1/ Opstra by @Definedge:

- Best Strategy Builder
- Options Portfolio feature to track and analyze trades

I use this extensively whether it is to check the returns of a strategy or its breakevens.

Go to tool for traders, number 1 on my list.

2/ Icharts by @iChartsIndia

- Historical options Data
- Decipher Open Interest
- Monitor Straddle/Strangle Premiums

Best value for money tool.

I use Icharts for Open Interest and Change in OI mainly.

Most people use it for backtesting options data.

3/ @tradingview

Easily the best charting platform.

Haven't opened a single broker's chart since then.

Multiple hacks to get its premium features for free in the thread below.

Let's dive in ↓

4/ @ZerodhaVarsity

Collection of stock market and financial lessons.

The value is worth more than 50k minimum.

Can increase knowledge on just about everything in trading including:

- Technical Analysis
- Fundamentals
- Options Strategies
- Futures

5/ Chartink by @ChartinkConnect

Best screener website.

Free scanners are available to use during live markets.

Can also check charts with different indicators.

6/ @Investingcom

This is what traders use to determine and check upcoming events in the global markets or about particular stocks.

It was once the number 1 most used website for traders, but its popularity has slowly decreased.

Still pretty useful.

7/ @BeSensibull

Allows you to log in from your broking account into sensibull.

Then can check your position's payoff for free.

The biggest competitor for opstra but Sensibull is number #2 for me in that race.

8/ @quantsapp

Tracks data like:

- Futures Built-up
- Option chain
- Overall market breadth
- Options data
