Y'all do realize at this point that Pizzagate is basically a real thing, right? Most of the people in charge of Washington DC are pedophiles and it's not even doubtful.

If you are new to the Internet and managed to avoid it the first time around, the "conspiracy theory" centered around the successful Washington DC restaurant Comet Pizza. The place had a weird menu and tons of pedophile imagery, theory is place was a front for child sex traffic.

Bit of background for conspiracy theories. The term itself was invented by the CIA as a way to dismiss people seeing patterns. My own view is that you also see what I term "protective conspiracy theories", wacky stuff gets boosted to discredit suspicions. https://t.co/8Gcj86djx2

> I'm noticing more and more protective conspiracy theories cropping up. These are conspiracy theories that appear and get boosted to protect real secrets and conspiracies, cloaking the weird in the ridiculous. I'll go back to an OG for my example, the Moon Landings. pic.twitter.com/8o3JzSadQG

Another related FBI strategy is to unleash a crisis actor hopped up about something true but who's obviously unhinged, to discredit the theory. A literal actor shot up Comet Pizza, and a certain judge handled his case. Wonder if she got rewarded for that? https://t.co/WJFgtlxFyc

If there's a large pedophile problem I'd actually expect a lot of "conservative" crisis actors to yell about it. It both normalizes the conversation about pedophiles but also tars the whole subject with the "crazy conspiracy theory" brush.

After the shooting, media strictly shut down any talk about Comet Pizza. After all, don't want to inspire another crazy, right? I'm willing to bet the trafficking fronts have been moved to at this point anyway. https://t.co/XlRTbxB9Cp

The depressing thing about the whole op is that it was very successful. The shit used to be hush hush, but Epstein, the Hunter laptop images, hell the president's own behavior are all out there and yet nothing happens.

The fruits of the gay marriage decision are still coming a cropper. Places like Ukraine have literal baby farms, where women give birth to children to send them off to the most pedophilic demographics possible. It's an industrial horror.

There's a lot of reasons why the current ructions shouldn't lead to World War 3, nobody in charge actually wants to get nuked. On the other hand, there's only one just outcome to the United States of America in 2022.

This wicked country is being spared right now because of the righteous remnant. Stay out of the cities. And if angels show up to get you, don't you dare look back.
