Twitter Thread by ■■■■ Soma

■■■■ Soma
@Soma70317358

@criminalreforms @CVCIndia

0/8

Believing that keeping a small state party or an anti-corruption NGO can eradicate corruption all over Tamil Nadu is tantamount to saying that we will put out all the fire in a small glass of water to put out the huge fire that erupted on a large multi-storey.
1/8

Fighting bribery and corruption in the courts cannot be won.
Even a major state party in politics cannot eradicate this completely.

This will be possible only if bribery and corruption are eradicated from the whole of India.
2/8

Bribery and corruption are not a statewide, they are a nationwide disaster.

Corruption cannot be eradicated in Tamil Nadu alone. This is a nationwide disaster like Corona.
3/8

Only the demonic power available to the Indian National Party can eradicate this deadly poisonous bribery and corruption that is ravaging this country.

Prime Minister Modi has got such a terrible strength. But the million-dollar question is whether he will do this.
4/8

We, the people of India, must unanimously ask Prime Minister Modi to use this good opportunity to do this, even if he forces him to do so.

To prevent the spread of this deadly form of bribery and corruption,
5/8

India must enact strict penal laws to eradicate bribery and corruption.

Indian penal laws need to be amended for these reasons.

Thus those penal laws should be such that people are no longer afraid to even think about these evils in their minds at any time.
6/8

These penal laws should be given special status so that they can be amended only with the consent of 80% of the people (referendum) so that they cannot be repealed by successive rulers.
7/8

The only way to achieve such a colossal position is to mobilize the people to sound the united voice of the people to "eradicate bribery and corruption."
8/8