Twitter Thread by Dannielle (Dossy) Blumenthal PhD

Dannielle (Dossy) Blumenthal PhD
@DrDannielle

I previously did a wellness check on @SaRaAshcraft that resulted in her becoming very angry at me. She isn't posting on Twitter. I am hoping that she is under Federal protection right now.

It wasn't the wellness check that she was angry about - she thanked me for it - it was the fact that I characterized her as needing medical help.

This was based on her Tweets.

A true friend cares about others but also knows when to back off.

There is not a day that goes by that I do not reflect on Sarah, who is an amazing human being I was privileged to meet over Twitter.

The police officer who did the wellness check on Sarah told me his impression that she is highly intelligent, reported being a trauma victim, and only needed help to be OK.

I understand why the help he offered, eg to go to hospital, might not have been what she wanted.

This is the hard thing, standing outside looking in, not knowing anything.

Psalm 12:5

"'Because of the devastation of the afflicted, because of the groaning of the needy, now I will arise,' says the Lord; 'I will set him in the safety for which he longs.'"

Source: https://t.co/EWxF5L91Gu

I continue to believe Sarah and stand by her and with her spiritually and psychologically. May our collective wishes and prayers on her behalf help her in some way.

@threadreaderapp unroll

@threader_app compile