Twitter Thread by Philosopher Kin vs Big Brother

Philosopher Kin vs Big Brother
@rogerahicks

Britain, the UK, or whatever you call it, is an Orwellian construct, based on lies, deceit & a regime of rewards & intimidation. And so too is every so-called #NationState, including, & most importantly, the USA.

This is the truth. Either we face up to it, or we perish.

> #BritishIdentity is now based solely on #BritishValues, many of which I do not share.
>
> Most importantly, I do not share the British value that British nationhood is multi-racial. To deny the natural racial foundations of nationhood is, in my view, Orwellian.
>
> — Philosopher Kin vs Big Brother (@rogerahicks) December 24, 2020

Who do I mean by "we"?

I mean, our civilisation, which, because it is global, effectively embraces everyone on the planet. Many will survive, but many more will not, & many animal & plant species will be driven - are being driven - to extinction.

I'm not the only one who recognises the peril we're in, but I may be the only one who understands it well enough to offer advice on how to avoid our civilisation's self-destruction. My understanding is not perfect, but a lot better than that of people like #ElonMusk & #BillGates.

Reducing carbon emissions, to combat #ClimateChange, as important as it is, only addresses a SYMPTOM of the CANCER that is our grossly materialistic, mercenary, rapacious & DRIVEN global economy, which is inherently unsustainable on our finite, vulnerable & overpopulated planet.

ALL civilisations rise & fall. Ours is only exceptional in the size of its population, the heights to which it has risen, & the scale of devastation that will accompany its fall, which is fast approaching.

#ElonMusk & #BillGates, like so many others, are blinded by their own personal success.

Evolved human nature has a fatal tendency to admire "success" & POWER.

Alexander (the Great) has been admired throughout history, despite his role in the fall of Greek civilisation.

Will Bill Gates, I wonder, be admired by future generations, despite his role in the fall of Western civilisation?

The tragedy is that Bill Gates, like many other wealthy philanthropists, & unlike Alexander of Macedonia, means well.

It is the system & values which made him so "successful" that are destroying our civilisation, even now, as his & others' good intentions help pave the way to hell.

This is not something he would want to recognise, & none is so blind as they who will not see.

What is it about civilisation which causes it to rise & fall?

It lies in the nature of the STATE itself, which perverts & corrupts evolved human nature, so that instead of serving society (one's tribe) at large, it serves its elites, at the expense of society at large.

On the Nature of the State

The state conflates and confounds VERY different aspects of the original tribal environment in which human nature evolved, long before the first states and civilisations emerged from it, with the modern "nation state" now deceitfully posing as our tribe or nation (intra- and inter-tribal environment) itself, while at the same time facilitating society's SELF-exploitation (as an extra-tribal environment, on a par with the natural environment, which we are also exploiting to destruction) to the personal advantage of its ruling elites and favoured (especially wealthy and academic/formerly priestly) clients, at the expense of society at large & future generations.

The state is like an abusive step-parent which did away with our natural, loving parents (our original tribes and nations) before we were even born, bringing us up to believe that it is our natural loving parent (nation), genuinely concerned for all its children's (citizens') well-being and future happiness, when in fact, its primary purpose is to facilitate society's self-abuse and exploitation.

The state does serve us, of course, and we are all dependent on it (at the very least, to enforce the rule of law and non-violence), but as a shepherd serves his flock, which is not for the flock's sake (notwithstanding any genuine concern he may feel for a lost of injured lamb), but for his own and/or his employer's sake, for the meat and wool the flock provides and can be exchanged at market for money.

It's that simple & should be obvious to anyone with an evolutionary understanding of human origins, but, as I've already said, none is so blind as they who will not see.

The biologists #RichardDawkins & #DavidAttenborough should see it, but clearly don't. https://t.co/0ShaX2S2Mj

> #DavidAttenborough annoys me, because he's had an extremely privileged life at the expense of his own race & of our planet's biodiversity he has devoted much of his life to documenting.
>
> He doesn't recognise this, of course, but means well, dissolving my annoyance into sadness. pic.twitter.com/ZrV9LTboTK
>
> — Philosopher Kin vs Big Brother (@rogerahicks) January 1, 2021

Like #BillGates, they are basically good, well-meaning individuals, blinded by their dependency on the system & values which facilitated & upholds their own personal success, at the expense of society at large & future generations.

Naturally, they're all loath to recognise this.

The system & values on which their success was built & is sustained are essentially British, although, Bill Gates would see them as American.

Either we change them - quickly - or Western civilisation will fall in the further course of this present century.

We can't change them by force, but must proceed peacefully, legally & grassroots-democratically.

To Britain's & America's credit, notwithstanding their essentially Orwellian nature, they allow us the freedoms to actually do this.

It's up to us.
https://t.co/HDU5dSbpGm

> Grassroots-Democratic Multi-National Socialism (#GrDMNS)
>
> This is the name of my political philosophy & of the political party/movement I hope soon to initiate: #Contrapot
>
> — Philosopher Kin vs Big Brother (@rogerahicks) February 6, 2019