THREAD: Original Trusts

1. Just for a moment, ponder:

- Does anyone own humanity?
- Does anyone 'think' they own humanity?
- Can a corporation own you, or just control you?
- What are ancient Trusts and who owned them?
- Do ancient Trusts still hold any authority in society?

2. Trusts and Corporations have woven a form of control around the earth and we are just now realizing their influence on society.

Let's explore how this may have occurred.

The earliest Trusts were not legal entities as they are today; they were powerful 'statements of claim'.

3. They were known as Express Trusts.

These Trust required very little formality and could even be enacted orally, as proclamations.

They were most-commonly used for property transfers.

4. The first Express Trust was Unam Sanctam decreed in 1302.

With some egotistical distortions of biblical writing, this Trust effectively made Pope Boniface King of the World, believing that "every human creature" was now subject to the authority of the Pope (Item #9).

5. In celebration, he commissioned a gold-plated head-dress in the shape of a pine cone, with an elaborate crown at its base.

Note carefully, that it was the “growing body of canon law” (judges) that began to give the Pope his authority; both temporal (worldly) and spiritual.

6. Notice however, that this was all done under the authority and interpretation of the courts of man.

The Unam Sanctam Express Trust was carefully incorporated into this emerging body of canon law, as decreed by the judges of the day.

Unam Sanctam declared legal jurisdiction!

7. The pine cone symbolized fertility and was traditionally associated with Ba'al.

It also represents the pineal gland which was believed to allow access to Source or God.

It originally stood near the temple of ISIS and eventually made its way to the Vatican in 1608.

8. Under this Holding Trust were 3 Testamentary Trusts:

i) Romanus Pontifex (1455). This Papal Bull (public decree) conveyed the right-of-use of all land in Unam Sanctam (all the earth) as Real Property.

These rights and Crown Land were given to the Pope's authority, forever.

ii) Aeterni Regis (1481) This means "eternal crown".

This is the realm of the Commonwealth and where birth certificates create a corporate version of people, allowing them to interact with corporations and trade legally.

This is the legal person.

iii) Convocation (1537). It was set up to claim all the “lost souls”, which were lost to the See.

Baptismal certificates were held in the church archives to record the ‘issued title’ over each soul.

11. While the current expression of all this is speculative, it is becoming more-apparent that there is an invisible authority that believes it has 'rule' over the earth.

Forgetting global lockdowns and vaccines for a moment, let's explore the earliest use of this authority.

12. Columbus' return to Europe in 1494 saw the signing of the Treaty of Tordesillas dividing the Americas between Portugal and Spain.

All authority for these decrees was given by Pope Alexander VI.■

13. Pope Alexander issued more Papal decrees giving more new ownership.

More treaties created more new jurisdictions of ownership throughout the earth.

World leaders consistently petitioned the authority of the Pope for these jurisdictions of authority.

14. Unam Sanctam created a powerful idea, from which every law and territory on earth would exist.

Given this decree was used to subdivide and apportion ownership of the nations; could it still be a valid authority today?

Has its legal authority ever been challenged?

15. Did "elite" authorities use these 'created' bodies of canon law to craft tremendous spells over the minds of citizens, which would be further energized by their belief and ultimate acceptance?

16. Could these ancient spells now operate like a mind virus, forcing people into submission to their rule?

Could people's ongoing permission and agreement with these ancient 'ideas' effectively be passive submission to its rule?

Who are we, really?

17. Rather than just being good ideas to manage people on the earth, they now act more like curses that sit upon humanity, expressed as powerful systems of control and debt enslavement.

Could an ancient 'idea' become a living, controlling force, exerting its will upon humanity?

18. In the US, we are seeing that this ancient 'idea' may even controls their various court systems, as it now fails to recognize the Constitution and the clear will of the people in relation to the 2020 national election.

Is justice an illusion?

19. Unam Sanctam was one of the earliest corporations.

Humanity now finds itself under the spell of numerous corporations, which control the global economy and the world media, while also exerting powerful influence into all facets of society, including government policy.

20. Are these companies the more-glamorous face of an ancient system of rule?

Strong leadership is fine, but it must have the permission of the people and reflect the will of the people.

As we become more aware, it is time to revisit several awkward questions (from post #1).

21. No 'manufactured' legal authority can exist over people in perpetuity, without ever being exposed or challenged.

No corporation can rule over a human being, without their permission.

Please join me in proclaiming the annulment of Unam Sanctam.
