is very practical in understanding with defining sainthood, where one dressed as an ascetic, a vagabond who abandons all riches and relationships while wandering faraway lands to dispense his wisdom is the image cultivated around.

4. But there's a fine line of difference that separates the authentic one and the implied one.

The authentic one imparts wisdom to build their respective lives through spirituality while the implied one tests others psychology to make them loose themselves in his talks.

5. The former helps people from wandering away from their duties they play in their respective lives within society by imparting wisdom.

The latter persuade people to wander away from their roles and responsibilities and follow his lead as way of service to God.

6. The society benefits from the former while the latter disrupts society and brings it to complete standstill.

This helps build cult personality and a following that would hijack the system/ administration that looks after order under its hostage.

7. Because this implied one says,

'Thats God's will' ‘Fulfill God's will'.

'Thats YOUR God's will' ‘Fulfill YOUR God's will'.

Such NLP statements where ones own objectives are commanded in third person builds strong psychological impact to deliver whats intended.

8. Correspondingly along these lines of understanding, many imposters, many neo-saints, neo-gurus are mentored.

9. Why, Perversion is encouraged as a form for mastering celibacy and the pretense over mastering ‘sense-control' is often projected even while enjoying all comforts addressed by followers in abundance by means of their service.

10. NLP works greatly upon masses because they destine themselves as some choosen people of God as per the words of implied saint and to serve this God well is to follow his lead unilaterally.

11. NLP strengthen upon masses as they slowly disassociate their relationships with eachother mentally while trying to build a much better association with this implied saint.

12. So even news of few cases of sex assault breaks within their following, their people try to bury the matter within themselves. They are not victim centric and want to know what's going wrong only though this implied saints understanding.

13. In worse cases, the NLP is so strong the victim is also not aware if he/ she is wronged / violated.

14. And there's passively a psychological pressure built on them to perceive the incident as ‘part of Gods work' , as ‘Gods love and blessings' and/or ‘Gods greater plan for you' to numb their emotions.

15. See all are NLP statements. They induce a perceived reality against an actual ground reality.

16. Such implied saints and their psychological manipulation tactics, altering facts and fabricating material evidence to prove their point become strategic asset for trafficking groups for purpose of slave trade, pleasure or war.

17. Ultimately people who already lost individual will for their 'blessings' to prove being a believer, are sheep for this shepherd, leading them all to the slaughter house.

18. Unfortunately as the Orient loses the understanding of its own scriptures it falls for this deception itself and goes with flow just because they are globally revered as their own.

19. Many, many cases like these. Yet all escape with mere apology or bending the knee as a symbolic move / sign of fault acceptance.

With this very move, ppl are humbled and its celebrated as victory of good without deep dive to understand the magnitude of damage..

20. Thats power of NLP

People deeply underestimate the role of religion in society, state and geopolitics.

It is far far sophisticated weapon thats centered on application of NLP, the know weakening individual psychology, manipulation.

NLP is backbone of religious doctrine.
