There are actually people who have hacked the satellite because it is old technology and the encryption is not very advanced. There are people including celebrities getting voices in their head from it. So the professionals don't why they are but the hackers are jerks.

I think "oh it is off now" then I commit to moving back home. Then they monitor my communication. Then as soon as I do they turn it back on. It is a cat&dog.

They are always pretending that they are going to make me rich, I originally thought that they were trying to help me. They did actually reveal a lot of helpful information to me. I did grow as a person from whatever this program is? But it has also taken years off my life.

They always have a very grandiose narcissist story. But they are all somehow related to the Mason Lodge. Their story for me is always the same. They have been super rich but are down and out. That makes me think "you have, then teach me." Then I play into their hand.

One of the books one of my handlers gave me was Catch22. And that is what my life has been. It wasn't bound and it was missing pages. It was a message. It was a girl. Her specifically was indicating "you are going to be in a cat&dog." I fucked here. I am fucked here. I am fucked.

If I stay for three nights the attack will catch up to me. But if it is a long holiday weekend the operations are not there to change the aim possibly. I think they gave my name over to enemy countries possibly as a decoy. "He is CIA follow him." I am not but the isolation.

The attack is location specific or it has to catch up to you. So I am hearing this horrible ringing noise in my head they want me to think it is a mental health but if I go to a hotel it stops.

For the first six months of the attack, I had no clue what was going on. But there is a lot of people out there getting the same thing. And so there is a lot of info about it available.

You know how they are saying the voting machines were attacked remotely by satellites. That technology totally exists. They can zoom into your room. You can feel it and detect the energy with a meter. It can be like a camera in the room or it can spy on all in and out going data.

Not a satellite or cell tower. It is in his book "The Matrix Deciphered." And the military industrial complex started excited and betting on his fellow scientists and engineers. He wanted to come clean because he could be next. Bill Binney former NSA director gets the attacks.

I thought that it depends who owns the cell towers originally. For example, I do not get attacked in Colombia. However, in Ecuador I do and pretty bad. It seems to be the same for another pretty popular guy Bryan Tice. But the CIA whistleblower theory is that it is the NSA.

In the comments section of people complaining about the technology there will be a person with a name then disappear at the end. And this one number (view the profile). But basically they have NSA level access to everything you do. But then the satellite attacks disappear forever.

So is what I do is move somewhere. Say "it would be great to buy a little property here." Then I am forced to move on. I end up with property all over. Cause I try to settle down. They, wherever they are, won't let me.

It is kind of hard to piece together the puzzle. There are too many moving parts but right after our last court case, October 2018, I started getting hit with a directed energy satellite, cell tower, or HAARP weapon of some sort. But it dropped once I took a vacation from CD.

I gave him a game. He ran for me off the bus. And said "Dad!" And it is all because of the stupid fucking divorce court records. I have never done anything wrong to him. Maybe I spoiled him a little bit. They are going in and committing perjury on a mass scale. Putting a hit out.
