Let's put some of this together, shall we. Feel free to add further evidence.

\u201cWhen a person tells you who they are - believe them the 1st time\u201d

Boris Johnson calling for \u201cthe elimination\u201d of all Scottish people when he was editor of the Spectator.

His former employer.

"Boris is a gold medal egomaniac... His chaotic public persona is not an act – he is, indeed, manically disorganised about everything except his own image management. He is also a far more ruthless, and frankly nastier, figure than the public appreciates...I would not take Boris's word about whether it is Monday or Tuesday...He is not a man to believe in, to trust or respect, save as a superlative exhibitionist. He is bereft of judgment, loyalty and discretion. Only in the star-crazed, frivolous Britain of the 21st century could such a man have risen so high, and he is utterly unfit to go higher still."

- Max Hastings, former Editor of the Daily Telegraph and Boris Johnson's employer for several years

His school report.

Eton College writes to Boris Johnson's dad in 1982

Boris really has adopted a disgracefully cavalier attitude to his classical studies. It is a question of priorities, which most of his colleagues have no difficulty in sorting out. Boris sometimes seems affronted when criticised for what amounts to a gross failure of responsibility (and surprised at the same time that he was not appointed Captain of the School for next half). I think he honestly believes that it is churlish of us not to regard him as an exception, one who should be free of the network of obligation which binds everyone else.

MARTIN HAMMOND, MASTER IN COLLEGE, ETON
LETTER TO STANLEY JOHNSON, 10 APR 1982

The lies.

What people think of him.

A close-up photograph of a man with blonde hair, smiling broadly, showing his teeth. The image is partially obscured by a large block of white text on a dark blue background.

"Incompetence is not funny. Policy vacuum is not funny. A careless disregard for the truth is not funny. Advising old mates planning to beat someone up is not funny. Abortions and gagging orders are not funny. Creeping ambition in a jester's cap is not funny. Vacuity posing as merriment, cynicism posing as savviness, a wink and a smile covering for betrayal ... these things are not funny."

Laying cable: the excretion of lengths.

Lying cable: when the phone cord in the mirror is from a different picture after your £100,000 tax-payer funded photographer has finished photoshopping your spontaneous chat with Joe Biden.

Another lie.

"British people will still be able to go and work in the EU; to live; to travel; to study; to buy homes and to settle down..There will continue to be free trade and access to the single market."
