Now that we lost our power, it's time for healing.

Of course, if we were in your position, we would crush you. That's what would make your capitulation so healing.

Yes, we are acting in bad faith. But if you acted in good faith, that would help us a lot, I mean, help the country heal.

We definitely haven't learned our lesson, but if you give us a break, maybe we will.

Admittedly, we have acted very badly. But do you want to sink down to our level? You are better than that, America.

As your Kenyan Muslim President said, there are no blue states or red states, just the United States of America. Yes, you can. It's time for healing.

Let's come together as one country, cause you don't want another violent insurrection, do you?
