

Twitter Thread by Cory Doctorow #BLM

Cory Doctorow #BLM

@doctorow

Today's Twitter threads (a Twitter thread).

Inside: Mashing the Bernie meme; Know Nothings, conspiratorialism and Pastel Q; and more!

Archived at: <https://t.co/cKWPSzuYHE>

#Pluralistic

1/

In off to Mariposa—Like foolish fellows, you Editors made me believe papers could do all things—The people you see have used us up. When I get to my gold regions & back again, I'll pay you in a horn.

What a happy morning for my country & myself. Here I find returns for myself & my Kentucky brother—beginning with Maine in the North & concluding with Texas in the South. What welcome news to know: that the People have not removed a plank of the Democratic Platform. Who will have breathe Dis-union now?

Oh! Ned! Ned! This is all of your doing. After being a popular Whig President— and walking in the footsteps of Clay, Webster & Cass— I am thrown back by the People into the dark & gloomy caverns of Know No-thingism.

Mashing the Bernie meme: What if every video game, except Bernie with mittens?

<https://t.co/Zcs71oUras>

The remix culture of the early 2000s left an indelible impression on me, an enduring delight in the power of whimsy, juxtaposition, virtuosity and ingenuity - and the ability of strangers all over the world to collaborate without any explicit coordination.

1/ pic.twitter.com/hMKzmoxjLu

— Cory Doctorow #BLM (@doctorow) January 31, 2021