Twitter Thread by Kuda Musasiwa

Kuda Musasiwa
@begottensun

1/ Met with one of my Mentors today. Millionaire exporter of fruits and flowers. He told me to stay off social media because of its unrealistic speed and immediate expectations. He explained that Greece took 8yrs to get out of a similar situation to Zimbabwe.

2/ He explained that on the ground people complain due to ignorance and feeding the selfish agendas of those that benefit from the "Zimbabwe is shit" mantra, but in their industry, they exporting millions weekly in Flowers, macadamia nuts, bananas and avocados. Expecting to grow

3/ Expecting to grow from $10mill USD a month to $100Million in 4 yrs and already growing much better since the Not Coup in 2017. He basically said, stop complaining and start grafting. Work with the end in sight, and take advantage of the many new opportunities.

4/ He explained that Zimbabwe only grows wheat because of UDI in the 60s and its NOT an ideal crop in Zimbabwe, rather buy from Canada. Flowers, nuts and fruit are. He told me that if anyone manages to fill 1% the potential Zim produced in 2000, they would be richer than Strive.

5/ I was warned not to try live up to the Zimbos expectations of instant results but to happily grow slowly. Selling 2 cabbages a day after a day of selling 1 is a 100% growth. Be steady, be consistent. Plan with the end in mind.Hanzi smart people don't care who's in Gov.