Twitter Thread by Lisa Mackenzie

Lisa Mackenzie
@lnmackenzie1

@Obsolesence Couldn't be clearer: vulnerable women have been used as a test bed for self-ID policies and it was entirely deliberate.

> In the book Trans Britain (published 2018), James Morton of Scottish Trans Alliance wrote that the decision to work "intensively" with SPS was a strategic one so that in time they would be able to ensure that all other public services would also adopt policies based on self-ID. pic.twitter.com/tzwEbiJ51L
>
> — Lisa Mackenzie (@lnmackenzie1) December 27, 2021

@LucyHunterB @Obsolesence And now that the full glare of sunlight is shining down on the policy, its advocates are nowhere to be seen.