I'm not kidding when I say the blue pill is preferable to the black pill.

Both aren't going to do anything when the time comes for it, but the blue pillers have a lot more fun and make a lot more great memories in the present.

Either convince yourself we can win or convince yourself to go back to normie world.

Honestly. It will be better for you.

The blue pillers are going out, finding spouses, having kids, working but not too hard.

That is of course not going to last, but when it comes down to it, that's a better life than not living it because you're convinced the end is near and defeat is inevitable.

Those that can avoid the blackpill will be few but they'll be the ones to carry the blue pillers through the times.

The black pillers will just kill themselves.
