Twitter Thread by Hillel Neuer

Hillel Neuer
@HillelNeuer

The same group that always cites the Palestinian Ministry of Health now wants you not to know that it exists, is responsible for vaccinating its population & has rejected Israeli help. See this thread for key facts: https://t.co/GmnBe20xrs

Amnesty just wants you to hate Jews.

> Ken Roth doesn't like good news about Israel's vaccinations, so he's trying to twist it into an act of racism.
>
> Here's how he deceives:
>
> 1/ Law. He says "as occupying power," Israel "has not vaccinated a single Palestinian." But the PA is responsible for health & vaccinations. https://t.co/Ag0TIri9zw
>
> — Hillel Neuer (@HillelNeuer) January 4, 2021

Founded in 1961, Amnesty built a reputation for supporting prisoners of conscience who were non-violent.

While some in the global NGO still do good work, Amnesty has lost direction, often supporting antisemites, misogynists, homophobes & terrorists.

■
https://t.co/ETcexTVMRW

> In 2010, Gita Sahgal, then head of the organization's gender unit, was fired for exposing Amnesty's shameful ties & support for Britain's most famous Taliban advocate, former Guantanamo Bay detainee Moazzam Begg. https://t.co/XYSqQpeRMX
>
> — Hillel Neuer (@HillelNeuer) November 12, 2019

In 2010, Gita Sahgal, then head of the organization's gender unit, was fired for exposing Amnesty's shameful ties & support for Britain's most famous Taliban advocate, former Guantanamo Bay detainee Moazzam Begg. https://t.co/XYSqQpeRMX

Supporting terrorists has been a recurring theme with Amnesty. In 2015, a senior employee of Amnesty International was found to have undeclared private links to men alleged to be key players in a secretive network of global Islamists, revealed

The Times. https://t.co/lH163tEZlM

Christopher Hitchens wrote that Amnesty's actions backing the Taliban & against whistleblower & gender unit chief Gita Sahgal exemplified the organization's "degeneration and politicization," reflecting "a moral crisis that has global implications." https://t.co/RlP5wpj6Sb

In 2015 Amnesty's speaker called the 9/11 attacks "sweet revenge." He said Europe made "the cult of the Holocaust & Jew-worshiping its religion" & he labeled gays "AIDS-spreading faggots." Part of Hezbollah, he questions the existence of Nazi gas chambers. https://t.co/raKHZA8KSy

Amnesty backed the pro-Taliban group "Cage," which promotes an ideology that mocks the values of tolerance—especially towards women. Amnesty took research from them, shared logos, co-produced briefing papers & co-signed letters to the government.

https://t.co/nbmLQrXY2u

Rights backer Sigrid Rausing criticized Amnesty for "blurring" its original mission. The Economist: "A group which devotes more focus to rights abuses in Britain & America than those in Belarus & Saudi Arabia cannot expect to escape doubters' scrutiny." https://t.co/U9uHaUH6fm

In 2015 Amnesty justified hosting an anti-gay Holocaust denier to protest Islamophobia—due to "the significance of this issue" & as it "was not an endorsement of any of the views of the individual speaker." Yet in 2018 they saw fit to ban London's Jews. https://t.co/lS8iG9cMxz

Former Amnesty prisoner of conscience @MaajidNawaz lamented the NGO's fall: "If ever there was proof that the regressive left rot is spreading into the core of our liberal culture, look how it has politicized this once bright beacon of human rights." https://t.co/fRGdOpXTj5