Twitter Thread by unseen1

unseen1
@unseen1_unseen

Listening to the talking heads trying to explain the Kanye Oval Office meeting tells everyone listening that they don't understand anything. It's very embarrassing for them to show how out of touch and dense they are in their bubble. To be clear, I'm talking about both sides here

They are acting like Kanye was speaking a foreign language and they have to interrupt it for us. It was very clear what he said and the points he was making. So either these people are clueless or they are intentionally trying to confuse people. Take your pick.

interpret not interrupt curse you autocorrect you got me again.