1/ Mission Statements ■

I used to think mission statements were just corporate fluff

False words that companies created for HR reasons

I've slowly changed my mind about them

They are THE BEST stakeholder alignment & decision-making tool ever

EVER!

Need convincing? ■■■■■■■■■■

2/ What is a mission statement?

At its core, a mission statement should answer this question:

*****Why does the company exist?*****

A profound question that is easy to overlook!

3/ When used properly

Mission Statements should guide ALL of the actions of the organization

It's like a company's North Star

If an activity doesn't advance the mission,

it should be discarded!

If an activity does advance the mission,
it should be adopted!

4/ A Mission and a Vision statement are different

Mission: WHY the company exists

Vision: What the company/world looks like if the company is successful

Both important, but they are NOT interchangeable

5/ The reason I used to think mission statements didn't matter is because the vast majority of companies/CEOs

don't believe they matter!

Most companies SUCK at creating & communicating them!

Why should employees/shareholders care about a mission

if the company/CEO doesn't?

6/Let's get back to that key question

****Why does the company exist?****

What problem is the company trying to solve????

7/Great mission statements answer this question and have a few things in common

1■Simple - as few words as possible

2■Inspirational -- they motivate all stakeholders

3■Optionable -- they leave the "how" open-ended

4■Communicated often -- Managers restate the mission regularly

8/ It's not hard to find bad mission statements

I randomly choose Proctor & Gamble

I searched "Proctor & Gamble mission statement"

$PG doesn't have a mission statement, but rather a purpose

Here's what it says:

OUR PURPOSE

We will provide branded products and services of superior quality and value that improve the lives of the world's consumers, now and for generations to come. As a result, consumers will reward us with leadership sales, profit and value creation, allowing our people, our shareholders and the communities in which we live and work to prosper.

9/ How many of PG's thousands of employees do you think could recite this purpose word for word?

I bet it rounds to zero

Is it:

1■ Simple - no!

2■ Inspirational -- eh

3■ Optionable -- sort of

4■ Communicated often -- not from what I see

FAIL! FAIL! FAIL! FAIL!

10/ How could this be improved?

Here's my suggestion:

OUR ~~PURPOSE~~ Mission

To ~~We will provide branded products and services of superior quality and value that improve the lives of the world's consumers, now and for generations to come. As a result, consumers will reward us with leadership sales, profit and value creation, allowing our people, our shareholders and the communities in which we live and work to prosper.~~

11/

"To improve the lives of the world's consumers"

THAT would be a great mission

Imagine if $PG actually said/believed this and communicated it often.

I bet it would help to align ALL of $PG's key stakeholders

AND dramatically simplify decision making across the company

12/ Even if you loathe $TSLA & @elonmusk,

I bet you have heard the company's mission!

"to accelerate the world's transition to sustainable energy."

1■Simple - yes!

2■Inspirational -- yes!

3■Optionable -- yes!

4■Communicated often -- yes!

13/ $TSLA communicates this mission OFTEN

Which aligns ALL of $TSLA's key stakeholders

1■Customers

2■Employees

3■Investors

4■Managers

5■Suppliers

6■Society

behind its mission

14/ Remember when @elonmusk decided to OPEN SOURCE $TSLA's patents?

WHY WOULD ANY COMPANY DO THIS????

Answer:

Doing so

*accelerates the world's transition to sustainable energy*

15/ Anyone remembered when $TSLA's customers

VOLUNTEERED TO WORK FOR FREE

(FOR FREE)

to help the company?

Think about that!

Is it possible that they did so because they believe so deeply in the company's mission?

@elonmusk A lot of Tesla owners, including myself, would be DELIGHTED to volunteer, for free, to help with deliveries in times like this. We can't do their paperwork but we CAN do orientations. It's fun to educate new owners & see their joy & enthusiasm!

Wow, thanks for offering to help! The coming week is incredibly intense. If any current Tesla owners who'd like to help educate new owners could head to Tesla delivery centers during midday on Sat/Sun & morning/evening on weekdays, that would be super appreciated!

2.7K 665 people are Tweeting about this

16/ $TSLA is an outlier in a bazillion ways

So who else nails mission statements?

$ZNGA: "to connect the world through games"

$CRWD: "to protect our customers from breaches"

$AAXN: "to protect life"

A+ all around!

17/ @themotleyfool mission statement:

"to make the world smarter, happier, and richer."

Fool Live was launched in 2020 in response to COVID-19

@TomGardnerFool & @DavidGFool asked:

Will Fool Live "make the world smarter, happier, and richer?"

Yes, Yes, Yes

Do it!

18/ You may know my career mission statement

"to spread financial wellness"

My time is aligned around this mission

I spend A TON of time on Twitter, Fool Live, & Podcasts

Financially, this makes little sense

but, it's THE BEST way that I know

"to spread financial wellness"

19/ Coming up with a great mission statement is HARD

Like, REALLY hard

Took me a long time to settle on

"to spread financial wellness"

Lots of conversations with @TMFStoffel

(who is the person that turned me on to the power of mission statements the most)

20/ If you create a great mission statement for yourself

I bet you'll make different decisions

both in the short-term and long-term!

His #1 lesson from a recently failed startup?

"Start with the mission"

A+ from me!

Start with the mission\u2070.

It is very hard to write the mission after the fact. You should start with a clear reason to exist and filter early hires for believers.

22/ Mission Statements matter

If you are a CEO / entrepreneur

THINK HARD ABOUT YOUR COMPANY'S MISSION and communicate it often!

Don't overlook it, and be sincere

If your REAL mission is "to make myself rich"

I don't want to buy from you or work for you

23/ What's your mission?

I'd love to hear it!
