Twitter Thread by SaaS Capo

SaaS Capo
@SaaSCapo

Side Effect of High Testosterone:

Being more scared of failing your Mission, than Death.

You would rather Die and Complete The Mission

than Live and Fail The Mission

@corporatemach

Human Males evolved to do whatever it takes, up to and including sacrificing their own lives, for the sake of completing their Mission.

A seemingly ludicrous focus and commitment to completing the task at hand perplexes many people, especially Women.

The reason Human Males evolved to be this way is simple; it made them effective Hunters

Males who were incompetent Hunters were eliminated from the gene pool

Whether they starved to death, or Women considered them unattractive (thereby preventing them from reproducing), or because their children starved to death (due to a lack of meat to eat).