

Twitter Thread by Carrie A. Goldberg

Carrie A. Goldberg

@cagoldberglaw

As more folks are arrested for the insurrection we are going to see high rate of people with records of intimate partner violence, stalking, and harassment. 1/

Terrorizing women and girls and internet trolling is directly correlated to being violent and unreasonable in other facets. including work, friendships, school, family, AND POLITICS. 2/

As my colleague, Caroline said, "Violence against women and girls on the micro level of interpersonal IS TERRORISM designed to uphold patriarchy/male supremacy on the macro level. 3/

Some insurrectionists have reported histories of being abusers.

Some in the news have histories of abuse. We know Ashli Babbitt, who was shot dead, trying to climb through the window 4/ <https://t.co/h07PWaH6Jx> into the congressional chambers, had multiple restraining orders for attacking her then-boyfriend's ex, filing false police reports, rear ending her car, and harassing her with phone calls. 5/

West Virginia state delegate, Derrick Evans, who livestreamed himself storming the Capitol, in 2019 violated a restraining order for repeatedly stalking and threatening a woman with bodily injury. 6/ <https://t.co/fir0lk83pf>

Air Force combat veteran, Larry Rendall Brock, who was stalking Pelosi's office in full tactical gear and helmet with sets of flex-cuffs in his hand was turned in by his ex-wife. 7/

<https://t.co/eN1GfqF3Pa>

These people were coming to assassinate. In my book I talk about the known link between domestic violence and murder. 8/ <https://t.co/lgtGOblwDo>

It's a self-selecting group of people who prioritize their own desires over the safety and autonomy of other people. They're jealous and controlling and believe delusional things. 9/