Twitter Thread by HMK alias MANOJ

#FreeTip

Don't just go by narrow cpr blindly to foresee a trending market. A wide range with open and close at the almost the same level will also have a narrow cpr. So a narrow cpr with a narrow prev day range is to be seen together.

If price hovers within cpr the whole day,...

. . .

it is most likely an indication of a trending day emerging in the near future.

Alternatively another way of foreseeing a possible trend day is to look for narrow Cam R3s3. Infact this does not require additional PDR confirmation .

All r probabilities; not certainties.