[thread] I would be able to move on from brexit if.....

We had been told the UK holds some cards and not all of them

That it would be a difficult deal and not the easiest deal in history

That we would have liabilities to pay and these would be a substantial amount and that they are not zero and they do not buy us a trade deal

That we do not have "many solutions" to the NI border and that at the last having exhausted drones, blimps, random country examples that don't solve it and oh yes unspecified technology instead a border in the Irish Sea that no unionist can support is the answer

That far from cutting red tape this will introduce more red tape

That services will not gain access to the EU single market and they will be overlooked

That fish will be used to barter away for a deal

That we need them more than they need us

That when you say you have a plan that you can actually present evidence of its existence

That you don't cheat

That you don't lie

That you don't peddle simplist fantasy

That you don't use EU citizens as bargaining chips

That you don't say that from September 2016 we will negotiate new free trade deals with countries to be ready to sign in <2 years

That you don't lie about a dividend about a number that in itself is a lie

That you admit there will be economic damage but that you will try to take steps to minimise it

That rather than say there is no risk to sterling you admit the pound needs a correction anyway (to explain away Sterling moves after 23/6)

That you don't peddle racism, xenophobia and islamophobia fostering an atmosphere of hatred and fear that culminated in the murder of an MP

That you respect electoral law rather than sending emails scheming how to circumvent it

That you don't call the EU the 4th reich or EUSSR or any other fucked up conspiracy bullshit e.g. Kalergi conspiracy

That you don't threaten to starve the Irish, invade Spain, invade France

That you don't use EU citizens as bargaining chips

That you are able to rebut experts rather than insult and demonise experts with ad hominem insults

That you didn't invent the ridiculous brexit means brexit slogan to roll on a con

That you didn't invent the dangerous no deal is better than a bad deal without quantifying what a bad deal is or a no deal is

That you don't lie to the Queen to unlawfully prorogue Parliament

That you don't vote to break the law

That you don't call the french turds, employ nazi jibes or any other numbers of insulting words used to feed an atmosphere of hatred towards neighbours

Quite simply

I want you to be able to hold your held up high as you win

As Margaret Thatcher puts it

"The manner of winning is a matter of honour."

And at the last

You have nothing except empty hollow platitudes of "sea of opportunity", "seize the opportunity" , "move on" , "our friends and neighbours"

That really is lowering the barrel even further
