Twitter Thread by Jeremy - The Profit Legend

This is part 1 of the greatest LinkedIn Thread ever written

I made $22K in my agency's first month - 100% from LinkedIn

If you're already making $22K/mo congrats - let's make it $50K/month

Retweet & I'll send you my next guide (Only sending it to retweeters)

Let's dig in:

What we'll cover:

Why to use LinkedIn

Industries

Content

Events

Newsletter

Ads

Automation

Connection notes

Follow ups

Scaling

Acceptance / reply rates to aim for

Profile optimization

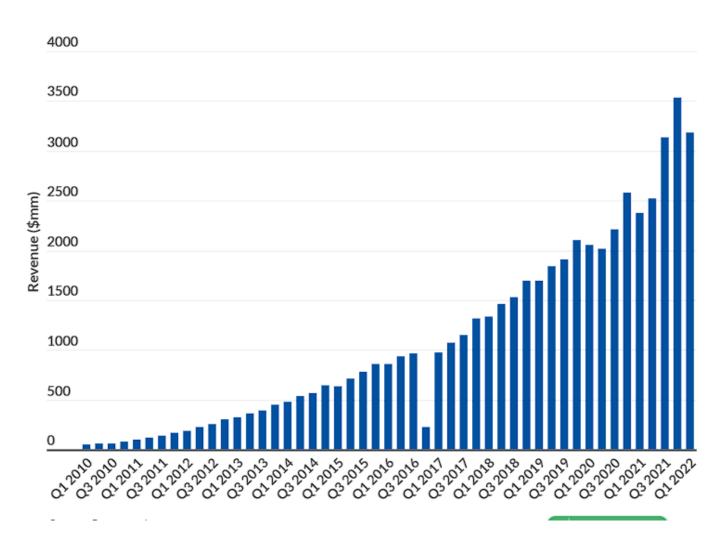

& more

Read on:

Why use LinkedIn?

1. LinkedIn is the 2nd largest social network with 830 million members

- 2. LinkedIn is where the wealthy and elite interact
- 3. LinkedIn is growing rapidly
- 4. The only acceptable social media site to use at work
- 5. 65 million decision makers are on LI

Why use it pt 2

Doing outreach GROWS your prospect list

You're building an asset as you send more connection requests

As opposed to cold email where sending more emails shrinks your prospect list as people unsubscribe or report spam

Moving on

"Will LinkedIn work for me selling ___ in ___industry?"

Yes.

The best industries though are:

IT / Tech

Healthcare

Construction

Education

Finance

Software

Automotive

Insurance

Marketing

Government

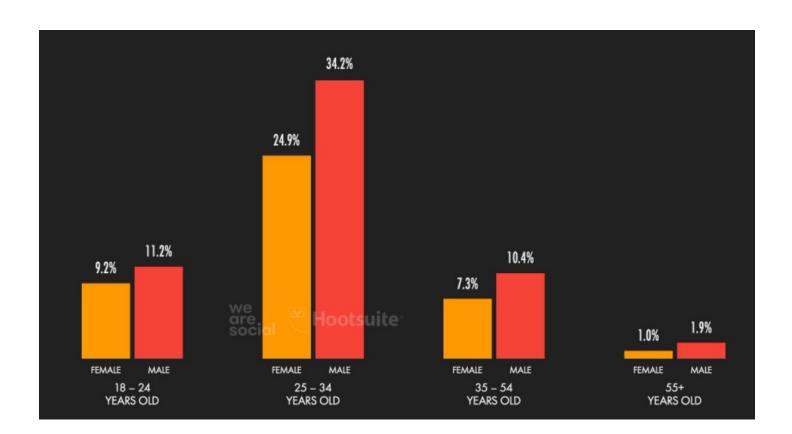

HR

Hospitality

Each of these industries has more than 5 million LinkedIn users

Myth: LinkedIn is for old people like FB

Nope.

How to win with LinkedIn Content:

Images get 2X better engagement. (not always true, test it)

1200 x 627 pixels is rec'd image size

Live video on linkedin gets 7x more reactions, 24x more comments than regular vids

Use 2-3 hashtags (make sure they have decent usage) per post

How to win with linkedin content pt 2:
Post 5 times per week M-F
Industry trends - "the future of"
How to/instructional posts thought leadership
Business memes
Never hard sell with content - it should always be value that drives people to lead magnets or builds credibility
How to win with LinkedIn content pt 3:
Newsletters are kinda killer right now
I know several people who just repurpose blogs & email content
Then they post as LinkedIn newsletter & getting thousands of subscribers
You don't own the list tho so I'd still try and grow your own
Winning with LinkedIn content pt 4:
There is no universal best time to post
Use shield analytics to find the best times for you
Shield lets you sort your content by views, shares, etc.
Shows you what days/times get most engagement, which media type gets best engagement, etc
How to win with LinkedIn content pt 5:
Taplio.
Cuts down content time requirements by ~5x
Cuts down content time requirements by ~5x I can use it to find top performing posts to riff off of /rewrite

Search for viral posts on any topic Optimizing your profile page: Literally put James Watson into YT and find his profile optimization masterclass The main thing though is a nice high-contrast background pic, close enough to see the whites of your eyes A headline saying the benefit you provide & who it's for Bad headline: I help spas get more appointments - lead gen specialist Better headline: Beauty Spa Appointment Setter - Get 3-5 apppintments for your spa/ week Bad headline: Investor / father / advisor / etc Good headline: SaaS Angel Investor: DM me if your SaaS needs funding Optimizing your company page: Make sure you add keywords prospects would use into your company profile info & in your "specialties" You can look at semrush, hashtags, Google trends, or search autocompletes to see which keywords get searched most Also get employees to share The next three parts of this thread will be released over the next couple weeks. I'll be answering questions about this thread with James AKA LinkedIn King in our free FB group as well which you can apply to join at swiy[dot]co/Facebook Anyways guys, if you got value from this, PLEASE retweet the original tweet to help your friends & join my email list (join button on my profile) Also I wrote the #1 linkedin course on Gumroad that comes with a free consultation with me, so check that out (also on my profile) Hey! If you got value from this, subscribe here to get exclusive content like my best marketing messages: https://t.co/QNGzrHCSJ9

Part 2 of this thread is now live - retweeters of part 2 will get a separate bonus as well https://t.co/CCvCGI1Vdf
