Wouldn’t it be cool to vote on Medicare for All if Democrats hold the House and Senate?

Are any of the people yelling about forcing a vote trying to help Dems win in Georgia?

I don’t understand what’s happening on the dirtbag left right now. I truly don’t.

People are drawing lines in the sand over forcing a vote that won’t lead to anything while not doing anything at all that I have seen to help Warnock and Ossoff win.

Do y’all want Medicare for All or do you want to just keep talking about wanting Medicare for All

Make it make sense.

You could be living in a world where your boy Bernie has a lot of power. He’d be a necessary vote. He could withhold his vote while demanding a lot of shit. Why aren’t you helping him gain more power in the Senate?

Why are you screaming at AOC and not screaming about Georgia?

It just seeeeems like you’d rather fight about the fact that we don’t have Medicare for all than fight to actually get it done.

Being contrarian and whipping up outrage is a brand for some of you.

But what do I know. I’m just a foreclosure lawyer who fell off a turnip truck

GRENAAAAADE. EVERYBODY GET DOWN.

I’m gonna go ahead and toss another grenade.

how serious can these people be about actually passing Medicare for all when they have said absolutely nothing about electing Dems in Georgia. Explain it to me like I’m 5.

Search these people's name and "Biden"?

Tweets for DAAAAAAAYS.

These folks make money by keeping people angry. 30k a month on patreon. 1.9 million dollar homes. So why would they help Dems win.

I'm just calling it like I see it.

And before you start calling me a bootlicker for suggesting that people who want to force a vote on Medicare for all focus on Georgia as well?

They're willing to work within the system. So it's not me being a bootlicker asking them to work within the system in another way.

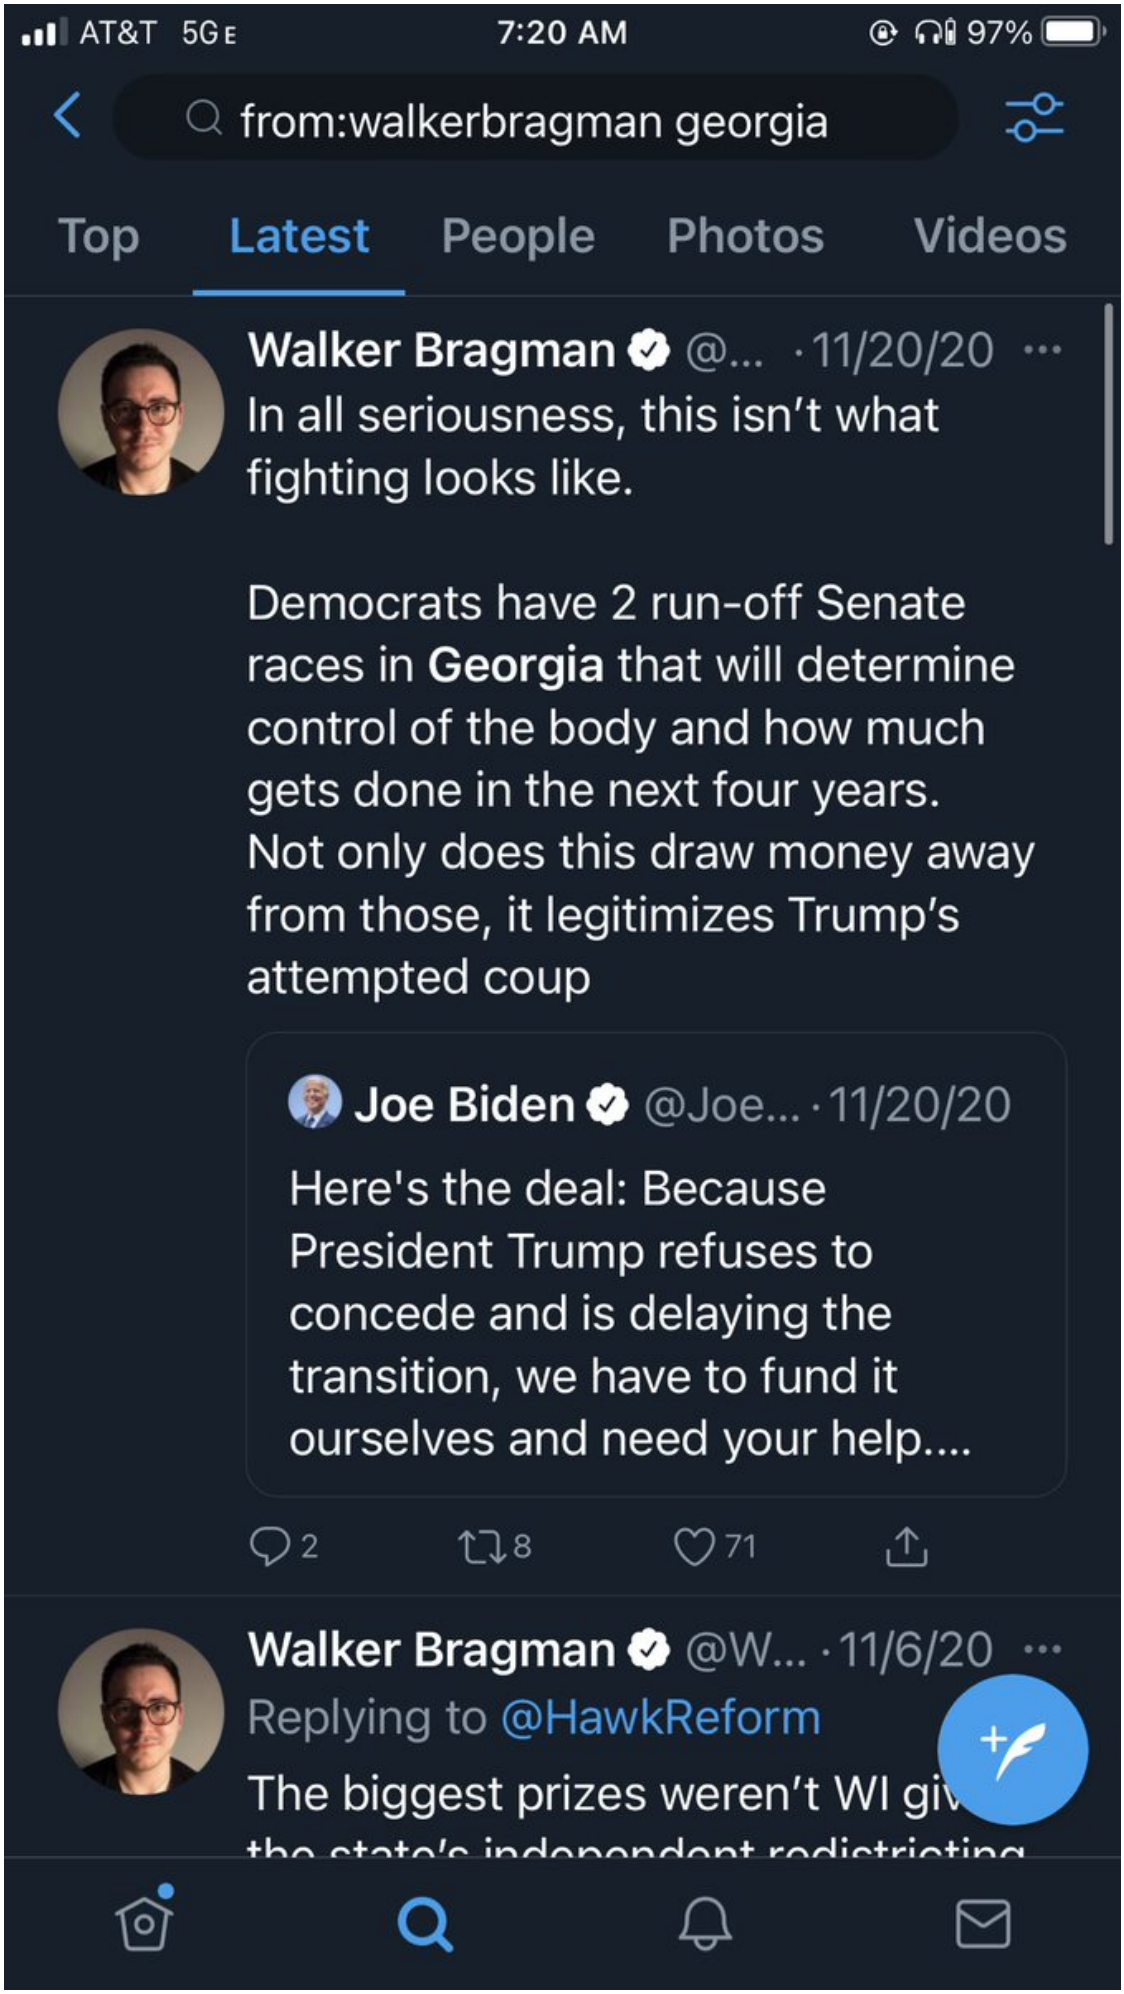

If these people were like, fuck the system entirely? Then sure. Call me a bootlicker for asking them to work within the system they despise. But they're yelling about forcing a vote in the House. That's working within the system. Are they bootlickers?

If not, then I’m not either

I’m just sayin.

More people who probably think “Bernie would’ve won” but who are unwilling to do what it takes to give Bernie power in the Senate to get shit done. (At least halper mentioned Georgia once... I guess.)

In all seriousness, this isn't what fighting looks like.
Democrats have 2 run-off Senate races in Georgia that will determine control of the body and how much gets done in the next four years.
Not only does this draw money away from those, it legitimizes Trump's attempted coup

Here's the deal: Because President Trump refuses to concede and is delaying the transition, we have to fund it ourselves and need your help....

I’m just really fascinated by this tactic. And it’s plain to me what’s going on. I’m just wondering if any of these people can explain themselves.
