

Twitter Thread by Logic

1) I admit it. I'm completely obsessed with the NPC meme.

The reason why is because I think it's won us the Meme Wars. It's over, folks.

There is no way back from the NPC meme, because it's perfection.

#NPC #NPCmeme #NPCLivesMatter #Qanon

2) What makes it so successful that Twitter banned accounts, and is magical at destabilizing the left?

Because it destroys the power of social affirmation via group think. A person who once repeated talking points in unison, is now this guy, insert the caption:

#NPC #NPCmeme

3) When a leftist sees that image they get triggered because its true.

The left's contrived world view is in danger. The power of group think is dying, the MSM is losing it's power. Look at the memes scattered in this thread, and recognize the power and truth in it.

4) NPC identifies leftist activists as "non-playable" or soulless, programmed.

NPC stands for "non-playable character" and describes a character in a video game controlled by the computer and the programming to contribute to the game's plot.

5) What a bunch of trolls did to piss off twitter is create a bunch of accounts to pose as leftist activists and chirp meaningless mantra talking points.

It's hilarious. And Twitter understood it.

“Real testimony of an actual NPC Simulator user

"Thanks to the NPC Simulator, I no longer need to go to /politics or /redacted to be programmatically told off by a scripted encounter!"

7) It resembles countless tweets you have seen. And what is bizarre is this derived jargon is fits right in without a hitch.

A group of people are telling you what to think, how to behave, and what is newsworthy.

The rest follow like sheep.

8) To an NPC leftist, everything is laid out for them. Fashion, music, what to watch on TV, what's funny, what's offensive, what identities are protected at the moment, how many genders there are.

Pure dogma.

10) Normal human behavior demands bias and pattern recognition.

To be an NPC you have to be brainwashed and not notice what seems so obvious to those redpilled.

Open borders is a classic example. The strange alignment with Islam.

11) You have a large mass of people walking around living in a world of complete oblivion. Literally believing Russia colluded with Trump. Literally STILL believing it.

It's almost inconceivable these people can't snap out of it, but here we are.

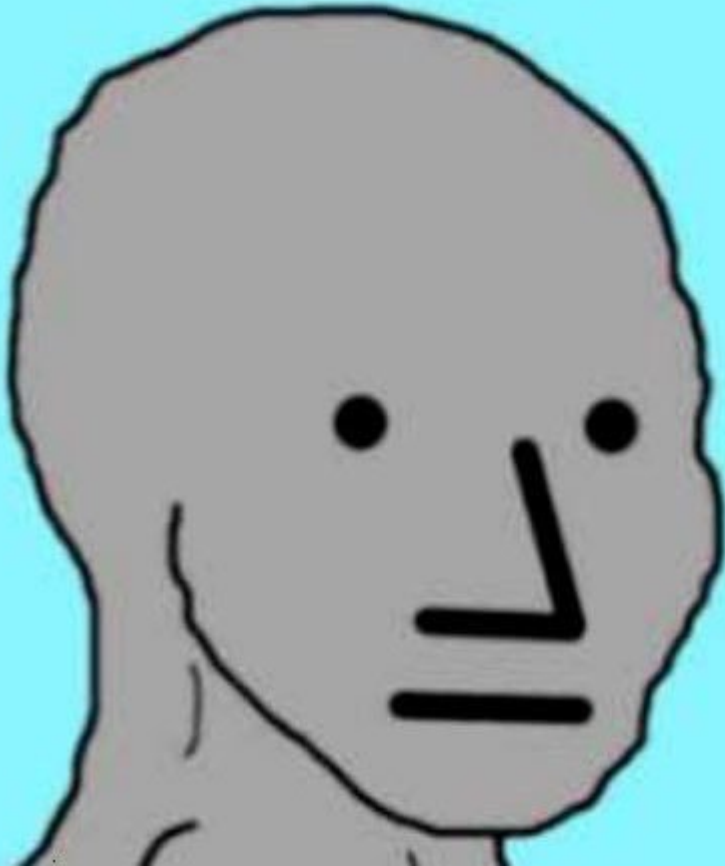

#NPC #NPCmeme #Qanon

12) NPC is a humiliating way to expose the left's cognitive dissonance. In the midst of a herd is safety in numbers, and you don't need to try on beliefs and gain life experience, you know, actually develop some wisdom.

```
10 PRINT "HEY HEY"
20 PRINT "HO HO"
30 PRINT "%SUBJECT% HAS GOT TO GO"
40 GOTO 10

13) This is why the aspect of "being programmed" rings so true. It seems like no amount of evidence can reach the zombie inside.

The reason few dare to exit the mono-culture and question reality is because they are shunned and you guessed it, the buzz words: racist, sexist, etc.

14) The left is indeed an Orwellian world to be within.

An average person with right-think is has little need to go explore the world in this cocoon, and so is easy manipulated and controlled.

15) Ask yourself how this system came to be, who benefits by it, and who controls it.

It's not hard to fleece America when all it's citizens are on auto-pilot.
