Twitter Thread by Tim Skellett

Tim Skellett
@Gurdur

New thread on #AllisonPearson! Continuing from the old thread linked

> 1/n @allisonpearson, columnist whips up a storm against a microbiologist, & threatens legal action, because his abject apologies, multiple, & deletion of tweets, weren't good enough for her.
>
> So let's look at @allisonpearson's record on the truth.https://t.co/j4QPdgND0Z pic.twitter.com/Oe2DHPk0t3
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

2/n Just an idle note on the irony: now that Brexit has happened, UK citizens may not be able to charge the NHS for costs of a knee-operation in Poland. Them's the breaks.

https://t.co/lV9IcwvULg

> A reader tells me she had a knee operation done in Poland. Wonderful staff. She\u2019s allowed to charge the NHS. Worth exploring if you\u2019re on a waiting list.
>
> — Allison Pearson (@allisonpearson) October 4, 2020

3/ This December tweet from @allisonpearson seems like a direct lie. Judge for yourself, compare with reports from real journalists:
https://t.co/nyRvAMLJqK and https://t.co/itKAVUQ96w
and https://t.co/1kKkiPWciz

—
https://t.co/EQkqaUTX91

4/n Direct lie, or just plain total uninformed imecility from @allisonpearson? You be the judge. Remember, as shown in the first thread, she expressly claimed not to post against lockdowns.
https://t.co/c4P9OXDyIG

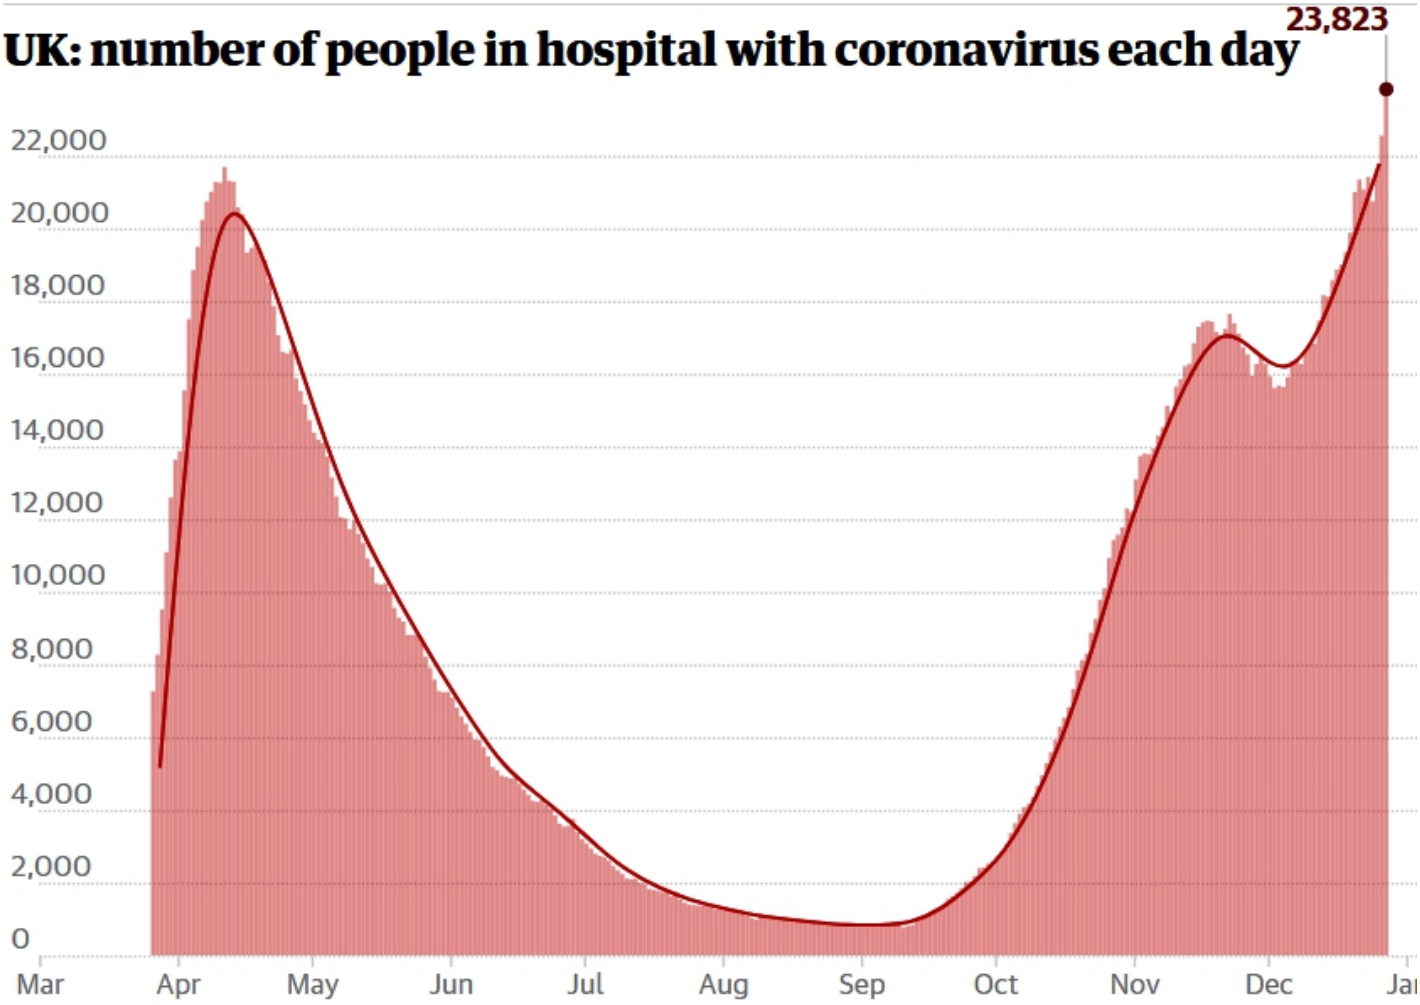

No sign of Second Wave?
Death rates normal for October?
I know, let\u2019s lock down half the country and see how many lives we can destroy!

No sign of second wave' as ONS data shows normal level of deaths for time of year https://t.co/FMBLQ6k2mh

— Allison Pearson (@allisonpearson) October 20, 2020

5/n Let's look at facts that @allisonpearson can't be bothered with when she makes her claims. Facts gathered by genuine journalists. Reminder: more people now in UK hospitals with #COVID19 than there were in the April peak. Deaths lag, but ascending

https://t.co/cxSTlBztLB

6/n In this thread, and the replies to it, a claim of @allisonpearson's was examined, and found to be (surprise!) wholly untrue. It's so far from the truth right now, it's attaining light-speed.
https://t.co/qZb5EnexhM

> Rubbish - our local hospital has over 150 cases in right now - a fortnight ago it was 50! https://t.co/r2Z7q26nWG
>
> — Karen \U0001f644\U0001f602 (@cheesedoff3) December 23, 2020

7/ A reminder: @allisonpearson of the @Telegraph expressly, directly claimed not to post against lockdowns. I'm saying that is a lie.
https://t.co/Ugao1zm3rB

> The Telegraph has been front and centre asking if lockdown caused more harm than good.
>
> — Allison Pearson (@allisonpearson) December 11, 2020

8/ Reminder: @allisonpearson directly claimed she didn't post against lockdowns. You may think my saying that's a lie is strong words. See below.
As for her claim lockdowns only postpone deaths, that's either a lie, or merely fatuous drivel from a halfwit.
https://t.co/PEeHnR9vCH

> Lockdown does NOT save lives.
> It postpones deaths.
> You end up with the same number of deaths. You just prolong the crisis.
> Can this country stop being anti-science? We may as well be examining animal entrails.
>
> — Allison Pearson (@allisonpearson) October 14, 2020

9/n A side-thread, separate, on ethical issues.

https://t.co/wywGbcRBNd

> 1/ I'm going to tackle this one very directly & separately in public, because the target of @allisonpearson's hate campaign has expressed suicidal ideation. It has been suggested to me publicising his name is not in his interests.
> https://t.co/6JM0NR3XkQ
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

10/ For a change, here is a Tory MP, the Member of Parliament for Harborough, telling the absolute, unvarnished truth about @toadmeister's Lockdown-Sceptics crap (remember the #fakenews photo and post that #AllisonPearson tweeted out?):

https://t.co/5nNoY2wu79

> Because you claimed the pandemic was over, on the basis of no evidence. Because you have been proved wrong at every stage of the pandemic, yet still pump out rubbish. Because if we follow your catastrophically wrong advice you'll get my constituents killed. https://t.co/43O8H7p4NA
>
> — Neil O'Brien MP (@NeilDotObrien) January 3, 2021

11/ Here's @allisonpearson, yet again declaiming on subjects she's all too plainly willfully ignorant of. Does it also constitute part of a hate-campaign against the NHS? You be the judge. But you can't deny she doesn't have a clue. >73,000 dead in the UK
https://t.co/BYPw80Nc46

> The NHS has been protected quite long enough. The lives that need saving are the poor people with cancer who have gone undiagnosed for months because you allowed the NHS to close to non-Covid patients.
> A ghastly error not made by other countries. https://t.co/VE4SdztsrU
>
> — Allison Pearson (@allisonpearson) September 11, 2020

12/ @allisonpearson threatens legal action against a man for his allegedly saying she's part of a hate-campaign against the #NHS. Except #AllisonPearson lied before (photo "100% faked", remember?) & from below, maybe she's lying about not hating on the NHS
https://t.co/YDij6GvLRr

13/ The below is a lie. I repeat, @allisonpearson is lying with this claim. #COVID19 can and does kill young people too, we still don't know the long-term effects in children, & the purpose of the vaccine is ALSO to stop transmission of the virus.
https://t.co/wBQ5TcE2ly

> Kids and students do not need the vaccine! Many will have had the virus already. That is the best vaccine.
>
> — Allison Pearson (@allisonpearson) December 27, 2020

14/ Here, @AllisonPearson, who has lied about a photo of a sick boy on a floor in a hospital, who has lied about the effects of the #COVID19 second-wave, who has vindictively & viciously threatened a member of the public, gets terribly unconsciously ironic.

15/ Here, @allisonpearson is claiming to know better than an epidemiologist. Except, even only in London, hardest-hit of the UK, seroprevalence of +ve #COVID19 status is only around 17.5%. So far over 75,000 have died in the UK.

https://t.co/64M0M0Qeq2

https://t.co/ODjlyVu3cH

16/ In easy-to-understand words for @allisonpearson. If, in the hardest-hit area, <20% are #COVID19 seropositive, & already over 75,000 are dead, then safely assume the other 80% not yet exposed will have an even larger number of dead if exposed to it
https://t.co/c53dRKTXXq

> 15/ Here, @allisonpearson is claiming to know better than an epidemiologist. Except, even only in London, hardest-hit of the UK, seroprevalence of +ve #COVID19 status is only around 17.5%. So far over 75,000 have died in the UK.https://t.co/64M0M0Qeq2https://t.co/ODjlyVu3cH
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

17/ In the two threads I have now done:
a/ @allisonpearson's direct claim she does not post against "lockdowns, tracing and quarantine" has been demonstrated to be false.
b/ Her many posts of misinformation on #COVID19 have been amply demonstrated.

18/ Also demonstrated in these two threads:
a/ @allisonpearson's relationship with the truth is tenuous at the best of times, and downright nonexistent at times, as when she claimed a photo of a sick boy on a floor was "100% fake".
https://t.co/a8X0HsIm8H

> 5/n @allisonpearson relayed an absolute lie about a photo, and told an absolute lie, when she claimed a photo of a sick boy in Leeds hospital was "100% faked". She deleted many of her own tweets then. Did she ever apologise?#AllisonPearsonhttps://t.co/j4M5FeRVK1
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

19/ Also demonstrated in these two threads of mine:

@allisonpearson is simply grossly uninformed, vocal but imbecilic, on #COVID19 in general, and many of her claims are directly dangerous.
https://t.co/yzeADziKNw

> 9/n @allisonpearson directly claimed she did not post against "lockdowns, tracing and quarantine". As we shall see, that is simply grossly untrue. But here she is, posting against face-masks, in July.#AllisonPearsonhttps://t.co/FMgH57Ru8j pic.twitter.com/JZbDqMKqAb
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

20/ As to whether @allisonpearson is crassly hypocritical, and insufferably vindictive and malicious, you can be the judge of that from my two threads.
https://t.co/hktfAAVEzp

> 1/n @allisonpearson, columnist whips up a storm against a microbiologist, & threatens legal action, because his abject apologies, multiple, & deletion of tweets, weren't good enough for her.
>
> So let's look at @allisonpearson's record on the truth.https://t.co/j4QPdgND0Z pic.twitter.com/Oe2DHPk0t3
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

21/ Oh, and I left out @allisonpearson's implicit claim not to be part of any hate-campaign against the UK NHS. Judge from all this for yourself. I have many more statements of hers bookmarked.

https://t.co/vYnHWeHFEb

> 12/ @allisonpearson threatens legal action against a man for his allegedly saying she's part of a hate-campaign against the #NHS. Except #AllisonPearson lied before (photo "100% faked", remember?) & from below, maybe she's lying about not hating on the NHShttps://t.co/YDij6GvLRr pic.twitter.com/6jdTorieb2
>
> — Tim Skellett (@Gurdur) January 4, 2021

22/ One addendum on @allisonpearson's self-own on some of her stupid remarks on #COVID19:
"I've asked so many people if they know anyone who has had Covid. Hardly anyone."
lol.
https://t.co/DB9qKSnGKy

23/ One more addendum: thread from @GregoryDavisHNH on @allisonpearson running a months-long hate campaign against public health officials and scientists.

https://t.co/Ca9lovgPGT

> I'm happy to state on record that @AllisonPearson has been conducting a months-long hate campaign against public health officials and scientists. THREAD:
>
> 1/ Allison claims that the government had been "Captured by tunnel-visioned autistic scientists" [Tweet later deleted] pic.twitter.com/GpjcNWKWt1
>
> — Gregory Davis (@GregoryDavisHNH) January 4, 2021