

Twitter Thread by Glamour

Glamour

@glamourmag

Introducing Glamour's May cover star, Jane Fonda ■

In 1959, #JaneFonda was a young model who booked the cover of Glamour magazine. Six decades later, she's a cultural icon whose tireless work as an activist has given her a renewed sense of purpose. <https://t.co/8UnnjinUBtX>

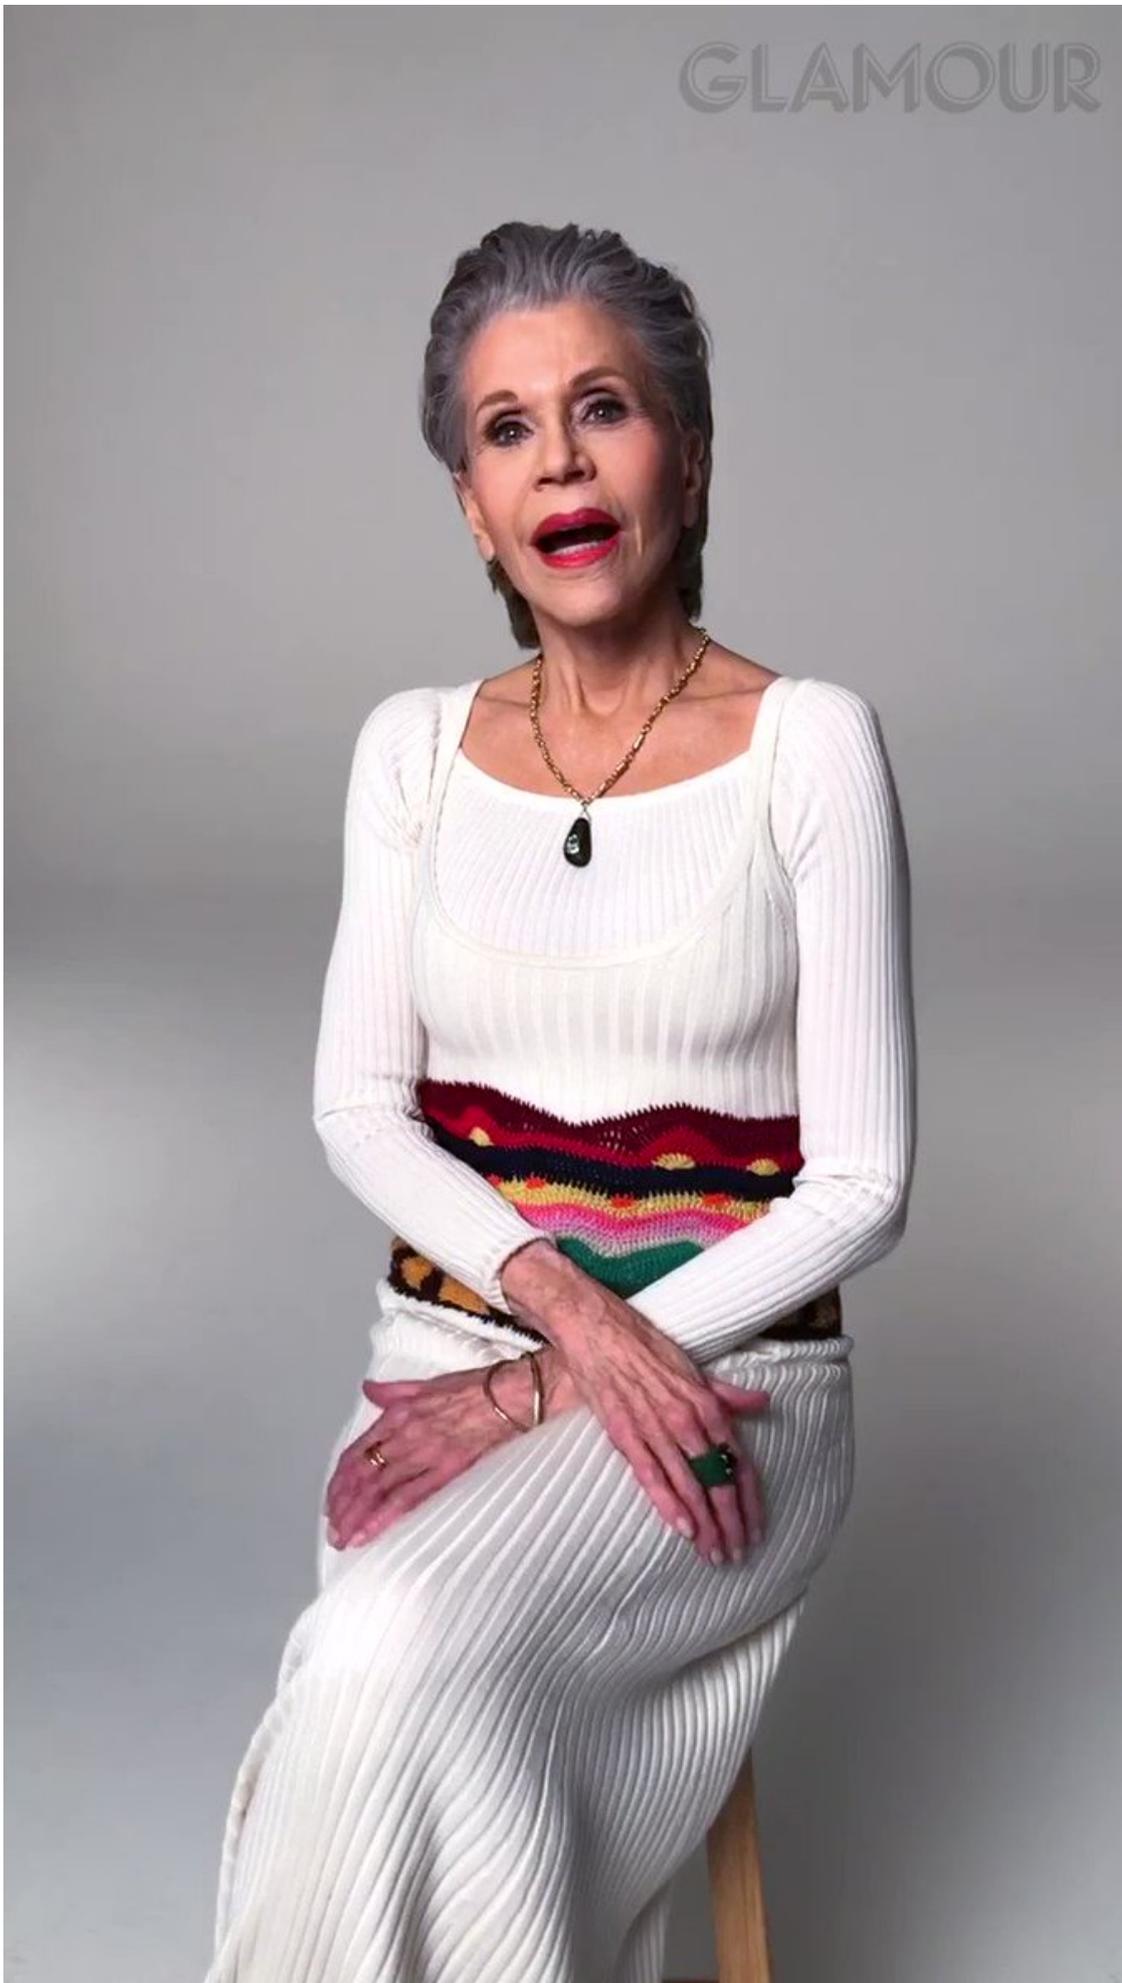

In conversation with fellow activist #YaraShahidi, #JaneFonda discusses her show #GraceAndFrankie and how it's broken barriers for the way we view aging in Hollywood, the importance of self-prioritization, and the Jane Fonda Climate PAC.
<https://t.co/8UnnjinUBtX>

GLAMOUR

Go behind the scenes with #JaneFonda for our May cover photoshoot. ■ <https://t.co/8UnnjnUBtX>

GLAMOUR

When actress #JaneFonda was about to turn 60, she realized she was approaching her “third and final act—and that it wasn't a dress rehearsal.” For Glamour's May cover, she discussed the things she's learned about herself during her 62-year-long career. <https://t.co/8UnnjinUBtX>

“

If somebody had told me that, at almost 85 years old, I'd still be working as much as I am and feeling as good as I do, I wouldn't have believed them.

GLAMOUR

#JaneFonda's impact goes beyond the big screen. The iconic actress has managed to create a powerful legacy tied to her initiatives addressing the #climatecrisis. She opens up about her hopes for the future and the newly launched Jane Fonda Climate PAC. <https://t.co/8UnnjnUBtX>

“ If we’re going to really solve the climate crisis, we also have to think and run our societies differently.

GLAMOUR

If you could tell your younger self one thing, what would it be?

#JaneFonda shares the advice she'd give to her younger self, and you need to hear this. ■

<https://t.co/8UnnjnUBtX>

Six decades after appearing on the cover of Glamour, #JaneFonda returns in conversation with fellow actor and activist #YaraShahidi. <https://t.co/8UnnjnUBtX>