(1/8) Ever■how George Orwell & Aldous Huxley had the■ to✍■their prophetic "novels", 1984 (1949) and Brave New World (1932)?

Huxley was an inner■■member of the Fabian Society, a highly significant strand of the secret society■with its fitting logo of the■in■'s clothing. ■■

(2/8) Fabian comes from “Fabius”, the Roman General Quintus Fabius Maximus of Verrucosus. His claim to fame was to wear down the enemy over long periods and avoid battles that were not certain. He and his troops would take over only when the enemy had been sufficiently weakened.

(3/8) If you have access to the inner core of the Fabian Society, you will be privy to the projected agenda for enslavement.

Coincidentally, Aldous Huxley taught French at Eaton, the super exclusive college near Windsor■ just outside London where the Royal & Elite children go.

(4/8) One of Huxleys students was a boy named Eric Blair, later known as "George Orwell". Huxley introduced Orwell to the Fabian Society & the knowledge they accessed allowed them to so accurately portray a global big brother state manipulated by genetics, drugs and mind control.

(5/8) Huxley supported the “cause” while Orwell worked almost to his dying day to expose it in his most famous work "1984". Orwell died in 1950, a year after "1984" was published. ■

"1984" also happens to be the year that marked the ■th anniversary of the Fabian Society.■

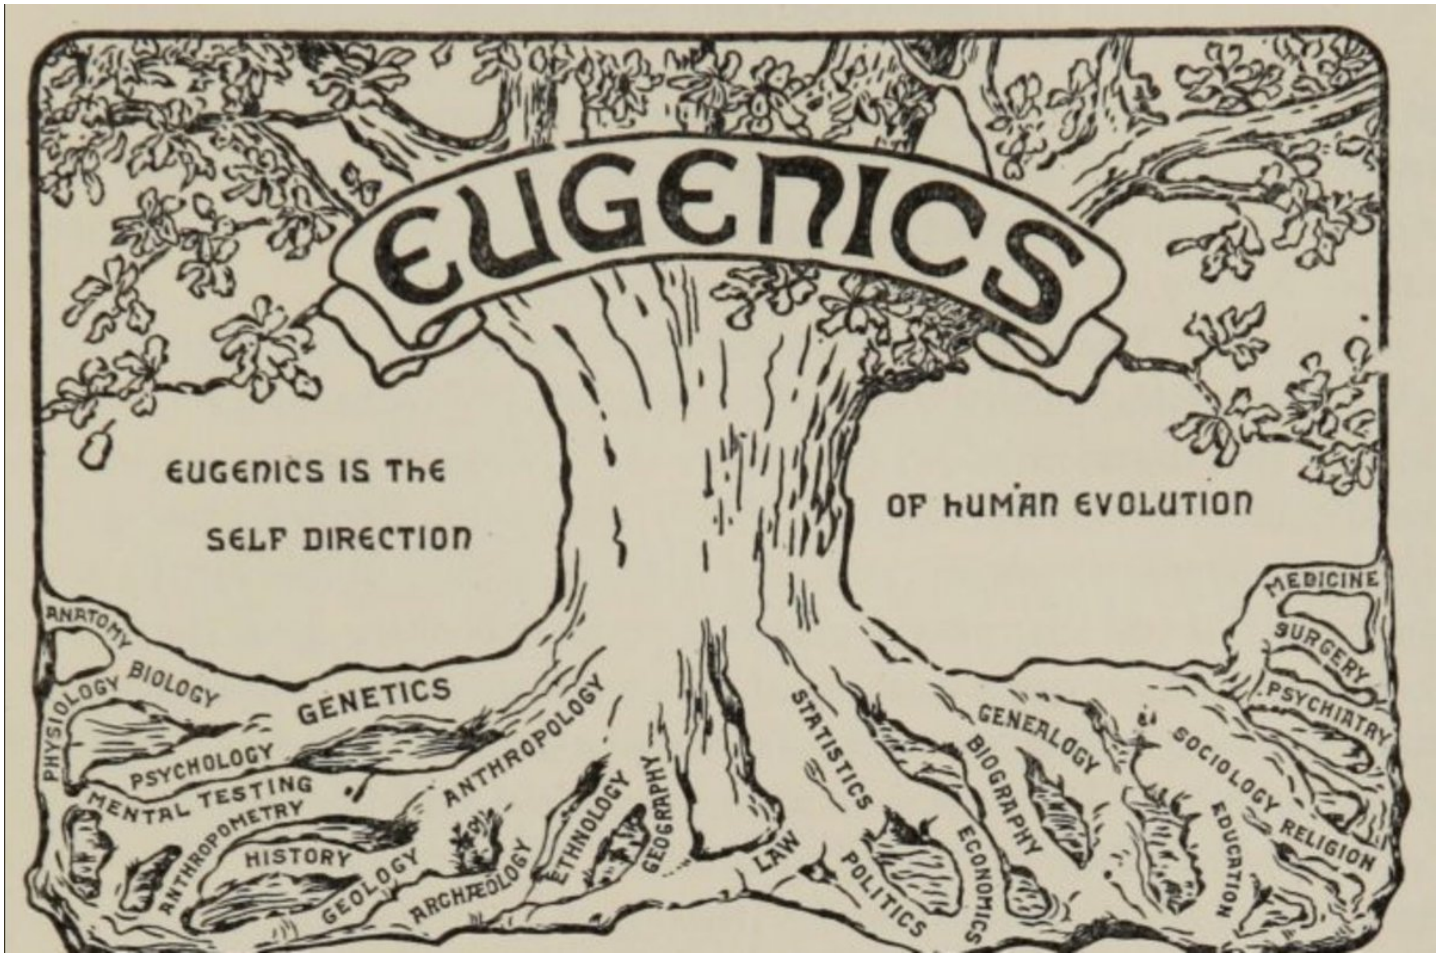

(6/8) Huxley‘s brother, Julian (also a member) was the 1st director of United Nations Educational Scientific & Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and a founding member of the World Wildlife Fund (WWF), much beloved by Prince Philip, and his friend, Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands,

(7/8) which was a former member of the Nazi SS.

Julian Huxley, like the family in general, was a keen promoter of the eugenicists "master race" philosophy and was president of the British Eugenics Society.

The Fabian Society also established and still directs the London School

(8/8) of Economics, one of the foremost “education” centers for developing and recruiting bloodline operatives of the next generation.

In the words of Bertrand Russell, a famous Fabian Socialist;

"The populace will not be allowed to know how its convictions were generated.”
