Just a taste of the absolute ignorance coming out of this failures mouth. He has had to withdraw from precious races because of his proven lack of ethics. A proven criminal, and here he is likely to lead America baring a miracle. Americans had best wake up.

For this to have happened in the US with the blessing of the Senate means the entire system has been compromised. McConnell has to say something because he knows Trump is on track to get a 2nd term. Otherwise he would have stayed silent and not risk the backlash he is going

To get with the base in Ga. He knows his antics are likely going to cost them the Senate. But at this point the establishment is all in to get rid of Trump. That is in spite of the fact Trump has done more for the party then everyone of the establishment Republicans combined.

He has increased the tent of the party and made significant inroads in breaking the Dems stranglehold on the blacks. His Latino support was greater the. Any Republican before him. He was on the way of accomplishing what no one ever thought possible, peace in the Mideast.

He brought record employment and growth to the US before they ushered in the virus scam, and even with that he beat them developing a vaccine in record time, and reestablishing the growth rate. Except the governors are hell bent on keeping their economies closed and Destroying small business. Think back to Bush and Gore. Did McConnell throw in the towel while legal cases were pending. Answer no. The difference is Bush was one of the swamp, he was no threat to McConnell and his gang of criminals. Trump on the other hand cost them money.

Not Americans money but cost the swamp money. Because everything that Biden has been proven to do with his son, the Republican establishment does every day of the week. Just do an audit of the swamps family members and the enrichment that goes on selling access.

Trump was the on politician that I can recall that tried to put a halt to that. McConnell and the gang have taken off their mask to show who they really are. Now it's up to the American people to wake up. You want freedom, you want the same America for your children and Grandchildren that you had? Then wake up. The government is not on your side my friends. To the contrary, they are on their own side. And if costs Americans jobs, their lives and their country so be it. DC has become a cancer that needs to be removed for America to Move on. Only then can Americans get back on track to getting their country back. It used to be that this could be done through the voting booth. But they have now shut that door down. But our founders knew this could happen and that is the only reason the 2nd amendment exists.

And it's the reason it's the 2nd Amendment. To show how concerned the founders were about what is occurring now could happen. Their has never been a President that has done more for the people then President Trump. He will be the last "American" president if he does

Not get a 2nd term. It's up to the American people now to make sure that he gets one. Not McConnell , not the press, not the chamber of commerce, but the American people . That is your right and your obligation to exercise that right. I see America falling my friends

And I do not like it one bit. I did not raise a family and work all my life to sit back and watch America being destroyed from within by a bunch of no good criminals that have sold this country out. And neither should you. #AmericaFirst #trump2020 @OANN @Ilinwood @TeamTrump
