I am only trying to speak the plain & simple truth that humanity as a whole recognizes & needs. For all my fellow human souls (Atman) I've not yet followed back. I'm slowly working on it. I see you & respect your stance for humanity & Dharma & you have my gratitude & love.■■❤■

For Christians/Muslims following me who don't strongly speak out against the bigotry/hate your religions propagate in our shared world, don't be offended when I block you for following me to spread your hatred for our ancient & most spiritually evolved polytheistic/pagan cultures

For the rest, be you Hindu, Native American, or any of the surviving polytheistic/pagan cultures Islam & Christianity has not yet erased & destroyed from our shared & beautiful world, I see you. My heart weeps for what is left of your culture and I love each & every one of you.

For all in our world of polytheistic/pagan faith, stand strong, the battle for Dharma in our world in this modern digital age has only just begun. If you've been silent so far, please join in & speak out, wherever in the world you find your home. Your voices are needed.

India, being the largest and one of the most ancient and continuous pagan/polytheistic civilizations on our entire planet is the focus of this continued Christian & Islamic battle against polytheism/paganism that has plagued our world for so long and killed hundreds of millions.

To all pagans/polytheists of the world, support India lest their ancient culture fall prey to the same bigoted/hateful Abrahamic religions of Islam or Christianity that destroyed your cultures. They haven't changed. All pagans/polytheists of the world must absolutely stand united Stand united for humanity as a whole. I love you all and I pray we find our way through this deeply Adharmic phase of humanity & we recognize all for the divine human beings we all are. We truly are the same, no matter how much man made religions & politics try to divide us.

Know that I see the divine in all, regardless of your religion. I see your true Self, even those who hate me for speaking truth against religions like Islam & Christianity who push hatred in our world against those like me & billions of others

Om shanti, shanti, shanti ■■■■
