Here in Waterbury for Alex Jones/Sandy Hook trial—Jones is outside the courthouse holding forth for the cameras. He's apparently reluctant to come inside, where there are three rows of Sandy Hook families in the gallery waiting to hold him to account.

It's as yet unclear whether Jones will testify today. Right now the Infowars corporate rep, Brittany Paz, is again on the stand. During her testimony last week lawyers for the families established that Infowars' traffic/sales surged when he spread Sandy Hook lies.

I spared you the rest of Brittany Paz testimony but you can find it on the livestream <https://t.co/HMglb16umh> Now we are on to counterterrorism expert Clint Watts. Lawyer for the families, Josh Koskoff, establishing his creds, which are here: <https://t.co/HO69j6v198>
